

BOZEMAN SPOOKTACULAR FAMILY-FRIENDLY EVENTS

ard to believe the winter months are already upon us—boo! With the holiday season about to kick into full gear, what better way to get in the festive spirit than with a little family-friendly Halloween fun? The leaves—now brilliant shades of red, yellow, and orange—have begun to fall like pumpkin crates into place near the entrances of our local grocers. So while you help your kids decide on this year's costume, and maybe even one for yourselves, the BoZone has compiled a list of spooky fun events you can enjoy with friends and family from now through All Hallows' Eve.

Bozeman Health and Kohl's Cares is set to host the Great Pumpkin Hunt at the Beall Park Recreation Center, Saturday, October 15th from 9am–12pm. Kids can come decorate one of 200 pumpkins while learning how to determine proper portion sizes, read food labels, and prepare and store food safely. They also will receive pumpkin recipe cards! This event is free and open to all and will go on rain or shine. Pumpkin painting is available on a first come, first serve basis only.

The Montana Parent Annual Halloween

Costume Swap will take place on Saturday, October 15th from 10am–2pm at the Gallatin Valley Mall. Please bring your gently used costumes to exchange. The Swap cannot accept torn or dirty costumes. Please only bring items you would want yourself. The Swap typically receives a surplus of baby costumes and requests attendees bring older youth and adult costumes. This free event attempts to provide costumes to those in need who may not be able to afford it.

A Family Grossology Halloween Party is set for Saturday, October 29th from 2–5pm at the Museum of the Rockies. Wear your best costume and create disgusting concoctions like slime. Play with the "microscope-on-a-rope" and check out what your scabs look like on the big screen. Enjoy spooky Halloween stories, creepy crawlies from Montana Outdoor Science School, and experiments with the Children's Museum of Bozeman, MSU's Undergraduate Chemistry Society, and Society of Physics Students. All events are included with Museum admission.

Anderson School's 2016 Haunted House of Phobias will be open Friday and Saturday, October 28th and 29th. Those more easily frightened may attend the "lights on" version from 5:30–7pm. The lights go out from 7–11pm for the brave. Admission is $5 per person or $10 for a fast pass. All proceeds benefit the Anderson 8th grade class trip to Washington D.C. and New York City. The Haunted House is located at the Little Red School House, five miles south of Huffine (across the street from Anderson School).

Belgrade's National Honor Society will host a Haunted House & Carnival on Friday and Saturday, October 28th and 29th at Belgrade High School. The "lights off" haunted house takes place from 8–11:30pm on Friday. The carnival will take place from 3–11:30pm on Saturday. The haunted house will run with its "lights on" from 3–6pm before returning to "lights off" mode from 6–11:30pm. Come and have some scary fun and support Gallatin Valley Food Bank! Two cans of food will grant entry, or $5 for adults and $3 for students. Please bring additional cans for the individual carnival games. Donations are encouraged!

All this leads up to what most kids would argue is the main event, Trick or Treating! Families and friends are invited to do some Downtown Trick or Treating on Monday, October 31st from 4–6pm. Join local businesses for a safe way to enjoy traditional trick or treating in beautiful Downtown Bozeman. Over 150 businesses welcome kids and families with candy and Halloween decorations! Hot drinks will be available outside the Downtown Visitor's Center at 8 East Main Street.

Malloween Trick or Treating will also be held on Monday, October 31st from 5–7pm. Forget the thermal underwear and winter jacket, children of all ages can enjoy a safe and warm indoor trick-or-treating throughout the Gallatin Valley Mall. Join in for trick-or-treating at participating retailers, free family photos in Macy's Court, and tons of fun and costumes!

Tick or Treat Off the Street is set for Monday, October 31st from 5–8pm at Lowe's off of 19th Ave. Every little ghost and goblin is invited to safely trick or treat in the different departments throughout the store. You bring the tricksters, they'll provide the treats! Preschool to 6th grade children are welcome, but parents must accompany children. This is a rain or shine indoor event.

Kids don't get to have all the fun! There are plenty of adult-oriented, Halloween-themed events happening throughout Bozeman this season. Look through this issue of the BoZone for further details. •

Brews & the Big Sky rewinds to mining days

MOR's popular series Brews & the Big Sky: Montana Made, Montana Brewed. returns for another edition on Tuesday, October 25th at the Museum of the Rockies from 6–8pm. "Deep Diggings and Thirsty Miners" with CRH Trident will feature brew selections from Philipsburg Brewing Company. There is an $8 admission which includes a free glass and beer tasting for those 21 and older.

Montana has a long and important history of mining. From gold strikes in Bannock and Virginia Citv to Butte's Richest Hill on Earth, miners have been pulling minerals from our rocks and soils since the 1860s. The cities that the miners built were also the locations of Montana's first pioneer breweries! Learn more about both in this session of MOR's most popular history event. Space is limited on a first come, first serve basis. Brews & the Big Sky supports the MOR History Program.

Sip & SLAM at breweries in October

SLAM, (Support Local Artists and Musicians), is proud to present the second annual Sip & SLAM brewery tour. During the entire month of October, breweries around Bozeman will host Montana artists on their walls, and special events to help support SLAM.

At each of the Sip & SLAM locations, you can pick up a postcard listing all the participating breweries. Take this card around with you when you visit the breweries in Bozeman and get your card stamped by the bartender. If you visit all of the breweries during the month of October, you can submit your completed card to be entered into a raffle at the end of the month for great prizes from the participating breweries. Growlers, free fills, t-shirts, hats, stickers...all the things a craft beer connoisseur could want!

The Sip & SLAM is a great way to sample the fantastic craft beers made right here in Bozeman, experience the art of local talent in a new setting, and support SLAM all at once! All the artwork on display will be available for purchase, and lots of great fall/winter brews are coming out this month!

In addition to the amazing swag at each of the breweries, SLAM pint cussion of the ways hip-hop culture has been a positive influence and provided a critical understanding of Indigeneity. Hip-hop culture can be utilized as a form of resistance against colonial pressures, and provide an avenue for students to understand many attributes of Indigenous thought and action. The strategic use of critical hip-hop pedagogy also has the potential to be a liberatory praxis that reiterates the importance of traditional American Indian cultures, while simultaneously providing American Indian students with the opportunity to critically assess their realities and the reality of their individual tribal nations.

Sack Lunch Seminar How to be a LGBTQIA Allied Feminist! will take place Wednesday, October 26th from noon-1pm in SUB 168. Celebrate Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Trans, and Queer History Month with Rvan Erickson, MSU's new Graduate Assistant for LGBTQ Student Support. Learn some basics about LGBTQIA experiences and the Do's and Don'ts of sensitive and accepting interactions. Join in for this workshop focused on ways to avoid committing microaggressions, while learning about intersectionality. Also, come and find out ways in which feminists and LGBTQIA allies can help one another in the struggle for equality & inclusiveness!

The MSU Women's Center is a department in the division of Student Success and was created to promote greater responsiveness to the needs of university women. Their focus is to empower women and create an equitable campus environment by offering educational programs to the university population about gender and women's issues. The Center is open to all students, staff, faculty, and community members, male and female. The Center is physically accessible and a place for students to stop by, relax, and explore their concerns, issues, and options through information and conversation. Campus and community members are encouraged to become involved in the Center through work-study, volunteer, and internship positions. Hours of operation are Monday through Friday from 9am to 4pm during the academic year when classes are in session. For more information, visit www.montana.edu/women/. •

Informative weekend gives insight into death & dying

Local non-profit organization Gallatin Valley Circle of Compassion invites the public to participate in a weekend of special events exploring the topic of death and dying with visiting author Stephen Jenkinson MTS, MSW. On Friday, October 28th from 7–8pm, Jenkinson will present a talk "Should the World Tree Be Withered." On Saturday, October 29th, from 9:30am-3:30 pm, enkinson will offer a workshop entitled "Die Wise - Making Meaning." Both events will be held at Pilgrim Congregational United Church of Christ at 2118 S. 3rd Avenue in Bozeman. These events will be preceded by an Author Event & Book Signing for Die Wise at Country Bookshelf on Friday, October 28th beginning at 11am.

Stephen Jenkinson, a Harvard educated theologian, is an activist, teacher, author, and farmer. He is the author of Die Wise: A Manifesto for Sanity and Soul, and he is the subect of the National Film Board of Canada documentary, Griefwalker. enkinson's work is hailed as revolutionizing grief and dying in North America as he redefines what it means to live, and die well. Formerly a program director at a major Canadian hospital and medical school assistant professor, Jenkinson now teaches internationally as a workshop leader, speaker, and consultant to palliative care and hospice organizations. He is

Artist & psychotherapist on "creativity & madness"

Elk River Arts & Lectures presents expressionist painter Jacqueline Rieder Hud and archetypal psychotherapist

Timothy J. Tate to discuss Laundry for Strangers, a book of Hud's art and writings with prologue by Tate, at 7pm on Thursday, November 3rd at Elk River Books.

The book of vivid, expressionistic paintings of horses, wolves, and other symbolic images grew out of therapy sessions between Hud and Tate, following Hud's mental breakdown, that delved heavily into Jungian archetypes. Throughout the book, Hud's writings complement the paintings, with text often integrated directly into the art. Their talk will explore the link between "creativity and madness." Of Hud's work, Elmar Biebl of the Hollywood Foreign Press, writes, "The maturity she has reached as an expressionist painter is a triumph. Hers is a lonely pursuit, requiring courage, but this multi-layered way of being is a cathartic, healing process.'

Tate, also an author and educator, is the former headmaster of Bozeman's Headwaters Academy. He recently gave a four-lecture series at the Bozeman Public Library called, "Now is the Time." An avid scholar of philosophy and conscious ness, Tate says "the capacity to live in the moment is the current evolutionary step necessary for individuals and society to take."

During their visit, Hud and Tate will also work in the classroom with Park High students. Events are cosponsored by the Murray Hotel.

The free, public event will take place upstairs at Elk River Books,

Wind-Warriors Jacqueline Rieder Hud

120 N Main St., in Livingston. The Children's Museum of Bozeman is looking forward to a full calendar of events. Have you seen their Fall Programs Calendar? STEAMlab programs cover a wide range of topics including 3D printing and design, computer coding, Arduino, and more. These are designed for children in grades second and up. CMB is currently enrolling for after-school STEAM programs and PIR Day Camps. Don't forget about drop-in Tuesday Open Lab Hours for grades 6–12, and STEAMlab Meet Up for adults who are interested in joining the community of makers! Check out the online calendar where you can learn more and register. Join the hundreds of people in our community who are taking advantage of CMB's groundbreaking high-tech maker-space. Here's a look at some of the upcoming labs and day camps.

Open Lab Hours are Tuesdays from 4–7pm for youth grades 6–12. Connect with a community of makers with all the tools of the STEAMlab at your disposal Arduinos, Raspberry Pis, 3D printers, and more-plus a resident expert on hand to help out. No registration necessary, simply show up with $5! You can also pay $50 for a 12-time punch card.

A PIR Day Camp: Magical Musical

Objects is set for Thursday, October 20th from 9am-3pm for youth grades 3-5. Have you ever played a banana piano? Now's your chance! Participants will be making midiinstruments from everyday objects and recording musical masterpieces. Registration for this event is $75and $40 more to take your kit home!

Another PIR Day Camp: Bugs Alive! will take place Thursday, October 20th from 9am-3pm for youth grades 2-5. Explore the wild variety of the insect kingdom through hands-on projects in science, art, and engineering. Registration for this event is $50 members and for $55 non-members.

PIR Day Camp: Simply Seuss will follow on Friday, October 21st from 9am-12pm for youth grades K-2. Spend a morning with cats in hats, Truffula trees, red fish, blue fish, and more. Fun, creative projects that your kids will love! Registration for this event is $25 for members and $30 for non-members.

Minecraft: Crush the Castle is set for Monday, October 24th from 4-5:30pm for those grades 3 and up. You'll help assemble a castle block by block, then programming a robot army to smash it to bits. Good clean fun! Registration for this event is $25.

There will be another STEAMlab Meetup for Adults Only on Wednesday, October 26th from 5-7pm. This is an open lab for adults! Join the community of makers, with all the tools of the STEAMlab at your disposal! No registration necessary. Materials fees may apply.

Finally, Make it in Minecraft will take place Thursday, October 27th from 4–5:30pm for those grades 2 and up. Minecraft's virtual sandbox is an awesome creative tool. You'll find out how to navigate the Minecraft world and print your builds on 3D printers. No experience necessary! Registration for this event is $25.

Readings of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"

Whos

Afraid

Virginia

Woolf

Edward Albee, considered the foremost American playwright of his generation, died in September at the age of 88.

Inheriting the torch of American drama from the likes of Eugene O'Neill, Arthur Miller, and Tennessee Williams, Albee's plays left an unforgettable imprint on the American theatrical landscape. His psychologically astute and piercing dramas explore the contentiousness of intimacy, the gap between selfdelusion and truth and the undercurrent of desperation beneath the facade of contemporary life. Mr. Albee's Broadway debut, "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?", the famously debauched portrait of a disintegrating marriage, won a Tony Award in 1963 for best play and enthralled theatergoers with its depiction of a couple still desperately in love, but whose relationship has been corroded by dashed hopes, wounding recriminations, and drink.

Some critics were appalled. "A sick play for sick people," The Daily Mirror declared. But others were mesmerized and dazzled. A jury awarded it the Pulitzer Prize, but the Pulitzer advisory board rejected the recommendation, choosing not to give an award for drama that year the jurors resigned in protest. In the years since, the play has grown to become a classic of modern drama and been revived on Broadway three times, most recently in 2012 with Tracy Letts and Amy Morton as George and Martha. Albee wrote, he said, with a sense of responsibility. "All plays, if they're any good, are constructed as correctives," he said in 2004. "That's the job of the writer. Holding that mirror up to people. We're not merely decorative, pleasant and safe."

Bozeman Actors Theatre and the MSU Department of English will present staged readings of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?", featuring Gordon Carpenter, Steven Harris-Weiel, Susan Miller, and Cara Wilder. Set for Friday and Saturday, November 4th and 5th at 7pm, the readings will take place at MSU's Black Box Theatre, located on the corner of 11th and Grant streets. Admission is free for students, with a $10 suggested donation at the door for all others. Seating is not reserved, and parking is free in the MSU lots adjacent to the theater. Please call Bozeman Actors Theatre at (406) 580-0374 for more information.

Shakespeare's Macbeth gets modern treatment at Shane

William Shakespeare's spellbinding tragedy Macbeth is set to kick off the Shane Lalani Center for the Arts' 2016-2017 community theatre season. Director Kory Gunderson delivers a 21st century update to Shakespeare's tragedy of self-promotion, betrayal, and murder. Up-andcoming officer Macbeth and his wife become intoxicated with ambition when his military success results in promotion and rapid celebrity. They soon discover that a life built on violence is more than they can handle and that they have unwittingly destroyed their own future.

This production features mature content and themes, and may be unsuitable for younger audiences.

Macbeth runs weekends from October 21st through November 13th in the Dulcie Theatre at the Shane Lalani Center for the Arts in Livingston. Show times are Fridays and Saturdays at 8pm and Sundays at 3pm. Tickets are $18 for adults, $14 for seniors and college students, and $10 for youth 17 and under. Reservations are available at www.theshanecenter.org/ or by calling the box office at (406) 222-1420.

Macbeth is generously sponsored by Chico Hot Springs Resort, Paula & Scott Coleman, Joanne & David Gibson, and Livingston's Ace Hardware.

Located in the heart of Livingston, the Shane Center is dedicated to fostering creativity and building community through various arts programming, classes and events. The Shane Center is home to a thriving theatre company mounting top-notch community theatre productions, classes, educational outreach programming for area schools, and intense Young Actors' Workshops twice a year. In addition, the Shane Center offers access to a variety of short and long-term rental spaces available for a wide range of artistic endeavors and community events. A 165-seat auditorium, a lavish ballroom with attached catering space, a mirrored rehearsal hall, music and art studios, dance facilities, offices, classrooms, and meeting rooms all keep the Shane Center abuzz with daily activity. In striving to bring the community together through the arts, the staff is committed to inclusiveness and offering affordable access to its programming and facilities. •

Children's book festival returns to library

The Bozeman Public Library is set to host the 9th Annual Children's Festival of the Book on Saturday, November 5th from 9am-5pm. This year will feature an immensely talented illustrator, Christian Robinson. As a storyteller through pictures, he not only makes his living illustrating picture books, but he is also an animator, working with Pixar Animation Studios and the Sesame Street Workshop. His award winning picture books include Josephine by Patricia Hruby Powell (a Coretta Scott King Illustrator Honor, a Robert F. Sibert Honor, and a Boston Globe-Horn Book Nonfiction Honor) and Gaston by Kelly di Pucchio, which was named a Best Book of 2014 by Horn Book, Kirkus, and Amazon.

His latest book. Last Stop on Market Street by Matt de la Pena, is a New York Times bestseller and winner of other honors and awards. "Having Last Stop on Market Street recognized by the Coretta Scott King, Caldecott, and Newbery committees is truly unimaginable," said Robinson. "The pictures in this book were inspired by memories of riding the bus with my grandmother, who raised my brother and me. and taught me to count my blessings. Today I feel deeply blessed and humbled to be a part of a book that is inclusive and honors the experience of children who share a similar story."

In addition to presentations by Robinson-on both illustrating and animating-there will be a writing workshop, live radio performance, a local author panel on world-building, kids' crafts, book sales and signings, and writing and illustrating contests. Once again, this a not-\to-miss event at the Bozeman Public Library.

Shakespeare in the Schools to tour "Hamlet"

From MSU News Service

Montana Shakespeare in the Schools will perform Shakespeare's "Hamlet" to approximately 12,000 students in communities throughout Montana, Wyoming, and Washington as part of its annual fall tour, which began October 6th.

The 10-week tour is the first of two educational outreach programs being offered by Montana Shakespeare in the Parks, which is based at Montana State University, during this academic year. The tour will conclude December 16th. Montana Shakes!, a tour designed specifically for elementary school children, will tour to 60 schools in the spring.

"As with the summer tour, this program places special emphasis on underserved, rural areas," said Kevin Asselin, executive artistic director for Montana Shakespeare in the Parks. "For many students, this is their only opportunity for live, professional theater."

William Brown is a Chicagobased director who will head this production. Brown first came to MSIP in 1980 as an actor. He did several summer tours before return-

bat. The eight actor-educators who make up the touring company have been chosen from national auditions in Chicago, Minneapolis, and Montana. Five out of eight are returning to the Shakespeare in the Schools tour for the second time.

MSIS is funded in part by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts' Shakespeare in American Communities. Additional funding support comes from the MSU College of Arts and Architecture, the Montana Arts Council: Artists in the Schools and Communities and Cultural Trust, the Homer A. and Mildred S. Scott Foundation, and the Sidney E. Frank Foundation.

Shakespeare in the School's annual Elise Event, a fundraiser named in honor of the late Elise Donohue, will be held at 7pm, Saturday, November 12th, at MSU's Black Box Theater, located on the corner of 11th and Grant Street on the MSU campus in Bozeman. The event will feature a full performance of "Hamlet," postshow catered wine, hors d'oeuvres, and dessert. There will also be a

"For many communities, this is the cultural event of the year," Brown said. "And for us, that responsibility makes every performance an essential one. Bringing Hamlet to Montana's schools is a rare opportunity. I could not be more excited."

Workshops will be offered to each school on relevant themes in the play, Shakespearean verse, theatrical production, and stage com-were other clock-punchers who wanted that job, too, and you were determined to beat them all. Turns out, though, that the work practically knocks you out every day but in the new book "Feminist Fight Club" by Jessica Bennett, there are ways to attack your dissatisfaction.

A few years ago, Jessica Bennett and her friends all found themselves in the same place: someone's living room, drinking seltzer and kvetching about their jobs. Each of them, it place is narder than it once was." Is a particular behavior friendly... or creepy? Was an overt transgression twice as much as men): so is taking control back from a "bropriator." Know how to stop the "mansplainer" in his tracks, and the "himitator," well, dealing with him is a breeze.

Then again, your male counterparts may not be completely to blame for your work problems. Know how to avoid sabotaging yourself by not becoming "the office Mom" or the woman who can't take a compliment. Eliminate vocal fry, fill-words, upspeak, and constant apologies. Stand up, physically and behaviorally; learn to brag correctly; know the difference between truth and myth; find the perfect hack for the "Smile!" command you hate; give your sisters some love; and ask for that raise you so deserve.

The first thing you may notice when you flip through "Feminist Fight Club" is that it's sassy. It pulls no punches in its advice and practically demands that you stop whining about your job and do something.

There were times, however, when I feared that author Jessica Bennett may have limited her audience in her righteous headhigh stance: the information is good, but the delivery may turn away older women. They need the guidance just as much as do their younger counterparts, but they may not quite appreciate the bawdiness that accompanies the advice. Yes, there's good instruction here, but some of it's rather unprofessional. Yes, readers will laugh and learn, but they may also cringe at minor crudeness and references to men as "the enemy."

Overall, I don't believe this book is for a general audience. A by-the-book, button-down type or a return-to-work retiree may not enjoy its cheekiness much, but a Millennial may devour its words. For the latter, "Feminist Fight Club" could be a hit. •

Movie Lovers

Presents: The Mummy: A UNL Monster

By Kari Bowles The Mummy: A Universal Monster

The 1930s and 40s were a golden era for the formation of what became standard Hollywood movie genres, including horror. There had been horror films in the silent era, but it took the coming of sound before ghoulish supernatural stories truly achieved massive popular success. Universal Studios developed a specialty in monster movies, making huge stars out of actors like Bela Lugosi and Boris Karloff. Karloff, of course, is most famous as the monster in the film version of Mary Shelley's novel Frankenstein (1931) and the sequel The Bride of Frankenstein (1935). He also launched another longstanding monster franchise in 1932 with The Munmy. By contemporary standards, the original film may now seem a bit slow-paced and creaky; on the other hand, viewers who prefer their horror entries atmospheric and narrative driven (as opposed to sadistically gory and shocking) will find much to appreciate here.

The action centers around the unearthing of a mummy in Egypt, a priest named Imhotep (Karloff) who was entombed alive as punishment for trying to bring his lost love back from the dead. Of course, he awakens from the dead and immediately zeros in on his lover's modern day reincarnation (Zita Johann). It falls to the lady's beau and an elderly expert (Frank Whemple and Edward Van Sloan, respectively) to stop the monster before it's too late. This plotline has been put to use in many subsequent films, from Francis Ford Coppola's Dracula (1992) to the cheesy-fun action remake of The Mummy (1999), but the Karloff film is generally taken as its cinematic launching pad.

The movie was directed by Karl Freund, who was already distinguished as a cinematographer—his noteworthy earlier works include Fritz Lang's silent classic Metropolis (1927) and Tod Browning's Dracula (1931). The influence of the latter film (notable for Bela Lugosi's iconic role as the Transylvanian count) is apparent all throughout The Mummy, from the moody set design and expressionistic photography to the cast; Whemple and Van Sloan played very similar characters in the vampire movie. But this is not to say that The Mummy is an exercise in lazy repetition. Its most noteworthy distinction is Boris Karloff's turn as Imhotep. Horror can often lend itself to flamboyantly outsized performances, especially by those playing the central villain. Karloff, as in his rendering of Frankenstein's monster, takes the opposite track, utilizing the surprising power of understatement. Aided by his famously grim mien and sunken piercing eyes, Karloff does n't need a maniacal laugh or omnipotent evil powers to be scary. His power to disturb springs from eerie intensity, born from a surprisingly poignant bereavement. All of his cruel deeds are motivated by a devastating obsession, carried across thousands of years, to have the woman he loves back. The consequences of when the drive for love blurs with a drive for destruction make for character dynamics that are as engaging as they are creepy. How appropriate that the opening credits to a monster movie are set to the romantic strains of Tchaikovsky's "Swan Lake." •

Cinematic lunacy with BFS & MT Jazz Collective!

Bozeman Film Society continues its new season on a spooky Saturday, October 29th with director Robert Wiene's silent horror film The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari at 7pm. Take a thrilling plunge into the mind of insanity with a screening of the 1920 cinematic masterpiece. One of the most influential films of the silent era, this groundbreaking German Expressionist film is presented with an original, live score by Bozeman's own MT Jazz Collective! Arguably the first true horror film, The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari remains terrifying nearly a century after it first stalked the screen.

MT Jazz Collective musicians Adam Greenberg, Chris Cundy, and Alex Robilotta will bring their own twisted touch to this sinister masterpiece about a hypnotist (Werner Krauss) who travels the carnival circuit displaying a somnambulist named Cesare (Conrad Veidt). This is the mother lode of the horror genre—prepare for a full smorgasbord of eye-popping terror, lunatics, murderers, and possessed somnambulists. Not rated (though Rotten Tomatoes gives this film an astounding 100%), the film runs 77 minutes.

Reserved tickets for this special Halloweentime music and film event are $13 for adults adults, one for youth. Tickets are available online at www.theellentheatre.com/. Sponsors and BFS passholders may reserve seats by emailing EllenBoxStaff@gmail.com, calling (406) 585-5885, or visiting the box office. Broadway favorite Same Time, Next Year at Blue Slipper

Just announced! Local stage production of Bernard Slade's Same Time, Next Year will run weekends November 18th through December 11th at The Blue Slipper Theatre in Livingston. Performances will take place Fridays and Saturdays at 8pm, with a Sunday matinee at 3pm. Tickets are available at www.brownpapertickets.com/ or at the door. Call (406) 222-7720 for reservations. The Blue Slipper production is directed by Carmen Dunn. Same Time, Next Year is the funny, complicated, and touching love story of George and Doris who, despite being married to other people, meet once a year to share their lives and affections for each other. The play chronicles one couple's gentle, bittersweet journey of love, vulnerability, and faith over twentyfive years.

One of the most popular romantic comedies of the century, Same Time, Next Year ran four years on Broadway, winning a Tony Award for lead actress Ellen Burstyn, who later recreated her role in the successful motion picture. It remains one of the world's most widely produced plays.

The Blue Slipper Theatre continues its tradition of offering the best in community theater as it has for 50 years. Located in the heart of Livingston's historic downtown district, the theatre produces four or five full-length productions each season, with a variety of comedic and dramatic selections included in the annual lineup. The Blue Slipper hosts touring productions, music, and comedy throughout the year and offers a holiday variety program to the public free of charge. The Blue Slipper also hosts a Kids Playwriting Festival in the spring to give area students the opportunity to write, direct, and star in their own plays. The theatre is located at 113 East Callender Street. For tickets or more information, call (406) 222-7720 or visit www.blueslipper.com/. •

Lectures & a Gross Family Halloween at Museum of Rockies

There are several fun and informative lectures—on top of their wonderful exhibits and a creepy family Halloween party—to choose from at the Museum of the Rockies. Here's a look at what's coming up.

The Leisure & Luxury Faculty and Distinguished Guests Lecture Series will present a number of informative lectures that will explore a diverse range of topics related to the exhibition, "Leisure & Luxury in the Age of Nero: The Villas of Oplontis Near Pompeii." Led by faculty from Montana State University and visiting presenters, this series of lectures will highlight the unique connections between the ecosystems and cultural systems of the Yellowstone region and the ancient Bay of Naples. "Vesuvius in Ash and Ink: Geologic and Literary Chronicles of a Catastrophe" with Dr. David Bowen, Assistant Research Professor of Earth

Sciences, Montana State University and Megan Bowen, Ph.D. candidate in Classics, University of Virginia, will take place on Thursday, October 20th in Hager Auditorium beginning at 6pm. Avatar: The Edges of Yellowstone with Suzanne Lewis, Former Superintendent of Yellowstone National Park, John Brittingham, Professor of Architecture, Montana State University, and Paul Bertelli, JLF + Associates. Architects and Planners will follow on Thursday, November 3rd in Hager Auditorium beginning at 6pm. A reception will follow each of these lectures. These events are free and open to the public. The Extreme History Project

The Extreme History Project Lecture Series returns with

"Sensing the Difference: The Historical Association of Sensory Elements with Cultural 'Otherness'" with C. Riley Augè, PhD., on Wednesday, October 26th in Hager Auditorium beginning at 6pm. This event is free and open to the public. MOR is pleased to host this lecture series that encourages public understanding of the way our history has shaped our present. Speakers will take a fresh look at intriguing historical topics. A Family Grossology Halloween Party is set for Saturday, October 29th from 2-5pm. Wear your best costume and create disgusting concoctions like slime. Play with the "microscope-ona-rope" and check out what your scabs look like on the big screen. Enjoy spooky Halloween stories, creepy crawlies from Montana Outdoor Science School, and experiments with the Children's Museum of Bozeman, Montana State University's Undergraduate Chemistry Society, and Society of Physics Students. All events are included with Museum admission.

Using the past and present, Museum of the Rockies inspires lifelong learning in science, history, culture, and art; advances knowledge through collections, research and discovery; and presents engaging, vibrant exhibits and programming. MOR brings the world to Montana and Montana to the world. For more information for these and future events, or to register, visit www.museumoftherockies.org/ or call (406) 994-5257.

MSU earns recognition on *Forbes' '*America's Top Colleges' list

From MSU News Service

Montana State University recently earned the 310th spot on Forbes' "America's Top Colleges" list. The placement was up from last year's ranking of 325 and was the highest rank of a public or private institution in Montana.

MSU also ranked higher than many of its peer universities in the West, including Washington State University, Utah State University, Oregon State University and the University of Idaho. The Forbes rankings are based on several factors, including student satisfaction, post-graduate success, student debt levels, and graduation rates, according to the publication. Forbes partnered with the Washington, D.C.-based Center for College Affordability and Productivity to produce the list of 660 schools. More information, and the full list, is available the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. Of the 107 universities ranked as having "higher research activity," only 51 including MSU—are also classified by Carnegie as having significant commitment to community engagement. In addition, MSU earned a Carnegie enrollment profile of "very high undergraduate."

Himalayan salt lamps on sale now at downtown specialty shop

From Dari Rasa

The Dari Rasa Trunk Show in downtown Bozeman is currently hosting a SUPER SALE of its popular Himalayan salt lamps. Stop in and pick one up now for your home—they also make great unique gifts for the fast-approaching holidays! This sale will be in effect until they're all gone.

Himalayan salt lamps have been around for some time now, and more people than ever are harnessing the power of these miracles of nature to help with so many aspects of their lives. Genuine Himalayan salt lamps can help with breathing, sinus issues, allergies, fatigue, and much more. The process that Himalayan salt lamps use to change unhealthy positive ions to healthy negative ions is quite simple. When there is moisture in the air, and your lamp is turned on, this moisture is taken in by the salt lamp. The positive ions are rendered harmless and the lamp puts beneficial negative ions in the atmosphere. These negative ions can help with many everyday concerns like asthma, allergies, fatigue, bad smells, and much more. The Himalayan salt lamp actually cleans the air, mush like an give you years of healthy ion output. When there are more negative ions in the air, it is easier to breathe, people report an easier time sleeping, less symptoms from allergies and breathing issues, and even a better mood. Many people that buy one salt lamp end up ordering lamps for their entire home because they love the way their home smells, and they adore being able to enjoy cleaner, fresher

air, that contains less dust and allergens. There exists only one place in the world where you can obtain real Himalayan crystal salt. This salt can only be mined at the foothills of the Himalayan Mountain range in Tibet. The natives there have known the wonders of Himalayan salt for centuries, and now vou too can experience better breathing, increased energy, sharper mental acuity, a happier mental outlook, and more with this miracle of nature. Himalayan salt comes from the primordial seas that dried up millions of years ago. This salt has the exact chemical structure that we have in our bodies. This is why breathing, eating, or otherwise taking in this salt can lead to better health and healing. When the body has all of the elements it needs to run properly, you are left feeling healthier, with more energy, less problems breathing and sleeping, and a more positive mental outlook. Salt that has been obtained from anywhere else cannot possibly contain the correct elemental structure, so it will no be able to do all of the things that Himalayan salt can.

Genuine Himalayan salt lamps are availbale now at the Dari Rasa Trunk Show in downtown Bozeman. Drop in to 132 East Main Street or visit www.darirasa.com/ to learn more. Call (406) 582-0166 to make a singing bowl meditiation appointment today!

Warming Center Awareness Day is October 22nd

HRDC's Warming Center is preparing for the seventh season of providing life-saving shelter to homeless men, women, and children in the Gallatin Valley. The Warming Center is 100% funded by our community.

On Saturday, October 22nd, HRDC is hosting Warming Center Awareness Day with the following events. Flying Signs: During the event, volunteers will be located all around Bozeman, "flying" signs on street corners and collecting donations in support of the Warming Center. 5% Business Donation Day: Numerous area businesses will be donating 5% of their profits to the Warming Center on October 22nd. Warming Center Open House: Come and take a tour of the facility and find out what happens in the lives of its customers.

These fundraisers serve as a great opportunity to increase awareness of homelessness in our community. Support on October 22nd is effortless—and the life-saving impact is priceless.

The Warming Center is one of the HRDC's Housing First Programs and just one of the numerous wrap around services HRDC provides to address housing vulnerability in our community. To learn more about how HRDC is building a better community, visit www.thehrdc.org/. •

Understanding your kids: workshops for adults

Bozeman Public Schools and Parent University will host How to Teach Money Management to Your Children on Tuesday, October 18th from 12–1pm at the Willson School Building. Learning smart spending habits can have a profound impact on a young child's life. The financial lessons children learn today will last well into adulthood. Join Kimberly Hartman, from MSU's Health & Human Development Department and a Certified Financial Planner, to learn more about teaching your child how to spend and save.

Communicating with your Adolescent will close out the month on Thursday, October 27th from 12–1pm at the Willson School Building. Communication with your adolescent is one of the foundations of good parenting. As children become adolescents, they normally get more involved with peers and talk less to parents. Less communication with parents can be a normal part of establishing independence. Teenagers still want and need to communicate with their parents, feel close to their parents, and be able to turn to their parents when they have problems or when they need to talk. Laura St. John, Project Director SAFE-TI (School & Family Engagement–Trauma Informed) will provide some tips for how to establish good communication with your teenager. Life Stressors and Trauma will kick off November on Thursday the 10th from 12–1pm at the Willson School Building. Laura St. John, Project Director SAFE-TI (School & Family Engagement- Trauma Informed) will discuss how childhood experiences, both positive and negative, can have a tremendous impact on future violence victimization and perpetration, and lifelong health and opportunity. More informative presentations like these will be held through December. Classes are free of charge. Visit

BridgerCare "Growing Up" Puberty workshops announced

Bridgercare will be offering two FREE "Growing Up" Puberty workshops (one for girls and one for boys) on Saturday, October 29th at the Bozeman Fire Station #3. The girls workshop will be from 9am-12pm, and the boys from 1-4pm. Both groups will have the opportunity to tour the fire station at noon. This workshop is an opportunity for kids ages 9-12 and a parent or significant adult to learn more about the facts of puberty with fun and interactive activities that facilitate positive communication between children, adults, and their community. Registration is required by contacting Cami at (406) 587-0681, ext. 13 or carmijo@bridgercare.org. Snacks provided!

Bridgercare's mission is to "provide excellent, affordable reproductive and sexual healthcare and education in a safe, supportive, empowering atmosphere." Offering support to men, women, and teens, Bridgercare is one of the largest non-profit family planning clinics in Montana. Aside from the 20% from federal funding and grants, the remaining funds primarily come from donations and visit fees. These fees are based on patient income and are assessed according to ability to pay. The clinic depends on you to pay for your care or make a donation at the time of your visit so that we can continue to provide personal, affordable, and professional service.

Bridgercare always accepts new patients, and no one is denied services due to inability to pay. They are happy to provide care to clients with private insurance and Medicaid coverage. You can still apply for the sliding fee scale regardless of insurance coverage and they will simply adjust any balances from insurance to your discount level if you qualify. Local brewery houses largest solar array in Bozeman

Bozeman Brewing

Company has been pumping out its product since 2001, satisfying the tastebuds of residents and visitors alike in that span of time. What people might not know is that the local brewer is home to largest solar array in Bozeman, thanks to a project partnership with another local company, Harvest Solar.

"When Harvest Solar approached us in early summer of 2015 with the idea of putting up Bozeman's largest solar array, we were intrigued but unclear of the details and how we could pull this off," said Bozeman Brewing's owner Todd Scott. "The fact that energy costs will not be decreasing for the foreseeable future made this decision a no brainer. I look forward to sunny days, power savings, and working with Harvest Solar on future Bozeman Brewing Company roof - www.harvestsolarmt.com projects."

The brewery is thriving years later, its tasting room open daily (2-8pm Saturday-Thursday & 12-8pm Fridays), offering an incredible lineup of frosty brews. Come in for a Bozone Amber Ale, Hopzone IPA, Gallatin Pale Ale, Two O'clock Wheat, Plum Street Porter, Harvestfest Lager, Terroir Local Fresh Hop Ale, Belgian Style Wit Bier, Gluten Reduced Golden Ale, or a Gallatin Pale. Fridays feature $2 off growler refills until 3pm (exceptions may apply) and Sunday FUNDays see .50¢ of every pint sold donated to the non-profit of the week. Local doc series presents timely special evening of immersive film

On Sunday, October 23rd, The Bozeman Doc Series presents a special event co-hosted by the Montana Wilderness Association. The evening begins at 6pm with a reception in the Emerson lobby featuring food and drink from the Emerson Grill, followed by a screening of the short documentary Our Last Refuge, and the Montana premiere of the Sundance Special Jury Prize-winning documentary,

When Two Worlds Collide.

In this tense and immersive tour de force, When Two Worlds Collide brings audiences directly into the line of fire between two powerful, opposing Peruvian factions who will stop at nothing to keep their respective goals intact. On the one side is President Alan Garcia and the Peruvian government who, eager to enter the world stage, begins aggressively extracting oil, minerals, and gas from untouched indigenous Amazonian land. He is quickly met with fierce opposition from the indigenous people living in the Amazon jungle, led by Alberto Pizango, whose impassioned speeches against Garcia's destructive actions become a rallying cry. When President Garcia continues to ignore their pleas, a tense war of words erupts into deadly violence, bloody protests, and chaotic clashes between both sides.

First-time feature documentary filmmakers Heidi Brandenburg and Mathew Orzel capture all angles of this volatile political and environmental crisis with breathtaking access and bold, unflinching camera work. From the raucous halls of justice to deep in the heart of the Amazon jungle, When Two Worlds Collide exposes a titanic clash between a government hungry for economic legitimacy and a people, led by an outspoken environmentalist, desperate to protect an ancient land from ruin.

The filmmakers immersed themselves in Peru for several years to flesh out this complex story. Their close relationship with Pizango, an eye for Amazonian beauty, and no-holds-barred interviews with Peru's political cupola come together to create a heart-pumping tale of defiance and courage. The film captures this continuously important story linking indigenous rights and the sustainability of the Amazon rainforest told against the backdrop of globalization.

Our Last Refuge tells the story of the Badger-Two

Medicine, the sacred homeland of the Blackfeet Nation of Montana, and the decades-long struggle to protect it from oil and gas exploration. The film features voices from all sides of the struggle—Blackfeet elders, local conservationists, and even the law firm pushing for oil exploration. All together, they chronicle the epic saga of this unique landscape, stretching back millennia, and the current legal challenge, the outcome of which could determine the fate of sensitive and sacred lands nationwide. One of the highest profile conservation struggles in recent history, Our Last Refuge is the first in-depth telling of this critical story at a moment in time when the stakes are at their highest. Bozeman-based director Daniel Glick (A Place to Stand) will be in attendance and will introduce the film.

Doors open at 6pm, with the films set to begin at 6:30pm. Come down and meet members of the Montana Wilderness Association and Our Last Refuge teams at the reception before the films begin.

Tickets are available at the door or before the show at Cactus Records and Movie Lovers. Tickets are also available online at www.bozemandocseries.org/, where you can also buy Season Passes and 7-film punch cards, learn more about the series, and view trailers for upcoming films. The series will continue every other Sunday through Christmas. Starting January 12th, the series will move to every other Thursday through the spring. •

Why Gardens Matter...

By Zelpha Boyd

With all its ups and downs, failures, successes, and disappointments, just why would we bother to garden at all? My answer to that question is simply, "Because I can't do otherwise." I've gardened since I was old enough to hold a hoe. All my life, is seems, has been centered around a garden of some sort or other. I've moved rocks, sod, quack grass, debris and trash to make room for plants. There've been vegetable gardens, flower gardens, trees and shrubs. Some of the spaces were landscaped; some not so much.

garden, planting growing things, seeing the results (good or bad) has provided me with a peace of mind gained from no other part of my life. It's been an inexpensive therapy; an outlet for pent up emotions. And I'd much rather be coping with plant pests, composting, planting, transplanting, watering, and weeding, than doing housework!

Recently at the Rocky Mountain Gardening Magazine's retreat at Chico Hot Springs, Susan Tweit provided us with many reasons as to why we garden—why gardens are important and why they matter. She recounted an abundance of reasons. First, there's the pure satisfaction of creating something of beauty. Trees, shrubs, flowers, vegetables, and even manicured lawns provide a natural meaning to our lives. If that's not enough, gardening provides food for our tables—and enough to share.

There's still a bigger picture as to why gardens matter. Growing plants provide habitat for birds, bees, insects, butterflies, worms and soil microorganisms. "Biodiversity is simply the variety of life in a particular place" Tweit says. The oxygen we breathe comes from plants as they absorb the carbon dioxide they need.

"Gardens are sanctuaries of sanity; places of beauty and joy. Refuges of biodiversity, purveyors of food, health and inspiration, Gardens are part of the solution—for all life, Garden Up!"(This quote taken from Ms. Tweit's presentation.) As for me, I'll keep gardening until I can no longer hold a hoe! •

Montana group finds fault with study of proposed coal export facility

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers released its Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) for the Millennium Bulk Terminals' proposed coal export terminal [recently]. The Longview, Wash., project would be the largest coal export terminal in North America, transporting up to 44 million tons of coal daily across Montana, through the Pacific Northwest, and on to Asia.

Millennium cannot build shipping docks and over-water conveyors until the Army Corps signs-off on the project. The Army Corps' review, however, ignores the broader impacts beyond the footprint of the terminal, including a majority of the project's climate impacts. The issue is important to Montanans because, if approved, it would add 18 coal trains a day (full and empty) crossing Montana from the Powder River Basin to export coal to Asian markets. The DEIS does not address possible impacts in Montana. French, Chair of the Northern Plains Resource Council in Billings, Mont. "If it were built, we'd have to live with the harmful effects of additional coal mining, and dozens of Montana rail towns would have to endure the traffic delays, diesel exhaust, and air pollution as private corporations ship Montana coal to Asia.

"In much of Montana, our coal seams are our aquifers, and we don't want to sacrifice our water resources for the sake of private coal companies' profits or Asian economies. The final EIS must consider the impacts to Montana."

The public can send comments online through November 29th, or mail to MBTL NEPA Draft EIS, c/o ICF International, 710 Second Avenue, Suite 550, Seattle, WA 98104. Northern Plains is a conservation and family agriculture group that organizes citizens to protect Montana's water quality, family farms and ranches, and unique quality of life. Bob Barbee, former YNP Superintendent, passes away at 80

tural areas.

From YNP News

Former Yellowstone National Park Superintendent Bob Barbee passed away on Sunday, October 2nd, at home in Bozeman, MT with his wife of 58 years, Carol, by his side. He was 80 years old.

"The current and past employees of Yellowstone National Park send their deepest condolences to the Barbee family," said Superintendent Dan Wenk. "Those of us who had the privilege to work your home and your finances after you purchase. Completion of homeownership for and with Bob all owe him a debt of gratitude. He gave us the ability to deal with complex issues and the humanity and compassion to engage with our advocates, adversaries, and colleagues."

Barbee was born on November 12th, 1935, in Columbus, Ohio. He graduated from Colorado State University (CSU) in 1958 with an undergraduate degree in Biology and returned to CSU earning a Masters in Natural Resources Management in 1968. He served a stint in the U.S. Army ROTC in Fort Benning, GA.

Barbee began his National Park Service career in 1958 with seasonal ranger positions in Rocky Mountain and Yosemite national parks. He then moved his young family to Carlsbad Caverns National Park for his first permanent position as an interpretive ranger. In quick succession his National Park Service career took him to the Albright Training Center at Grand Canyon National Park; to Point Reyes National Park; back to Yosemite as a fire ecologist; to the first of his superintendencies at Cape Lookout National Seashore, then Cape Hatteras National Seashore; followed by serving at the Western Regional Office in San Francisco as Chief of the Division of Interpretation. There followed superintendencies at Hawaii Volcanoes National Park, Redwoods National Park, and Yellowstone National Park. After 11 eventful years in Yellowstone, Barbee became Regional Director of the Alaskan parks, where he served until his retirement in 2000, capping a distinguished 42-year public service career.

Barbee was a passionate outdoorsman, an expert alpinist who summited all of Colorado's 14,000ft. peaks. He was also a marathonlevel runner and a downhill and cross-country skier. A gifted photographer who studied and worked with Ansel Adams in Yosemite, he and his wife Carol visited all seven continents while he photographed worked with Barbee remember him with great fondness, not only for his wise and effective leadership but also his unfailing friendship and brilliant sense of humor. In all ways he exemplified the highest standards of American citizenship, and like the National Park Service's founding Director, Stephen Mather, there will never come an end to the good that he has done.

Service employees who knew and

Barbee was honored by his alma mater as a distinguished alumnus. He was recognized with the Department of the Interior's three highest honor awards (Superior Service, Distinguished Service, and Meritorious Service) along with numerous other special awards including those from the White House and the National Parks Conservation Association.

Barbee is survived by his wife, Carol Hill Barbee, daughters, Debbie Barbee (Mike Gerard) of Jackson, WY, Heidi Barbee, (Norbert Samlowski) of Steamboat Springs, CO, and Cindra Barbee (Mark Delray) of Kalispell, MT. He is also survived by seven grandchildren: Madison and Chase Gerard; Tyler, Sam and Hannah Samlowski; as well as Anna and Kade Delray and their beloved dog, Koko.

The family has requested that in lieu of flowers, donations be sent to Yellowstone Forever (formerly Yellowstone Park Foundation and National Park and a 501(c)3 non-profit organization.

Cards of condolence can be sent to the Barbee family at the following address: Debbie Barbee, P.O. Box 942, Wilson, WY 83014. A celebration of Bob's life will be held in May 2017 in Yellowstone National Park. The date of this event will be announced later. The family is setting up a website for friends to post memories of Bob. Once the website is available, the address will be shared by the Coalition to Protect America's National Parks.

Bob's cumulative achievements within the agency and in particular in Yellowstone are too numerous to recount. However, he will always be remembered for his handling of the epic 1988 Yellowstone fires and how he persevered through the intensity of that long summer. He faced hordes of people, thousands of news media, and an endless stream of politicians all wanting to dictate how he should be managing the fires.

With the hindsight of some 28 years now, it is clear Bob's leadership in managing the extreme fire situation in 1988 ultimately shaped the future of federal wildland fire management policy. Today, many of the methods used in Yellowstone in 1988 are now mainstream tactics in managing large wildland fires for resource benefit, economics, and most importantly for human safety.

Anyone fortunate enough to know Bob also knows his extraordinary partner and spouse Carol. Together they shared their lives in some of our nation's most iconic landscapes, raised three daughters and are the proud grandparents of seven grandkids. They have entertained presidents and kings, as well as seasonal park employees who had no place to sleep for a night or two between jobs. Their hospitality is legend and many a national decision was made around their kitchen table or campfire with some of the nation's highest officials. •

Warm up with live music & a soak at Norris Hot Springs

The hillsides along the road to Norris Hot Springs have gone from green to brilliant shades of autumn and still retain a pop of color every few miles. You can sense the change of seasons and with the new snow on the Tobacco Roots, it seems the warm days are likely over. Which is good news if you're a hot spring!

The late garden harvest has brought organic vegetables and hearty greens which now become specials, stews, and soups to accompany the crowd favorite burritos, pizzas and quesadillas.

There are plenty of reasons to make the drive through the beautiful Madison Valley to enjoy a soak and a meal. And if you arrive on a weekend, you can enjoy the best in local acoustic music. Music begins at 7pm every Friday, Saturday, and Sunday for a small cover charge.

First up on Friday, October 14th is Joe Schwem. He is a singer songwriter from Bozeman with Americana, folk, and rock influences who plays a mix of originals and covers. On Saturday, October 15th, Aaron Williams takes the Poolside Stage.

From rock/reggae band In Walks Bud, Aaron will be playing a variety of tunes including rock, folk, reggae, and instrumentals.

Rounding out the weekend on Sunday, October 16th is Russ Chapman. If you like Taj Mahal, Randy Newman, Ry Cooder, John Hiatt, Lyle Lovett, or Leon Redbone, then odds are, you'll like Russ Chapman. Even if you don't like those guys, there's still hope. An original songwriter, Russ stomps and sings an inspired blend of hill country blues and swing, with a taste for lyrical wordplay—there's no deep soul crushing ballads here, just good clean(ish) fun.

The following week brings old favorites and a new voice to the stage at Norris. On Friday, October 21st, Aran Buzzas performs. Aran does songs that are easy to relate to, often amusing, and frequently with a regional backdrop.

Saturday, October 22nd brings Dan Henry. Dan's a one-man band playing guitar, harmonica, and vocals. He's driven with a blues influence, but covers a wide range of music from folk to rock and reggae and so much more, including original songs. He's a born and raised Montanan from the capital city of Helena.

Winding up the weekend on Sunday, October 23rd is Nathan North. Nathan is a Billings performer, who uses loops to create complex and wonderful songs-as a solo artist. He'll be doing originals and favorite covers.

The final week of October promises spooks and trick or treats-and great music at Norris. First up on Friday, October 28th is Shea

Mathias

Stewart. Shea performs a distinctive blend of "stripped-down" acoustic blues and Americana. His soundtrack to the beauty of the hot springs and wetland go perfectly hand in hand.

Next in line on Saturday,

October 29th is Tom Kirwan. He performs a blend of folk country and Americana. Tom's songs evoke nostalgia of long-ago dreams and people, while weaving stories of human longing both past and present.

A long time favorite with crowds takes the stage on Sunday, October 30th—Mathias. The Bozeman-based singer-songwriter has been playing music under the big sky of Montana for nearly two decades. With powerful vocals and a percussive guitar style, he is known for his dynamic live performances. In 2010, Mathias headed into the studio with Emmy Award-winning producer Jeremiah Slovarp culminating in the release of his debut album Walk Alone.

Learn about the winter hours and the designated driver program and a bit about the history of Norris by visiting www.norrishotsprings.com/. Located 34 miles from Bozeman on Rt 84 and Hwy 287, you can reach them at (406) 685-3303. Eat. drink. and soak! •

Warm up with a specialty cocktail & music downtown!

Bozeman Spirits in historic Downtown Bozeman is a great place to stop in this fall when you need to get inside to warm up! The distillery uses only pure Rocky Mountain water to produce the most flavorful spirits. They also host live music by great local artists every Tuesday from 5:30-8pm in their homey tasting room. Here's a look at the upcoming acts.

Amanda Stewart will bring an intimate show to the distillery on October 18th. She performs acoustic, alternative, and country covers, not to mention plenty of her own original music.

Travis & Josh will close out the month with a performance on October 25th. Come sip on a signature cocktail and enjoy some acoustics from these talented fellas.

Bozeman Spirits Distillery's tasting room offers a warm and welcoming environment. With the history kept alive in the reclaimed wood and metals throughout, you will feel the modern charm and history as you walk in. Your fresh cocktail is served upon wood from the 1930s, and the bar brings the atmosphere of the old saloon. The beautiful stills and production are seen through the back glass windows of the tasting room, and the mixologists will be happy to explain distilling techniques from the grains, mashing, blending, and bottling processes.

History is an intimate part of Bozeman Spirits Distillery, aiming to be a focal point of the downtown area, and the business prides itself on its Montana roots. They currently have created two types of vodka, a gin and a whiskey, using Montana ingredients as much as possible. Each spirit is crafted with water sourced from the Hvalite. Sourdough, and Bozeman Creek watersheds, and all distilling and bottling occurs in the back room of the distillery. Bozeman Spirits Distillery uses two stills in the production area. An Artisan 300 Gallon Traditional Copper Pot Still with a 4 plate and 16 plate column, and an Arnold Holstein Copper Pot Still

Bus Driver Tour, Groove Wax at Eagles bar

The Eagles in Downtown Bozeman draws a diverse crowd. From cowboys to ski bums to college kids, you can witness nearly every demographic on a typical night. They host live music, karaoke, and serve inexpensive drinks! Here's a look at what's coming up.

Currently, the band calls Livingston and Knoxville, Tennessee home as they have deep admiration and musical roots in both States.

Groove Wax will provide the music on Friday and Saturday, October 21st and 22nd at 9pm both evenings. The band is comprised of your feet-and soak them too!

The Wench will take the stage Friday and Saturday, October 14th and 15th. For most people, the image of an "acoustic duo" conjures images of two soft spoken musicians singing folk rock and hippie jam songs. This is not the case with The Wench. Two original members of The Clintons, John and Josh joke that, "we're half the band, twice the party." The guys have played over 1,200 shows together at this point in their career, and are no strangers to throwing a rocking party. Their show is a hotdish or "badasserole" of musical genres and style.

A look over UTBs song list will show that we keep up with today's hits, and have been playing yesterday's hits since they were a 'hit' the first time!

Rock 'n' rollers BlackWater will bring the live entertainmemnt to Chico Friday and Saturday, October 28th and 29th—plus, Saturday will feature a festive Halloween party to go along with the great tunes. The rock 'n' roll variety band will have you off your feet and on the dance-

Bus Driver Tour is set for Friday and Saturday, October 14th and 15th at 9pm both evenings. In the spring of 2011, songwriters Ian Thomas, Paul Lee Kupfer, and Danny Freund joined forces to start a band. The three met a few years before while on tour in Montana. They traveled well together and gained mutual respect for each other as songwriters. While on the road, they established themselves as each other's backing band, switching between guitars, drums and bass. The result has been an authentic blend of energy and momentum that is The Bus Driver Tour.

former Jamelution members Cindy Damjanovich, Junior Damjanovich, and Nik Damjanovich, plus former SaddleTramp Band member Gary Peterson, and Rockin' Steve 'Monster' Melia of Billings. They play rock, country, and blues.

Ottmar Liebert & Luna Negra at Ellen

VH1 Save The Music and InspiredByContent will present An Evening with Ottmar Liebert & Luna Negra on Monday, October 17th at the Ellen Theatre beginning at 7:30pm. A guitarist and songwriter known to attract fans spontaneously, Ottmar Liebert combines flamenco textures with sensual rock, jazz, and pop. Ottmar Liebert and Luna Negra have been nominated for five Grammy Awards and have received 38 Gold and Platinum certifications.

Liebert's incredible global success on a musical level is an outgrowth of his cultural background and powerful wanderlust in his formative years. Born in Cologne, Germany, to a Chinese-German father and Hungarian mother, he began playing guitar at age 11 and traveled extensively throughout Europe and Asia intent on fully absorbing each musical tradition he encountered. Liebert has become a highly successful instrumental artist, thrilling audiences worldwide. For more information about the show and to take a listen, please visit www.inspiredbycontent.com/liebert/.

VH1 Save The Music Foundation is participating to help restore instrumental music education programs in Montana's public schools, and to raise awareness about the importance of music as a part of each child's well-rounded education. Since 1997, VH1 Save The Music has partnered with more than 1968 public schools in 233 school districts to give 2.6 MILLION CHILDREN the tools and confidence to excel in academics and in life. The show is produced by InspiredByContent, a Montana company that creates and distributes inspiring content marketing productions in collaboration with top brands such as Fortune and Time. With the addition of Amy Cimber to the team, they also produce high end events with national and international foundations. Learn more at www.inspiredbycontent.com/. •

Live From The Divide welcomes regional singer/songwriters

Live From The Divide, "A Celebration of The American Songwriter," is broadcasted every Monday at 6pm on public radio station KGLT 91.9 and 97.1. The intimate 50 seat venue is located inside of a commercial recording studio where the audience has the unique opportunity to be a part of a live recording and sit just feet away from singer/songwriters as they perform and share stories. The style of music you can expect to experience is conveniently lumped into the Americana genre. Which is simply an amalgam of American roots music formed by the confluence of shared and varied sounds merged from folk, country, blues, rhythm and blues, and rock 'n' roll. If you haven't had the opportunity to attend a live taping, you've got plenty of chances with these upcoming shows Jeffrey Martin will perform Saturday, October 15th. Born in Texas in 1984, Martin quickly made his way to the Northwest where he discovered in nature and in people what would be the deep well for much of his songwriting. His father was a lover of stories, espe-

Oregon where she spent the summer interviewing and observing the street kids that passed through town. The songs on To & Fro are her interpretations of the stories told to her by the street kids. While the stories are about specific street kids she met, each story speaks to the common questions and struggles of those cially in music, and Martin was raised with a careful ear cocked and listening to Neil Young, John Prine, Jackson Browne, Bob Dylan, and Harry Chapin. His music has been likened to the styles of Josh Ritter and Joe Pug, with an attention to storytelling reminiscent of Harry Chapin and John Prine. Since 2011 Jeffrey has Foucault, Frank Fairfield, and others.

Indie rock singer/songwriter Shelby Earl is set for Thursday, October 27th. With music described as "gritty and soulful, raucous and beautiful," the Seattle artist was named by NPR/LA Times music critic Ann Powers as her "new favorite songwriter," and her solo debut album, Burn the Boats (produced by John Roderick of the Long Winters, out on Local 638 Records) was named the "#1 Outstanding 2011 Album You Might Have Missed" by Amazon.com. She has since garnered praise from the likes of Rolling Stone, Paste Magazine, NPR, KEXP, No Depression, American Songwriter, and many more. Earl's sophomore album Swift Arrows (produced by Damien Jurado), was released in late-2013 to further critical acclaim, and in the words of Benjamin Gibbard (Death Cab For Cutie/Postal Service) it "proves [Shelby] has the most heartbreakingly beautiful voice in Seattle.'

Blues and roots singer/songwriter Spencer Bohren will follow on Friday, October 28th. His music resonates with the ambience of the rivers, roads, and bayous of the American South. He has a marvelous gift for sharing his great love for America's wealth fortable delivery make each concert feel like a pleasant visit with an old friend.

Woven through the fabric of a Spencer Bohren performance are his stunning original pieces, teeming with echoes of the traditional music he loves, yet written from a modern viewpoint. From gently opinionated topical songs to energetic highway tunes to disarmingly beautiful ballads, Spencer presents a wide range of music, punctuated by superlative guitar playing and using an ever-changing assortment of vintage guitars, lapsteels, and banjos. The atmosphere of his New Orleans home subtly informs each performance. What's more, the stories that preface the songs are often as well received as the songs themselves.

Tickets are sold at the door, but these small shows are known to sell out quickly—so buy your tickets early! Tickets are available in-store at Cactus Records and Gifts in downtown Bozeman. Or you can purchase them at www.cactusrecords.net/. Live From The Divide is located at 627 East Peach Street in Bozeman. Doors open at 8pm with a show time of 9pm for ALL shows. MSU choirs to perform fall concert October 18th

From MSU News Service Montana State

University's School of Music choirs will give their first performance of the 2016-2017 season at 7:30pm on Tuesday, October 18th in Reynolds Recital Hall.

The University Chorus, led by MSU music professor Jon Harney, will sing Jacob Gallus' "Alleluia" for double choir,

James Whitbourn's "Give us the Wings of Faith," Shawn

Kirchner's Grammy-nominated "Tu Sangre en la Mia," and will close with the South African folk song "Siyalobola Gogo," arranged by South African conductor Michael Barrett.

The Montanans, led by MSU vocal professor Kirk Aamot, will sing a new setting of Sara Teasdale's poem, "I Should Be Glad," by Susan LaBarr and a piece by Jake Runestad—an exploration of the sounds that one can produce with the human voice, according to Aamot.

The University Chorale, also under Aamot's leadership, will perform an arrangement by Henry T. Burleigh, in recognition of the 150year anniversary of his birth. The Chorale will also perform selections from Johannes Brahm's "Liebeslieder," accompanied by MSU Music Faculty member Julie Gosswiller and MSU music student Erin Equall.

Admission is $10 for adults and $5 for students and seniors. Tickets may be purchased at the door. Reynolds Recital Hall is located in Howard Hall, across the street from the MSU Duck Pond. •

Laurie Lewis & Tom Rozum are Pickin' in the Park

The Sacramento News called her "as fine a singer as anyone on the acoustic music circuit, anywhere in the world." Billboard praised her ability to "successfully walk the high wire above esoteric country, combining elements of bluegrass and pure country to form her own seamless mix." Sing Out! magazine recently stated, "It's not too much of a stretch to suggest that if the 'Americana' format wasn't invented for her, it should have been." And once, the late great American folk music icon, Utah Phillips, boiled it down even further, asserting, "Whatever country music is supposed to be, she's at the center of it."

Excitement builds in the Bozeman music community as the word spreads that the next Bozeman Folklore Society concert, in coordination with the Pickin' in the Park Series at the Story Mansion, is indeed an appearance on Sunday, October 16th of singer, songwriter, fiddler, teacher, and producer Laurie Lewis, and her long time musical partner, Tom Rozum.

The doors will open at 7pm, with the music set to commence at 7:30pm. The Story Mansion is located at 811 South Willson Avenue in Bozeman. Admission to the Laurie Lewis & Tom Rozum concert will sell at the door for $25. Advance ticket purchases are available for who will take to the Strand Theatre stage at 7pm, and Montana Music Hall-of-Fame inductee Rob Quist & Great Northern featuring Rob's son Guthrie Quist who will play at the Strand Theatre at 9pm. At 8pm, Red Ants Pants will unveil its newest product line during a high-energy fashion show!

Doors at the Strand Theatre open at 6pm. Space is limited and is first come, first served. The live events are free and open to the public as a thank you for ten years of business from Red Ants Pants. Red Ants Pants will open its doors at 10am, offering hot cider and goodies to guests along with a host of instore specials and sales.

The celebration will come on the heels of an official ribbon-cutting ceremony scheduled for 3pm on October 15th at the Meagher County Courthouse. The ribboncutting will commemorate the new Main Street road construction, sidewalks, and carriage lights dramatically revitalizing downtown White Sulphur Springs. • gory in the 2016 International Bluegrass Music Association (IBMA) awards competition.

When touring without the entire Right Hands, Lewis & Rozum do a number of shows as a duo, perfectly balancing each other's voices. Tom's sometimes-quirky and always deeply musical mandolin playing provides the ideal counterpoint to Laurie's original compositions and her fiddle and guitar mastery.

The renowned violinist, Darol Anger, had a few things to say about his contemporary, Laurie Lewis. "It's possible to be a strong female presence in the Bluegrass music world, but you have to be really strong," he said. "Laurie is one of the greatest Bluegrass artists-woman or manbecause of her consistency over decades, the depth and width of her subject matter, her commitment to the Bluegrass form, and her technical command. Oh yes, and her strength. Laurie's strength manifests in many ways. [Among them], her commanding presence on stage combined with an emotional vulnerability, the truths in her lyrics, her physical voice which transcends gender, [and] her strong commitment to causes and issues in which she deeply believes-which all resonate with a respect for the land, the natural world, and human mercy and justice.' In one of the many reviews in praise of Laurie Lewis & The Right Hands' latest IBMA nominated album, The Hazel & Alice Sessions, a reviewer stated, "Laurie Lewis is both a master and preserver of the bluegrass form, and her latest project, The Hazel & Alice Sessions, pays loving tribute to the songs of her musical forbears and fellow trailblazers, Hazel Dickens and Alice Gerrard. Lewis shared stages with both women during their careers (and produced Gerrard's 2013 effort, Bittersweet). This album demonstrates once again Lewis' reverence and commitment to the bluegrass tradition in which she's a large part.' The Bozeman Folklore Society (BFS) concert series is unique in our area, presenting entertainment and dance options since 1991. BFS is an all volunteer, non-profit organization dedicated to promoting, preserving, enjoying and sharing the music, dance, arts, crafts, and skills of traditional cultures. The BFS is an associate group of the Country Dance and Song Society (CDSS). You are invited to join and become involved with the effort to continue to present live music and promote dancing in our community. Gypsy jazz group set for Sola Café shows

Montana Manouche began in 2012. Ray, Nancy, and Dave started jamming on gypsy jazz tunes and decided to do some gigs. Bassist Jerry joined shortly thereafter. They often add vocalist Ann, who got on board in April 2013. The group does a few original tunes, but their repertoire largely focuses on those recorded by Django Reinhardt, Stephane Grappelli, and the Hot Club of France. This music was very popular in the 1930s, and has enjoyed a worldwide resurgence in recent years. They've performed at concerts, weddings, private functions, fundraisers, restaurants and coffee houses.

Following its outdoor concert in July 2014, the Bozeman Public Library Foundation said, "We had a fantastic turnout for Montana Manouche outside on the lawn at the Library on a lovely summer evening. And it's no wonder-their music is enjoyable for all ages with its feel good, toe-tapping, sophisticated, yet fun for all, sound! They are a pleasure to watch and Ann Dickensheets is a pleasure to hear!"

Local resident Gary Gannon said, "My wife and I organized a French-themed summer party and invited lots of good friends. We had heard Montana Manouche play in town and invited them to play for our party. This was a great move. The music was spectacular and provided a fantastic background to the event. All our guests were very impressed and pleasantly entertained with their wonderful music. This is a great group that would make Django Reinhardt proud. We are lucky to have such a great group here in Montana."

Sinfonia Concertante up next for Bozeman Symphony

The Bozeman Symphony presents performances of Sinfonia Concertante on Saturday and Sunday, October 29th and 30th at Willson Auditorium in downtown Bozeman, featuring the music of composers Miklós Rózsa and Antonín Dvorák.

The golden age of Hollywood produced not only epic movies, but also epic movie scores, and gave classically trained European composers a niche in the "New World." Having won multiple Academy Awards, for such films as Ben-Hur, Miklós Rózsa was also a highly respected and sought-after composer of music for the concert hall. His Sinfonia Concertante, was written for two of history's most famous soloists—Jascha Heifetz and Gregor Piatigorsky. For this performance, Bozeman Symphony is pleased to welcome Dallas Symphony members Jolyon Pegis and Maria Schleuning.

Rounding out the program is the music of Antonín Dvorák. His upbeat "Festive Overture" opens the concert, and what has been dubbed both his "Pastoral," and his greatest Symphony will conclude a program that will leave everyone wanting more. Simply gorgeous! Performances will be held Saturday, October 29th at 7:30pm and Sunday, October 30th at 2:30pm at Willson Auditorium.

These performances would not be possible without strong community support and sponsorship. This concert weekend is sponsored by The Art Family: Mike, Eve, Andy, and Jackie for Saturday's performance and Northwest Farm Credit Services for Sunday's performance. Purchase a season subscription today and save up to 35%—new subscriber discounts available. Individual tickets are available for purchase online at www.bozemansymphony.org/ or by calling (406) 585-9774. Adult ticket prices range from $27-$67. Student discounts are available. The Bozeman Chord Rustlers Barbershop Chorus are set for a guest evening at the Bozeman Public Library, Tuesday, October 18th from 7–9pm. If you can sing in the shower, with the car radio, or in church, you can sing Barbershop! Come join in for a night of singing, fellowship, and fun!

What is a chord Rustler? He's a fellow who: loves to sing...enjoys guys he wouldn't know from a bale of hay...likes four-part harmony sung a cappella...is somewhere between 14 and 94...and doesn't care about social status. Join the Chord Rustlers in singing four-part harmony on Tuesday evenings at 7pm downstairs at the Bozeman Catholic Community Center, located at 210 S. Grand Ave. in Bozeman. The Bozeman Chord Rustlers are an extraordinary group of men of many different ages who gather together in celebration of the truly American art form of barbershop music. 11th & Grant returns with Wylie & The Wild West 11th & Grant with Eric Funk will premiere its 12th season on MontanaPBS, featuring Conrad, MT based "Wylie & The Wild West" on Thursday, November 17th at 7pm. Horseman, singer, songwriter, and world famous Yahoo!® yodeler Wylie Gustafson brings his Big Sky spirit straight from the empty sprawl of northern Montana to the stage of 11th & Grant.

Wylie & The Wild West showcase their unique rural perspective and the essence of the 4th generation Montana rancher. Wylie is a real life cowboy on northern Montana's Hi-Line where he makes his home and finds inspiration for his art. With over twenty albums to his credit, he's been delighting audiences around the world with his original music, which includes elements of Cowboy, Traditional Country, Western Swing, Folk and Yodeling.

Since 1989, the Wylie & the Wild West has become internationally known for their captivating presentation of original and traditional music of America and its colorful West. The group got its start on Ronnie Mack's Barn Dance at the Palomino Club in North Hollywood, California, developing their sound alongside artists such as Dale Watson, Lucinda Williams, Dwight Yoakum, Rosie Flores, and Dave Alvin.

Their resume includes over 50 appearances on the Grand Ole Opry, along with other notable venues including the National Folk Festival, the Library of Congress, the Kennedy Center, Lincoln Center, The Los Angeles Performing Arts Center, the Bumbershoot Festival, the Stagecoach Festival, Merlefest, the National Cowboy Gathering, and "A Prairie Home Companion" with Garrison Keillor. Add to that a performance on Late Night with Conan O'Brien.

Wylie & The Wild West features lead singer and guitarist Wylie Gustafson, Clayton Parsons on guitar, Greg Campbell on bass, and Tim Lashley on drums. Despite his successful career as one of America's quarter horse ranch near Conrad, Montana. It grounds him and is the backbone of his art.

11th & Grant with Eric Funk is the premiere outlet for music performance in Montana, seeking out the state's most acclaimed, accomplished, and pioneering talent. The seven-time Emmy winning performance series also devotes significant time to each artist's personal story, insights into their music and their approach to life, ultimately providing a deeper experience than a seat at a concert. Accomplished composer and musician Eric Funk serves as host and artistic director, hand selecting each performer from communities around the state to form a diverse series featuring genres from jazz to classical, country to zydeco, and rock to fusion. 11th & Grant with

Ben Folds brings mastery of piano to the Wilma

The Wilma & Trail 103.3 of Missoula are very proud to present Ben Folds: And A Piano live in concert at The Wilma on Sunday, October 30th at 8pm. Solo at his grand piano and anchored as always by songs-classic and current-this show is about music, storytelling, audience interaction, and improvisation with a stage full of instruments. Advance tickets ranging $29.50-$34.50 are available now at www.thewilma.com/, by phone at (877) 987-6487, or at the Top Hat Lounge. Reserved premium balcony seating, reserved standard balcony seating, and general admission standing room only floor tickets are available. A very limited number of VIP packages are also available. Doors at 7pm. Ben Folds is widely regarded as one of the major music influencers of our generation. He's spent over a decade sharing the stage with some of the world's greatest symphony orchestras-from Sydney, Australia to the Kennedy Center, performing his pop hits and his critically acclaimed concerto for Piano and Orchestra. For five seasons he was a judge on the popular NBC series "The Sing Off," which catapulted the art of a cappella into the national spotlight, and helped launch the careers of numerous a cappella groups. Throughout his career, Folds has created an enormous body of genre-bending musical art that includes pop albums as the front man for Ben Folds Five, multiple solo rock albums, as well as unique collaborative records with artists from Sara Bareilles and Regina Spektor, to Weird Al and William Shatner. His most recent album is a blend of pop and classical original works, in part recorded with the revered classical sextet yMusic that soared to #1 on both the Billboard classical and classical crossover charts.

Beginning this Fall, Folds will be back to pound pianos again with cross country solo touring reminiscent of his earliest solo tours, where he defied skeptics by delivering a high energy rock performance using the intimacy of just a piano.

In addition to his self-described ve of performing and mal music "for humans," Folds is also an avid photographer, and is a member of the distinguished Sony Artisans of Imagery. Folds is also an advocate for music education and music therapy as a member of Artist Committee of the Americans For The Arts, and he serves as a member of the Board of Directors of the Nashville Symphony. The Wilma is located in downtown Missoula at 31 South Higgins Avenue. For a complete schedule of upcoming acts and to purchase tickets, visit www.thewilma.com/. The Interview

Local quartet celebrates bluegrass with festival of its own, 10 years running

Bluegrass has long called Southwest Montana (a) home, its pool of local musicians fueled by fellow enthusiasts who keep the tradition alive and thriving. One such group of devotees has been around long enough to watch traditional bluegrass gain listeners, but also evolve into subgenres that give the erstwhile conventions the fresh spin they deserve.

The Bridger Creek Boys have been an acoustic, Bozeman-based bluegrass band for the last eleven years, playing over 1400 shows regionally. Steeped in the old-time bluegrass tradition, the group pushes the genre with its brand of "newgrass." The guys mix originals with notable and sometimes obscure covers of traditional bluegrass material (Bill Monroe, Dock Boggs) and more contemporary artists (Grateful Dead, Steve Earle, The Band). The band was a finalist in the 2007 Telluride New Band Competition. They also host the annual Bozeman Bluegrass Festivals. The Bridger Creek Boys is comprised of Matt Broughton (fiddle, mandolin), Jim Dungan (guitar), Scott Stebbins (bass), and Andrew Schauer (banjo). The lineup features an incredible energy and outstanding level of playing.

In anticipation of the upcoming 10th Annual Bozeman Bluegrass Festival, The Rolling Zone was able to sit down with fiddle and mandolinist Matt Broughton to talk recording versus performing, the symbiosis of community and its music, and just what "newgrass" is.

RZ: Your sound is described as a blend of old-time bluegrass and "newgrass." How would you describe the latter to someone who might not be familiar?

MB: My take on newgrass is that it's the same instrumentation as the traditional bluegrass genre, but instead of sticking with the repertoire developed over the last 80 or 90 years, it embarks in a new direction. Kind of creating your own sound. Instead of embodying the previous bands, you try to make your own thing. It's just been a descriptor of this branch of American music. It's not rock, it's not jazz, it's not country, and it's not bluegrass—it's something new [using] bluegrass instruments. RZ: Is that achieved by using the instruments in a new way? MB: It's not really as much using the instruments in a new way, it's kind of like learning a new dance move. You're still dancing, and you're still wearing the same shoes. You're still doing the same thing, but you're moving differently. Newgrass is kind of this umbrella that is used to describe something that's not the way it was. It's bluegrass, but we're not on the East Coast of the U.S.—

of music. [When] I discovered it as an adult, I thought, "Well I know how to play the violin. How come my violin's never sounded like that?" I was in my twenties when I was first introduced to the mandolin, the other instrument I play [alongside the fiddle]. When I found out there was this instrument called 'the mandolin,' I was both excited because it was something new I got to experithere's nobody there, music doesn't come from the same place in that experience. It's not as spontaneous or as casual. It becomes super critical when you're recording, you hear every mistake you make. When you're performing live, it's just part of the soup. It fits even when it's a little less polished. It still works as a live performance art.

RZ: Can you compare your experilive version of the Bridger Creek Boys?

MB: We play at Red Tractor Pizza every Thursday from 7-9pm. Having a weekly repeater gig [has] been part of the lifeblood of the band. That's something that's pretty rare in the musical world and has been invaluable to the band. It's kept our momentum going, it's forced us to work constantly on our craft, ence, and I was kind of angry at my teachers who had taught me music my whole childhood [and] never said, "why don't you try this? This is the cousin of the violin." It's tuned the same, it uses the same fingering structure for your left hand. I used to get yelled at by my teachers for holding and playing my violin like the ukulele. When I started playing the mandolin, I was so in love with it. I think it was what my subconscious had been dreaming about-it's not a guitar, it's not a violin, it's kind of a mix of both of them.

RZ: Bluegrass, "newgrass," seems like an audience-driven performing art. What role does it play in the Bridger Creek Boys' relationship with the music?

MB: There's an incredible amount of feedback from the energy of the ence recording studio albums to performing that same material live? MB: They're very different experiences. Most of the time, when a studio album is recorded, the actual production of the music takes a long time to make a four-minute song, sometimes hours and days. The art of recording and engineering is this very nuanced, almost magical experience. I think it's very much like editing a written composition. When you speak extemporaneously, you don't get a chance to change anything you've done. When you're writing an article, or a novel, or a term paper, you get to revisit every detail of it and wordsmith it. RZ: I know something about that. MB: That's the same kind of thing that happens in recording. For instance, on our Benevolence Street album, at least one of those songs on the album is a single take, single performance recording. The whole band played every note, all at once, start to finish, with no edits. Some of the other songs took lots of takes and stitching together performances into one product. That experience of being in that laboratory of sound is way different than being a stage performer, where you've got one shot at that song for that performance. If it works great, you get warm, fuzzy feelings. If you make a mistake, it's kind of a stab in the gut. [But] the different versions of output of creative energy are valid creations-but they're not the same thing. RZ: Other than the upcoming festival, where can people come see the

[and] it's a great way for our fans to stay connected with us on a regular basis. It's very different than playing a big show because it's usually intimate [with] not a huge crowd, but a steady stream of music lovers we get to interact with.

RZ: You guys have been hosting the Bozeman Bluegrass Festival for what'll be 10 years now. How did that come together in the beginning? MB: After the band started, I addressed the notion that there was this big bluegrass scene in Bozeman a decade ago. There were a lot of bands that have now moved on to other things, or moved away, or changed, but at that point in time there were a lot of bands playing little shows and there was no big show for bluegrass in town. It was one of the aha moments, "If no one else is doing it, I need to do it." I took the steps to do it and took the risks and stuck with it, because the first four vears were not 'successful.' They were a lot of work for limited crowds. Part of that was tinkering with the formula of where and when and how to make it happen. It's always been at the Emerson, [a venue] pivotal to the arts community of Bozeman, [who've always been] agreeable to this kind of a function and we've just continued to go with it. This year being the tenth year, we're turning it from a one-day festival to a two-day festival. RZ: Congrats on 10 years! Can you give us a peek into this year's events? MB: One thing we're doing, a big change from previous festivals, is offering two distinctly different listening environments. Saturday will be in the ballroom-it's a dance party. There's going to be a light show, a loud sound system, and the revelry Bozeman has come to expect from the Bluegrass Festival. On Sunday, we're providing something more of a sit-down concert experience with a critical listening environment. It'll be in the Crawford Theater and more like the symphony concerts at the Willson. We want people to be able to focus on the artistry of what's going on, not just the revelry and energy.

RZ: Can you conjure a favorite memory from years prior?

MB: Some of the best aspects are watching both the young and old crowd appreciate what's going on. There's always a lot of kids at the show, [who] are usually overwhelmed with energy and can't stop dancing about. One of the other fantastic memories for me, over the past ten years, I've gotten to watch some of the children-both of my band mates' kids as well as some of the bluegrass fans' kids-grow up. Getting to watch them come back year after year to this event, they go from being little kids to young adults [who] get to experience this layer of culture in Bozeman. It's a cultural event that the musicians and myself have had the blessed opportunity to create.

RZ: Live music, especially during the winter months, is a huge draw for Bozemanites and others. Why should people perhaps unfamiliar with bluegrass make it a point to attend this festival?

MB: Having the two-day, two-flavor event, we're trying to give a broad section of the community a chance to experience this. If they're not bluegrass fans and don't know what bluegrass is, I highly recommend they come and take a taste. Bluegrass is connected to preamplified music. It existed right at the dawn of recording. It's using acoustic instruments without all of the sound modifications that go on with modern music. It attempts to put on a high energy rock 'n' roll show with string instruments. These instruments are old inventions and you're putting on this modern rock 'n' roll show for the dance party. Then, for the Sunday show, you're taking these instruments suited for parlor listening, a quiet house with a small group of friends, and because of modern microphones and speaker systems, we're able to fill a large auditorium with that detailed, organic human sound. This artistic energy that exists when you're around the mountains and these beautiful views and this landscape and this comfortable, low population lifestyle that we have, it's its own thing. People are going to be awed by the wide-range of sounds that are going to come out of these bands. There's going to be everything from simple melancholy and subdued songs to full-on rock 'n' roll covers. That's what modern acoustic bluegrass and newgrass has to offer. As an audience member, you don't know what's going to happen. Come see what happens for yourselves at the 10th Annual Bozeman Bluegrass Festival, to be held Saturday and Sunday, November 12th and 13th at the where bluegrass is from-and we don't all have southern accents, and we didn't grow up with the family tradition of learning all of the songs from your parents and grandparents. That's not how most of us in the west became bluegrass musicians. RZ: And how did you become a bluegrass musician?

MB: I wasn't raised on bluegrass, I was raised on standard American music and country music. When I was a kid, I was trained in classical music and didn't discover folk music and bluegrass until I was out of high school.

RZ: Did your roots change your outlook of the music?

MB: When I started playing folk music, I very much wanted to imitate the sounds of recordings I was hearing from the 30s and 40s. What intrigued me about bluegrass [were] these sounds I hadn't been exposed to as a child. I hadn't heard instruments make that sound, that flavor audience to the performer. That's a critical part of the addiction being a musician. When you play to a group of people that are enthusiastically consuming your music-by just listening, or dancing, or tapping their feet-it's this level of energy that is not really present in most other aspects of life. It's this human communication. We're singing, but a lot of the energy back and forth is nonverbal. It's smiles and nods and applause and foot tapping. It's what has kept me passionate about being a musician. Most people's jobs don't include applause. When you have a job that [does], it really makes it easy to work hard and be dedicated. And when we play for a passive audience, when people are casually disinterested, you can feel it. It's not as joyous an experience as it could be.

RZ: It kind of takes the air out of it. MB: It does. The for instance is. when you record in a studio and

Bozeman Bluegrass Festival announces '16 slate

The 10th Annual Bozeman Bluegrass Festival is set for Saturday and Sunday, November 12th and 13th at The Emerson Cultural Center. Seven sets over two days are sure to satisfy your hunger for hot picking and sweet singing. This year's festival will feature two different types of show. Saturday will be the hootenanny dance party in the Ballroom. Sunday's show will be in the Crawford Theater for a more refined concert atmosphere.

Saturday's show will run from 6–11:30pm. The Fresh Boys are the Phoenix that has risen from the ashes of Flatt Cheddar, picking hot numbers, and singing strong. Their fun style and musicianship will kick off the party in grand Bozeman style. The Dirt Farmers will hit the stage next with their big band sound. If you like Montana bluegrass, country, and roots music, you will love their "paisley-grass" style. The Dirt Farmers know how to dig down and enjoy life. Trout Steak Revival, a five piece Colorado bluegrass masterpiece, pushes the envemusic. TSR has earned a place in the mountain states bluegrass scene. winning the 2014 Telluride Bluegrass Festival Band Competition, placing in the 2012 Rockygrass Band Competition, and even winning an Emmy Award for a soundtrack with Rocky Mountain PBS. Laney Lou and The Bird Dogs will close out the first night with their raw and rich blues-driven sound. Drawing from old country, classic and modern rock, and old timey traditionals, LL&TBD have been stunning crowds with their infectious energy and hard stomping sound. They were proud to be recognized by The Red Ants Pants Festival as a top emerging act in 2014 and rocked the main stage in '15 like seasoned pros.

Laney Lou and The Bird Dogs

Sunday's show will run from 4-8pm. The Bridger Creek Boys are veterans of the Montana bluegrass scene. Founded in 2006, the BC Boys have been gigging hard since their start. Touring and playing from Whitefish to Denver, the band has had over 1400 shows. They have had weekly gigs in Bozeman for most of that time. The constant hard work results in a style that is confident, complex, and full of improvisation that will draw you in and get you shaking all over with bluegrass joy. You'll hear standards you know, rock covers reinvented, and thoughtful originals pondering the trials of life. The Growling Old Men have been performing and recording together since 1998.

The band presents a tight, yet relaxed set of original and traditional bluegrass songs, ballads, and tunes—informed equally by the music of the Appalachian hills and the western plains. They strive to contrast simplicity with complexity—all with good tone and a warm sense of humor. Trout Steak Revival returns to headline the theater stage and wow you with their intoxicating sound.

Tickets are available at Cactus Records. They run $20 for Saturday, $30 for Sunday, or $45 for both shows. Everyone will get a wristband, so you can come and go as you like. Heck, it's over 8 hours of bluegrass—you might have to take a break. In addition to the awesome music of this event, finely handcrafted Red Tractor Pizza, beer, and wine will be available both nights to refresh you and fuel your bluegrass experience. •

Catch folksy Charlie Parr at return Bozeman show

Get ready Bozeman! Northern MN folk and acoustic blues artist Charlie Parr has returned to the U.S. after a month of touring in the UK and Ireland, bringing his talents back to town with an Eagles Ballroom performance on Friday, October 28th with a little local help from Hillstomp beginning at 9pm. On tour in support of his latest effort Stumpjumper, Charlie is sure to put on an excellent performance as always! Tickets to this 21 and over show are $20 and are available in store and online at cactusrecords.net/ or at the door. Doors open at 8pm.

Part of the Duluth music scene (Alan Sparhawk and Low, Trampled by Turtles), Charlie Parr is an electrifying performer whose live shows are akin to a religious experience. Propelled by his incredible fingerpicking (12-string and a custom 4-chamber resonator guitar), searing vocals and percussive foot stomps, Charlie gets a huge sound. His songs are populated with a list of characters you wouldn't ordinarily meet: old ladies going to buy "the cheap wine" ("they ain't no better than the bums"), a woman with "an uncontrollable temper," and people getting left out getting of the American Dream. While his albums sound like vintage field recordings, his live shows are anything but retro. Deservedly, he's a cult hero.

For the recording of Stumpjumper, Charlie changed things up, traveling to rural North Carolina to record the album with fellow musician Phil Cook (Megafaun, Hiss Golden Messenger) for his first fullband release. Charlie's blistering picking and insightful lyrics have brought him a fervent following that crosses ages and genres. His recent Folk Alley session was just selected as an NPR Favorite Session and Stumpjumper was chosen as one of the best roots/folk albums of last summer by Rhapsody.

Portland junkbox blues duo Hillstomp is infamous for digging through the dumps and forgotten backwoods of American music, recycling traditional elements into a refreshing and distinctive brand of do-it-yourself hill country blues stomp. North Mississippi trance blues, a bit of Appalachia, and a dash of punkabilly come clanging and tumbling from assorted buckets, cans and BBQ lids, all drenched in rambunctious slide guitar. Somehow it works. Despite their homemade instruments and novel approach, Hillstomp is no novelty act. Their memorable live performances tap into a magic that cannot be rehearsed, converting outlaws and traditionalists alike from skeptics into preechers.

The BoZone interviewed Parr just this spring. Read it at www.bozone.com/commitmentmusic-parr-passion/. For more information, visit www.chickenjamwest.com/. •

Comstock Lode, Bluebelly Junction rock Legion downtown

The American Legion in downtown Bozeman will host Comstock Lode on Friday and Saturday, October 21st and 22nd at 9pm both evenings. Comstock Lode is Bozeman's best classic rock n' roll and country western band playing covers from the '60s through the '00s. Creedence, Eagles, GreenDay, Grand Funk, Elvis, Skynard, Beatles, Nirvana, Cash, George Strait, Garth Brooks, Vince Gill, Merle Haggard—just wait a couple minutes and you'll hear an old or new favorite. Country rockers Bluebelly Junction are set to follow, Friday and Saturday, October 28th and 29th at 9pm both evenings. Formed in early 2013, the band has been providing audiences with what they consider "rockabilly music" all over the state of Montana. The highenergy band tends to veer away from slow jams, other than the occasional tune. With an arsenal of originals and personalized covers, the guys will keep you on your feet until last call.

The Legion is open every day at

11am with daily drink specials, Mikey's BBQ, and traditional pub food. Happy Hour runs every day betwen 4 and 6pm, with FTG Hour between 10pm and 12am featuring $2 drafts. Lunch is served from 11am–2pm, Monday through Friday, with dinner from 5–9pm on Friday evenings. For more information about the American Legion, call (406) 586-8400 or visit their Facebook page. Come down and support your local American Legion! As alwyas, all profits go back into the community. •

Station at 9pm. Tickets to this 21+ show are $12 in advance in store and at cactusrecords.net/ and $15 at the door. Doors at 8pm. After spending the past decade touring with her band, Heartless Bastards, and pushing their unique brand of rock 'n' roll into new shapes over five acclaimed albums, Erika is taking some time off to explore new directions and work on her upcoming solo album. Heartless Bastards' have had a successful past few years and all are excited to explore new avenues for a bit while they take a much needed break. After achieving multi-format rock radio airplay across the land, high-profile placements on a wide range of highly rated network programming, rave reviews in the likes of Rolling Stone, NPR, Entertainment Weekly, and showstopping performances on such TV shows as NBC's "Friday Night Lights," CBS' "Late Show with David Letterman," TBS' "Conan," and ABC's "Jimmy Kimmel Live!," the timing could not feel more right for Erika to explore new avenues for her writing and creativity.

The Last Revel is set for a show with help from local Laney Lou & The Bird Dogs on Thursday, October 20th at the Filling Station at 9pm. Tickets to this 21+ show are $9 in advance in store and at cactusrecords.net/. Doors at 8pm. From the budding music scene of the Upper Midwest comes the cutting edge front porch Americana soundscapes of The Last Revel. This powerfully talented trio of multi-instrumentalists from Minneapolis, Minnesota so naturally blends the genres of folk, rockabilly, old time string-band and rock to create a sound that is as equally original as it is timeless. The Last Revel trio utilizes their multi-instrumental abilities to bring the acoustic guitar, upright bass, fiddle, 5-string banjo, harmonica, kick drum, and threepart vocal harmonies together to consistently deliver "Bombastic live performances," as well as delicate and haunting folk ballads. With their second, self-titled album released in May of 2015, The Last Revel further demonstrates their ability to create rich and delicately textured recorded material with a modern "tip of the hat" to the storied history of American folk music.

Dead Larry will bring his show to the Filling Station on Saturday, October 22nd at 10pm. Tickets to this 21+ show are just $7 at the door. Doors at 9pm. Dead Larry's powerful blend of high-energy rock, dance, and funk shakes the foundation of modern music. From rock driven sea shanties to pulsating dance beats. From Beatle-esque harmonies to spine chilling screams. From shake-yo-booty funk jams to orchestral themes of space and time travel. Dead Larry is one thing original. The band was formed in a basement in high school, and after nearly 10 years of writing, touring, and chasing the dream, Dead Larry

Check out Daniel Kosel, Kalyn Beasley at the Sac

The Sac Bar within the Sacajawea Hotel in Three Forks is a place to wine, dine, and enjoy some of Montana's best live music. Hotel guests, locals, and people from all around are welcome head out and enjoy everything the Sac has to offer. Here's a look at some of the upcoming late October music!

G.T. Hurley will return to the Sac on Saturday, October 15th. G.T. would be best described as a blend of Waylon Jennings and Billy Joe Shaver on the Country side, with a seasoning of Tex Ritter and Wylie Gustafson (Wylie & the Wild West) on the Western music side. As such, G.T. Hurley says his music is "Outlaw Western Music." He goes on to explain that his songs have "elements of cowboy, blues and Southern rock that combine to form outlaw Western.' His musical taste comes from folks like Waylon Jennings, Marty Robbins, Gordon Lightfoot and Dave Stamey. G.T. writes about the cowboy way of life which includes the land and horses. His favorite saying is "Life is too short to ride an ugly horse." G.T. also likes to write about real people and includes some ballads and has some fun with a little rock thrown in along with Bob Wills

Western swing for measure. He "writes songs about the life he's lived, and what he feels and observes ('the taste of gunpowder, the smell of horse sweat and the damp dark of the hard-rock mine'). G.T. is a 20 year career US Marine Patriot, former Ranch Hand, Hard Rock Miner and today, a Quarter Horse Breeder. While working as a miner, he was in a serious accident and almost bled out. As such, he has a better appreciation of life and the plans of his Creator. "God first, formily accound then the music"."

family second, then the music." Daniel Kosel & Acoustic Waterfall are set for Friday, October 21st. The group became a trio in 2016 to bring quality vocals, guitar, and bass together as a dance band with professional capabilities. The trio founder, Daniel Kosel is a gifted vocalist and guitarist, while lead guitarist Wells Reitz is a technically blessed musician with awesome versatility and depth. Bassist Travis Burdick is a studio quality musician who plays multiple instruments including mandolin, guitar, and bass. This uniquely talented band specializes in classic country, blues, and crossover music guaranteed to bring a big sound to their performance.

Sugar Daddies

will return to the Sac on Saturday, October 22nd. This Montanabased trio was founded in early 2012 and consists of Richard Riesser on guitar and vocals, Oscar Dominguez on keyboards, bass and vocals, and Ron Craighead on drums and vocals. Between the three, there is a vast amount of experience, professionalism and talent with its basis in Nashville, New York, Las Vegas and San Francisco. Since its inception, the band has been successfully performing in various venues throughout Southwestern Montana. The main attribute for this success lies in the bands ability to be as versatile as it possibly can, thus enabling it to adjust their set list at any given time to adapt to any particular venue. While the gist of their material is popular rock and roll, country, oldies, R&B and blues, they also have an extensive arsenal of original songs, all of which are palatable, as well as an array of lesser-known but still great songs by both obscure and well-known artists/songwriters. Their main focus is variety, and they half-jokingly have a motto of "No request left behind."

Sunrise Karaoke will get you in the mood to shut up and sing on Friday, October 28th. Come sing your heart out and maybe even do the Cupid Shuffle between songs. Liquid confidence available upon request.

will close out the month with music on Saturday, October 29th. Kalvn is a talented Wyoming-based singer/songwriter who recently returned from Austin to his Northern Rockies roots to pursue a solo career. He plays an acoustic show featuring Americana and Texas country, and also shares many of his original songs. Kalyn was previously with the Bozeman based Bad Intentions band as frontman and bass guitarist.

The Sac has BINGO! every Monday evening beginning at 7pm. Come try your luck for cash prizes. Must be 18+ to play.

ALL Sac Bar music begins at 9pm unless otherwise noted. The Sacajawea Hotel is located at 5 N. Main in Three Forks. For more information about these events, visit www.sacajaweahotel.com/ or call (406) 285-6515. •

Drink Me Pretty will entertain with live music on Friday, October 21st. The Bozeman-based band is a dedicated unit that serves up a dirty cocktail of Blues Boogie Rock and Roll. Members include Sadie Locken on rhythm guitar and vocals, Isaac Carroll on lead guitar, Ben Dufendach on box drum, and Austin Rehyer ticklin' strings on the fiddle. Come see the band that plays it quick and gritty—no chaser.

Todd F. Green Band will play Saturday, October 22nd. Green, originally from Michigan, has lived in the area for more than thrity years. He is known for his acoustic light rock musical style and passion for vinyl records. When Green is not performing, the self-proclaimed "Vinyl Junkie" sells high end audio equiptment out of his shop TTVJ Audio in his home of Three Forks.

Drink Me Pretty

Cabin Fever will take the stage, Friday, October 28th. From Manhattan, the band plays a combination of original music, 70s rock, and a wide variety of dance tunes from Dwight-style country to Pink Floyd. This 5-piece-plus band showcases strong vocal harmonies and a wide variety of instrumentals. The members are Lonny Walker on rhythm guitar and lead vocals, Steve Loessberg on lead guitar and vocals, Larry Greenbaum on bass, lead guitar, and vocals, Josh Fike on drums and vocals, Jon Gerhts on bass guitar, Ross Barrett with percussion, and Lane Quandt on harmonica and vocals.

ALL music starts at 7pm. Located in downtown Belgrade at 27 West Main, Desert Rose is where food is still the real deal. Now open Tuesday–Saturday from 11am–9pm. For more information about these performances, the menu, or catering services, visit www.desertrosecatering.us/ or call (406) 924-2085.

Kostas & more bring live tunes to the Kountry Korner Cafe

Everyone's driven by the Kountry Korner Café in Four Corners. The legendary KKC also features live music throughout the month to go with your delicious meal. Here's a look at upcoming event dates.

Aaron Howard will perform his expertly-crafted folk rock on Sunday, October 16th at 5:30pm. Howard exudes the heart of a seventies troubadour and sings with the voice of a powerhouse arena rocker. His influences span five decades and cross nearly every genre line, featuring something for everyone to enjoy.

Renowned singer-songwriter Kostas will return to the Café on Sunday, October 23rd at 6pm. The Greek-born American country music songwriter has penned numerous hits for Dwight Yoakam, Patty Loveless, George Strait, and The Dixie Chicks, among many other artists. Whether playing his own compositions or covers, Kostas' relaxed manner and soulful styling will leave you mellow and uplifted.

Wade Montgomery will take the stage on Sunday, October 30th at 5:30pm. Wade's music—part country and part folk—is permeated with honesty and candidly speaks to the American experience with the directness that only comes from a songwriter who has lived, first-hand, everything he writes, including his life growing up on the reservation. Get ready for a great evening of original music and lots of fun!

Local pianist Bob Britten will bring his talents to the Kountry Korner on Saturdays, October 15th, 22nd, and 29th at 5:30pm each evening. Britten studied piano and guitar as a youth growing up in New Jersey, but it was the guitar that brought him to Montana. He studied classical guitar and attended Christopher Parkening's master classes at Montana State University in 1981 and 1982. He played guitar and piano in various bands in Billings including the Gentlemen of Jazz and solo piano nightly at the Cellar 301 for several years.

Rich Mayo performs every Tuesday in October at 6pm. Upcoming dates include the 18th, 25th, and November 1st. A multiinstrumentalist, Mayo plays the guitar, harp and vocals. He plays an Americana mix you're sure to enjoy, and his wife, Tanna, adds a flute and lovely female voice.

Claudia Williams of Montana Rose plays solo sets on Fridays at 5:30pm throughout October. Upcoming dates include the 21st and 28th. Williams isn't just a singer—she's a sorceress, creating phrasing and emphasis for each song she writes. Her solo set will include Americana and folk music.

For more information about upcoming events, call (406) 586-2281 or visit www.kountrykornermontana.com/. •

Paige & The People's Band play Eagles' Halloween

Paige & The People's Band are set to play a FREE Halloween Party at the Eagles Bar in downtown Bozeman, Saturday, October 29th beginning at 9:30pm. Come for some soul, rock, and funk music that'll keep the dance floor poppin' and the tails shakin'! Roll on by for this fantastic for this fantastic spooky soirée! There are those who have said "Who's that?" of Paige & The People's Band, not to mention, "Never heard of 'em," and

"Is that the band that opened for Phox that one time?" Well yes it is, and the reason you've never heard of them could be because you're a troglodyte and never hear about anyone until they are already so popular Madonna has tried to forcibly make-out with them at an awards show. Or, more likely, it's because they are a brand new band that started hitting the stage in 2015! However, members of Paige and The People's Band have been, charming, captivating and blowing the collective minds of audiences throughout the U.S. and Europe for many years, sharing the stage with such musical legends as BB King, John Hiatt, Willie Nelson, The Doobie Brothers, Lyle Lovett, Pat Benatar, Kenny Loggins–and that's enough name dropping.

Paige and The People's Band choose to incorporate several styles and genres into their performances. Playing an assortment of funk, soul, rhythm and blues, jazz, folk, and pop music from some of the best known and least known artists. These include Aretha Franklin, Sia, Earth Wind and Fire, Lake Street Dive and some lesser known acts such as, Snarky Puppy, Rubblebucket, Zaz, Quantic Soul Orchestra, and of course their own original works. Their high energy, mixed with professionalism, dedication to entertainment, maintaining musical excellence and technical skill will surely make them a band to remember and definitely not to miss! •

Outdoorsy sports films light up Ellen Theatre screen

The historic Ellen Theatre in downtown Bozeman is bringing the outdoors in with a number of upcoming film screenings. Come check out stories and visuals of some of the area's favorite recreational activities on the big screen—and stay warm in the process!

Sponsored by Bozeman Running Co., the Seattle-based Trail Running Film Festival Tour is set to make a stop at the Ellen, Thursday, October 20th beginning at 7pm. This will be an evening of inspiring and exciting documentary-style films showcasing the beauty, grit, and adventure of trail running. A great selection of the best films from the 3-day Seattle festival will light up the Ellen screen. Learn more at www.trailfilmfest.com/.

Warren Miller's 67th snowsports film "Here, There & Everywhere" is set for three screenings over two evenings at the Ellen, Friday, October 21st at 8pm, and Saturday the 22nd at 6pm and 9pm. It's been 67 years since ski-film pioneer Warren Miller picked up a camera to capture the wonder, the adventure, the humor, and the beauty that is skiing. Since that time, Warren Miller film crews have traveled the globe—from storied slopes to hidden, snow-covered corners—to celebrate all things snowsports. Their quest has taken powder-hungry filmgoers, well, Here, There & Everywhere—and this year continues that legacy.

In this 67th annual Warren Miller film, take a freeski adventure with industry veterans Ingrid Backstrom and Wendy Fisher in Crested Butte, tour Eastern Greenland by dog sled with Seth Wescott and Rob Kingwill, and follow Jess McMillan and Grete Eliassen on a Swiss holiday aboard the Glacier Express. Explore the backcountry of Western Montana's Glacier Country with Tyler Ceccanti, Collin Collins, and Keith Curtis and catch a powder day with Kaylin Richardson, Matt

Elliott, Marcus Caston, and the Kicking Horse ski patrol in British Columbia.

BOBCATS STILL IN SEARCH an 0-3 start to conference play in the 2016 season.

By Danny Waldo

What many hoped was an anomaly last season after the 'Cats limped through a 5-6 campaign is starting to look more like a pattern, as Montana State has limped to

Just Brew & WINE MAKING SUPPLIES ble git 1251 N. Rouse • 551-2240

In a bit of unfamiliarity for Bobcat fans used to watching explosive offenses run up and down the field turf of Bobcat Stadium, an inept offense is the biggest culprit for MSU's latest woes. A unit that was the marvel of the league last season behind record-setting quarterback Dakota Prukop has been but a shell of its former self, with many explosive weapons remaining largely unused in new offensive coordinator Courtney Messingham's conservative approach this year. Some of the blame for the uninspiring play-calling can be put squarely on the personnel on the field, namely at the quarterback position, where the 'Cats have been spoiled for the better part of the past decade, but have struggled with mightily > this year. Former four-star recruit Tyler Bruggman was touted as the answer to the loss of Prukop, who transferred to Oregon last winter, but he has been ineffective for most of the season, struggling with accuracy and an ability to move the offense on a consistent basis after a strong start at Idaho to start the year. Enter true freshman, Chris Murray, who electrified the Bobcat faithful with a 187 yard, three touchdown rushing performance versus Sacramento State, but he too has been unable to keep the Bobcat offense on the field due to an inability to make consistent throws, although he was not helped out by a pair of veteran tight ends who dropped two sure touchdowns that would have sealed at Bobcat victory over the Hornets Another less-than-stellar performance by both signal callers versus NAU leaves the Bobcats' offense in a perilous position moving forward, leaving many to wonder what the future of the position will look like heading into the final five weeks of the season.

For statistical comparison, the 2015 Bobcat offense was the top-scoring unit in the Big Sky, putting up 41.9 points per game. The 2016 unit currently is ranked 9th in the league, averaging just 27.7 points per game. Last season, MSU put up over 500 yards of offense per outing, again tops in the league, whereas this season, MSU ranks 11th in total offense, gaining just 363 yards per contest. But perhaps the most telling statistic is the fact that MSU ranks dead last in pass efficiency, and is 10th in third-down conversion rate, after finishing second in pass efficiency and third in third-down conversions one season ago. Another humbling statistic is the fact that not a single Bobcat offensive player appears in the Top 10 for any statistical category in the Big Sky Conference, from rushing yards to total offense a game, a far cry from the past.

The Bobcats' offense has been unable to sustain or produce enough scoring drives, particularly late in games, and that has directly resulted in all four of their losses this season. But the issue was never more apparent than in the Sac State game, a contest Montana State controlled throughout, and still led 38-21 heading into the fourth quarter. With a quarterback unable to connect on simple yard and clockchewing routes, Sacramento State was able to focus their attention on the 'Cats run game, stuffing MSU on each of the their fourth quarter possessions, pitching a shutout over the final 15 minutes after giving up 38 in the first three quarters, and enabling an offense to attack Montana State's tired defense to pull the upset.

On the bright side for Bobcat fans, the performance on the other side of the ball has been a marked improvement from the past few years of defensive ineptitude. Whereas the conference statistical lists were filled with Bobcat skill players on the offensive side of the ball, things were quite the opposite for the 'Cats' defensive unit.

Montana State ranked at, or near the bottom of every major defensive statistic last season, but the tide has turned for MSU and new defensive coordinator Ty Gregorak. Coming into Week 7 of the season, Montana State has the No. 3 ranked overall defense, and is the top scoring defense in the conference, giving up just 20.3 points per game.

October 19th through November 19th, from 10am–4pm. Bridger Bowl's projected opening day for the 2016/17 season is December 9th!

The ski area is located on the east slope of the Bridger Mountain Range. With four large bowls within the boundaries, the ski area offers wide-open terrain with a variety of landscapes including long, wide-open slopes, glades, chutes, and gullies. The mountain lays out in a large funnel or "V" shape expanding from about 200 yards in width across the base area up to approximately two miles wide best matching their individually ability. Bridger Bowl's terrain difficulty rating (beginner to expert) is fairly easy to determine based on elevation. Generally speaking, the ski area offers first-time beginner slopes in the base area, novice terrain across the lower middle, wideopen intermediate runs in the center, advanced open bowl terrain in the upper third and, finally, expert terrain coming off the ridge top.

Bobcats still in search of first conference win

contined from 3D

By Danny Waldo

The Bobcats also lead the league in defensive pass efficiency, and are the No. 3 ranked passing defense overall. MSU sits in the middle of the pack for rushing defenses, giving up 163 yards a game on the ground. That is down from the 216 yards a game they surrendered a year ago.

A major point of emphasis for Gregorak and his defensive staff in the offseason was improving the turnover margin in the Bobcats favor. In 2015, MSU forced just 13 turnovers, with only three of those coming via interceptions. The 'Cats' overall turnover margin was -2.

The increased emphasis has reaped benefits for the Bobcat defense in 2016. Through six games, MSU has forced 16 turnovers, nine of them via interceptions, and they have a turnover margin of +4. In short, the defense has been doing its job to keep the Bobcats in games.

Many fans will point to the fact that MSU gave up over 500 yards of offense to a Sacramento State team that had yet to win a game in 2016, but they fail to realize that the Bobcat offense gained just 23 yards on 13 plays without a single first down in the entire fourth quarter of the contest. The defense was gassed, and Sacramento State made them pay for it.

Mac Bignell, the junior from Drummond, MT, has been all over the stat sheet for the Bobcats through the first six games. He currently ranks No. 12 in the league in total tackles with 52, is No. 6 in sacks with three, and leads the league in tackles for a loss with nine. On the back end of the 'Cats defense, Bryson McCabe has been a steady presence, ranking second in the league in passes defended with seven breakups and one interception, and senior John Walker is ranked second in the league with three interceptions. The opportunity for postseason play has already been lost for the 2016 season, but there is still much for the Bobcats to play for as they enter the most difficult stretch of their schedule over the final five weeks.

After hitting the road to take on a much-improved Weber State team on October 15th, the Bobcats face Eastern Washington (Oct. 22), Southern Utah (Nov. 5), UC Davis (Nov. 12), and the University of Montana (Nov. 19). Southern Utah is the defending Big Sky Conference champions, and has beaten MSU the past two times the teams have met, including a 34-23 beat down in Bozeman last season.

There are the two perennial powers in the Big Sky, EWU and UM. The Bobcats have not beaten Eastern since 2011, and they have only topped their rivals, the Grizzlies, once in the past five years as well. Needless to say, the 'Cats have a difficult stretch ahead of them to finish coach Jeff Choate's first season in Bozeman.

There will be better days ahead for MSU fans, but they may not come this season.

For a complete schedule of times and dates for upcoming Bobcat games, log on to www.msubobcats.com.

Dress up & "Run for Your Life" with benefit race

Suicide touches everyone, and sadly, Montana has one of the highest rates of suicide in the nation. Join in on October 29th the Saturday before Halloween for the 2nd annual "Run For Your Life," a 10k & 5k Run/Walk with additional Kids' Run to benefit the Help Center's work for suicide prevention and intervention in our community.

The Help Center is in charge of the regional suicide and crisis hotline 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. When you need help, the Help Center is there! Prizes will be given for race winners, as well as for best costumes (dogs included!). Halloween characters are likely to surprise runners along the 5k/10k routes. A FREE Tshirt is included in the race fee (for those registered by 10/20). In 2015, 470 people participated in the spooky fun event and the Help Center raised $15,000 for local suicide prevention and intervention. With your help, they can meet their 2016 goal of raising $40,000 to meet the increasing needs in our community. more about the Help Center.

The Help Center in Bozeman started as a 24 hour Crisis Hotline in 1971. To this day, staff and volunteers are available 24 hours a day, every day of the year, to assist individuals and families in sorting out problems, dealing with feelings, and making decisions.

The 24 hour Crisis Hotline and Referral Service is nationally accredited by Contact USA and the Alliance for Information and Referral Systems. As a member of the American Association of Suicidology, the Help Center is a part of the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline network (1-800-273-TALK). The Help Center is also a member of the Montana 211 coalition, which provides referrals for human services throughout the state. They accept calls from a variety of clientele with issues ranging from suicidality and depression/anxiety to relationship/family problems. Their extensive database of resource information allows for appropriate referrals to inquirers on the hotline. In addition, the Help Center provides Sexual Assault and Suicide Outreach, as well as follow up counseling and referral. •
