Yes, it is coming – just embrace it!

Jackson Hole-based Teton Gravity Research has been helping kick off winter in Bozeman for as long as the BoZone team can remember. Just about every snow-obsessed recreationist who has passed through the Gallatin Valley has enjoyed the experience of getting loud at the Emerson while waiting on the film to start. Over the last 15-plus years, the Bozeman venue has played host to a film screening and seasonal celebration on the heels of TGR’s world premiere, often with athletes on hand to help raise the hype factor. While TGR is most commonly associated with their home base in western Wyoming, the company has deep roots in the Treasure State, beginning with co-founder Todd Jones’ tenure at the University of Montana. Finding itself filming here often in the time since, TGR included a memorable segment highlighting the Crazy Mountains in last year’s production, Far Out. This year is no exception. The local premiere of new film Winterland comes to the Emerson on Friday, September 20th, with screenings at a family friendly 6:30pm and more carousing 9pm. In addition, TGR will bring their more intimate “WhiSKI Series” to town for the first time ever. Set for the night prior, Thursday, Sept. 19th, the event will be marked by a VIP screening of Winterland, along with an opportunity to get a closer glimpse into the TGR world. The evening will include a Q&A portion with the starring athletes and production team, a whiskey tasting featuring a selection from Park City-based High West Distillery, as well as gift bags for all attendees. The fun begins at 7pm. Plus, they’ll bring their new snowboard flick Roadless to the Emerson on November 8th. The film stars Travis Rice, Bryan Iguchi and Jeremy Jones. Additional information for each of these events, as well as advance tickets, can be found by visiting www.tetongravity.com/Bozeman. But wait, there’s more! TGR has partnered with the BoZone to give away a pair of tickets to the Winterland premiere event of choice – including the VIP WhiSKI gathering. Log on to the www.BoZone.com homepage to locate the giveaway. Note: Must be 21+ to attend the WhiSKI event. Here’s to an incredible season on the slopes! •

Have FUN Dancing fall courses begin Sept. 16th

Try something new this fall, put more fun in your life, AND learn to dance. Registration is now open for Have Fun Dancing classes. Basic Ballroom is a great fundamentals course. Or try out another Basic class that suits your fancy – Country, Swing or Tango. Courses meet different nights of the week and cost $63 per person. The studio also hosts regular social gatherings so students can practice what they’ve learned in class. New courses begin the week of September 16th. Check out www.havefundancing.com for complete course details and how to register.

Over the years, Lauren Coleman’s studio has taught hundreds of Bozemanites to dance, even people with two left feet! A friendly atmosphere and a beautiful facility with a floating double-sprung hardwood floor is kind to the legs and feet, making you want to dance all night long. Lauren has had many years of experience teaching and has ongoing training to ensure students with the best experience possible.

Dancing is a great way to meet people, acquire a useful social skill, and exercise. Feeling comfortable on the dance floor has many social and physical benefits – and it’s good for the soul! It’s fun for single people as well as couples.

Check out Have Fun Dancing’s Facebook page for upcoming event info, or email Lauren at lauren@havefundancing.com with questions. The Have Fun Dancing studio is located at 414 Bryant Street in Bozeman. •

Yellowstone Ballet holds Nutcracker auditions in Livingston

Auditions for Yellowstone Ballet Company’s 29th annual production of The Nutcracker take place on Saturday, September 8th at 9:15am. Dancers from any background and style age 9 through adult in Gallatin, Park, Madison or Broadwater counties may participate.

The Nutcracker performance will take place at 4pm on Dec. 21st at Bozeman’s Willson Auditorium. Rehearsals for students in Gallatin, Madison and Broadwater counties will take place in Bozeman. Rehearsals for students in Park County will take place in Livingston. YBC’s The Nutcracker is a collaboration with Raison D’etre Dance Project of Bozeman.

The Yellowstone Ballet studio is located at 109 South B Street in Livingston. For additional details, email yellowstoneballet@gmail.com or visit yellowstoneballet.info.

Yellowstone Ballet founder Kathleen Rakela received her teacher training at the Royal Academy of Dancing, London and obtained a credential in the Cecchetti Method with the Imperial Society of Teachers of Dancing. She is also a certified American Ballet Theatre Curriculum teacher through Level 5. Her students have received scholarships to prestigious schools in the United States and throughout the world, and have become professional dancers in Russia, Europe and the U.S.

For more information about Yellowstone Ballet and its course offerings, please visit the aforementioned website. •

Human impact on environment explored with Shakespearean Story Mill performance

Dr. Gretchen Minton, professor of English at Montana State University, has announced a free community performance of Timon of Anaconda will take place Saturday, September 7th, at “The Silos” at Story Mill in Bozeman. Adapted from Shakespeare’s Timon of Athens, the afternoon show begins at 3pm and is open to the public. Please bring your own chairs.

This outdoor performance uses site-specific classical drama as a way of addressing the challenges of human impact on our ecosystems. The performance venue – The Silos at Story Mill – was chosen because the site was formerly an industrial area that has been reclaimed as a space for public artistic projects.

Timon of Athens has become popular recently due to its topics of greed, friendship, loyalty, economic disaster, and environmental degradation. Minton is setting this 75-minute adaptation in 1960s-70s Butte, Montana. The play tells the story of a mining mogul who loses everything and is abandoned by his friends. He then attempts to retreat to the wilderness, only to find that there is no place that does not have the mark of human activity.

Under Minton’s direction, Timon of Anaconda stars Mark Kuntz, Tonya Andrews, Riley O’Toole, Keegan Grady, Lizzy Bennett, Aaron Schuerr, and Claire McGinty.

An additional performance of Timon of Anaconda follows on Sunday, Sept. 8th in Butte’s Foreman’s Park at Mountain Con Mine Yard at 3pm. Further details about these performances, Dr. Minton, and other upcoming events may be found by visiting www.gretchenminton.com. •

MBC announces Company, Nutcracker auditions

Montana Ballet Company (MBC), under the direction of Elizabeth DeFanti, has announced Junior and Senior Company auditions for its upcoming 36th Annual Performance Season, as well as open community auditions for its annual production of The Nutcracker, also returning for the thirty-sixth year. Set for Saturday, September 7th, Company auditions will take place from 10–11:30am. Nutcracker auditions for those 12 and up will also take place from 10–11:30am, followed by those for dancers ages 8 to 11 from 11:45am–12:45pm, and for dancers ages 6 and 7 from 1:45–2:30pm. All auditions will unfold at the MBC studios, located at 2304 N 7th Ave., Suite C3, in Bozeman.

Company auditions are for serious dancers ages 12 and above who have achieved a certain level of technical ability and have demonstrated a dedication to the art form. Dancers taken into the

from MBC’s production of The Little Mermaid

Company will have their own unique qualities that lend themselves to the repertoire of Montana Ballet. Company members will adhere to the rules and regulations established by Montana Ballet Company and will have the opportunity to perform in MBC’s productions and to participate in various outreach programs and events throughout the season.

The Nutcracker will be performed on Dec. 7th and 8th at Bozeman’s Willson Auditorium. MBC will collaborate with guest conductor

Lee Mills, the Bozeman Symphony, and world-renowned guest artists to create its much beloved Nutcracker, a true Bozeman original and treat for the entire family. All community dancers ages 6 and above are welcome to audition and take part in this treasured holiday tradition.

Auditions are open to the community. Pre-registration is required. Please contact Montana Ballet Company at (406) 582-8702 or info@montanaballet.org for more information.

The Montana Ballet Company has enriched Bozeman and the greater Gallatin Valley since its inception in 1984, bringing the fine art of live dance in collaboration with world renowned professional dancers, musicians, conductors, filmmakers, composers, and set designers to our community. Learn more at www.montanaballet.org. •

September Salons precede IOB’s annual Opera Run

Intermountain Opera Bozeman will host three special Salon Evenings ahead of its 2019-20 season. The free open house gatherings are set for Thursday to Saturday, September 19th–21st, from 5:30–8:30pm at Julia Martin’s historic house at 419 S Grand. The events will include art, refreshments, home tours and talks by Dr. Sharon Bechler (literature), Dr. Eric Funk (music), and Marshall Noice (art).

The salons are inspired by the Parisian salon of Gertrude Stein and Alice B. Toklas at 27 Rue de Fleurus in Paris, which was host to some of the greatest artists and intellectuals of the 1920s. Stein’s salon is the setting of IOB’s fall opera, Ricky Ian Gordon’s 27, with performances set for Oct. 11th and 13th at the Willson Auditorium.

Also on Saturday, September

21st, join IOB and runners from throughout the Gallatin Valley for the 9th Annual Opera Run – open for registration now! Enjoy one of the most beautiful fall trail routes in Bozeman while being serenaded by professional opera singers at different water stations.

Opera-inspired costumes are encouraged. This year’s theme is modern art, in celebration of IOB’s fall production of Ricky Ian Gordon’s 27. Winners will receive bejeweled viking hats, and all participants are entered to win great prizes! See if your running prowess can beat IOB’s singing prowess... or just leave inspired by great music and good exercise! The morning event will also include crafts and games for kids.

Race events include a 10k (serious, scrupulously measured) with a 9am start, 5k (less serious – walkers, strollers, dogs on leash welcome) following at 9:30am, as well as a kids’ run at 9:10am.

All races start and finish at Lindley Park Pavilion, located at 900 E Main. The 10k is $25 per participant, $20 for the 5k, and $5 for the kids’ race (plus fees). Log on to www.runsignup.com and search “Opera Bozeman Run” to register. Same-day registration and packet pick-up will be available in the Pavilion starting at 8am on the morning of the event. Note: Same-day registration increases by $5 for the 10k and 5k.

The mission of the Intermountain Opera Association of Bozeman, established in 1979, is to promote and share the joy of opera in Montana and providing affordable, high quality opera performances to audience members of all ages and to provide educational outreach to area schools and communities. # An adventure around the globe highlights PechaKucha’s Ellen return

After losing both parents in early 2018, Matt Brailsford and his then 8 and 12-year-old sons decided to take a leave of absence from work and school to hike and travel around the world. Their 4-month trip included 17,000-foot glaciers in Nepal, tea plantations in Sri Lanka, orangutans in Borneo, sailing pirate infested waters of the Sulu Sea, living local in the Philippines and finally a visit with grandma in Shanghai.

Their story highlights the next PechaKucha Night(s) at Downtown Bozeman’s Ellen Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, September 11th and 12th. The shows start at 6:40pm each night.

Spencer and Camden, the Miller Brothers, take family adventures in another direction. The aspiring engineer and filmmaker took off on a 3-month van trip across America after their parents’ separation and liked it so much that they now live side-by-side in their vans, working on a documentary about their travels.

John Bluefeather, a wilderness wanderer and photographer, will give PK audiences a wonderful glimpse into his world, including images of his month-long solo canoe trip into the wilderness of Atlan Lake, British Columbia. And, keeping with the adventure theme, Maury Irvine will tell his story of searching for dinosaurs and Genghis Khan with Jack Horner.

The Brailsford Boys

Also presenting both nights is historian and USAF veteran August Uhl, who will describe his efforts to preserve veterans’ stories through a magazine that is part graphic novel and part military history magazine. On a related theme, Lynn Kinnaman will talk about our vanishing personal history, why it matters and what we can do about it.

Other speakers include Cindy Christin on the history of Little Golden Books; Michael Fox on his 30-year battle with type 1 diabetes and the app he has developed to help people find the right diet for them; Dezri Rochin on “Not anonymous: Things I’ve learned since I got sober”; Collette Brooks-Hops, with her amusing, but serious “confessions of a wayward daughter”; and Lisa Downing on how to achieve more happiness in your life.

Raconteur, comedian, actor, director, radio producer and puppeteer Ryan Cassavaugh will emcee the September event, which is sponsored by longtime PK supporter American Bank.

PechaKucha (peh-chak-cha) offers anyone with a passion or a vision – designers, artists, inventors, architects, adventurers, entrepreneurs – an opportunity to share their ideas with the community during a social, fast-paced and friendly get together. There’s just one catch: presenters have only 20 slides x 20 seconds each, a total of 6 minutes, 40 seconds!

Presentations begin promptly at 6:40pm. Attendees are encouraged to come early and socialize. All seats are $9. Student tickets will be available for $5 at the door. Wine, beer, and concessions will be sold in the lobby beginning one hour prior to showtime. For ticketing and other inquiries, visit www.theellentheatre.com or call The Ellen box office at (406) 585-5885. •

Elk RiverBooks presents evening with acclaimed artist-authors Maira & Alex Kalman

Elk River Arts & Lectures will kick off its inaugural Visiting Writers program by hosting internationally acclaimed artists and authors

Maira and Alex Kalman for a week-long program that will include a public lecture at the Livingston Elks Club on Thursday, September 12th at 7pm. Advance tickets are a minimum donation of $5, and available from Elk River Books, located at 120 N Main in Livingston.

Maira Kalman, who was born in Tel Aviv and lives in New York City, has written and illustrated 28 adult and children’s books, and is a frequent contributor to The New Yorker. She has participated in a range of high-profile collaborations including Food Rules: An Eater’s Manual with Michael Pollan, and 13 Words with Lemony Snicket. She has illustrated Strunk and White’s classic Elements of Style, and is the co-creator, with John Hegnbotham, of a ballet based on her book, The Principles of Uncertainty. Her work has been exhibited all over the world, including at The Institute of Contemporary Art in Philadelphia, Nashville’s Frist Center for the Arts, and many others.

Her latest book is a stunning and engaging visual memoir produced in collaboration with her son, artist and designer Alex Kalman. Sara Berman’s Closet is a tribute to her mother – Alex’s grandmother – that “is filled with the Kalmans’ family photographs and correspondence, Maira Kalman’s iconic paintings, and a handwritten text that relates the story of a remarkable woman while celebrating her individuality, resilience, and self-discovery.”

Alex Kalman is a creative director, curator, and inventor who owns What Studio?, a New York-based gallery devoted to “curiosity, humanism, humor, optimism, and originality.” His work has been exhibited at The Museum of Modern Art, and the Victoria and Albert Museum, among others. He’s also the founder of Mmuseumm, a traveling installation that displays illuminating objects from around the world in very small spaces, including an elevator shaft in lower Manhattan. He recently recreated Sara Berman’s closet at

Elk River Books by Angie Froke

The Metropolitan Museum of Art.

In addition to their public lecture, the Kalmans will work with Livingston school children during their week in Park County.

Elk River Arts & Lectures is a nonprofit organization dedicated to providing educational, entertaining, and edifying opportunities for the people of southwest Montana in the form of readings, lectures, discussions, and workshops presented by national and regional authors and other artists. For more information, call (406) 333-2330 or visit www.elkriverarts.org. •

Last chance for beer & sketch comedy as Brewery Follies pour up final shows

A guaranteed laughing attack! The Brewery Follies are finishing up another summer season of belly laughs, celebrity impersonations, sketch comedy and plenty of music at Virginia City’s historic H. S. Gilbert Brewery. This hilarious comedy cabaret – accompanied by your favorite Montana microbrews and standard domestics – will leave your stomach muscles sore for days from laughing and guffawing.

The mission of the Brewery Follies is simple: to make you laugh while these crazy entertainers make fun of just about everything you can think of in today’s political and social landscape. However, you might want to find a sitter for the kids – with laughter and beer on tap, some of the Follies’ antics can be pretty irreverent. Of course, the nasty “four letter words” are left out, but the jokes might mean what “those” words mean. The Brewery Follies is rated well beyond PG-13!

“...a cabaret show wild enough for any old-time miner.” – Sunset

“If there’s a funnier or more polished show around, I haven’t seen it.” – Christine Meyers, Billings Gazette

“For a night of inspired madness, nonsense, foolishness and general absurdity, head to Virginia City and check out the Brewery Follies.”

– The Montana Standard

The Brewery Follies 2019 Season

runs through September 21st. Show times are 4pm and 8pm. Reservations are required by phone only. Call (800) 829-2969 ext. 3 to make yours!

This comedy show will keep you talking for days! Due to mature content, parental guidance is suggested. Learn more at www.breweryfollies.net. •

New multi-medium ‘Studio Kids’ art education series launches at Emerson

Learning and creativity isn’t exclusive to the classroom this school year. The Emerson Center for the Arts & Culture will present Studio Kids this fall, a well-rounded art education experience designed for 5 to 13-year-olds. The two-dimensional exploration series is broken into short sessions to allow flexibility and multiple mediums of interest to choose from. Enroll in one, two, or all four sessions!

Session I – Painting

Try a variety of paint mediums (oil, watercolor, acrylic), techniques, and subject matter. Class will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays, September 16th and 18th, 23rd and 25th, from 4–5:30pm.

Session II – Sculpture

Try a variety of sculptural mediums (plaster, wire, paper mache), techniques, and subject matter. Class will be held Mondays and Wednesdays, September 30th and October 2nd, 7th and 9th, from 4–5:30pm.

Session III – Drawing

Try a variety of drawing mediums (graphite, charcoal, pastel), techniques, and subject matter. Class will be held Mondays and Wednesdays, October 14th and 16th, 21st and 23rd, from 4–5:30pm.

Session IV – Printmaking

Try a variety of print techniques (linocut, woodblock, screen) and subject matter. Class will be held Mondays and Wednesdays, October 28th and 30th, November 4th and 6th, from 4–5:30pm.

Cost for each Studio Kids session is $75 for Emerson members and $85 for non-members. Registration includes supplies and instruction. To register, please visit www.theemerson.org/class-schedule where you can also find a complete art education course schedule for youth and adults.

Located at 111 S Grand Ave., the Emerson serves as a primary resource for the arts, arts education, and cultural activities in Southwest Montana. •

Creative Indigenous Collective showcases work with group exhibit

Old Main Gallery & Framing is pleased to feature the work of the Creative Indigenous Collective for a group exhibition, “Creative Indigenous Identity,” during the months of September and October. An opening reception will take place on Friday, September 13th in conjunction with the Downtown Art Walk from 6–8pm. An honor song will be performed by Shane Doyle. The event is free and open to the public.

The Creative Indigenous Collective is made up of seven Contemporary Indigenous artists from the region: Ben Pease, Gina Still Smoking, Holly Young, John Isaiah Pepion, Lauren Monroe, Louis Still Smoking and Robert Martinez.

“There are misconceptions. There are romantic ideals. There are miscommunications and there are stereotypes of what and who indigenous people are. Like the range of artistic styles, colors and sizes the answer to ‘What is Contemporary Indigenous Identity?’ Is not just one thing. It is a bunch of things, a mass, an assortment, a cluster, a multitude.

“Our past is shared, however each tribe is unique. Our Heritage is similar, but each is separate. Our tribes all lived on this continent, yet each had its own homeland. Our present is now but through each of our eyes looks slightly different. We grapple today’s issues through a lens that sees the past but points to our future.

“Through the use of paper, canvas, buckskin, with colored pencils, paint and beads, with imagery, symbols and fabric, the artists of the Creative Indigenous Collective show you our individual vision of what it means to be Indigenous in Contemporary Society.”

– Creative Indigenous Collective
Old Main Gallery & Framing is located at 129 E Main in Downtown Bozeman. Hours are Monday through Friday from 10am–5:30pm, Saturday from 10am–5pm, and Sunday from 11am–5pm.

Remaining art-filled foot tours take over downtown Bozeman, Livingston

The Downtown Bozeman Association, downtown art galleries and retailers, and the Emerson Center for the Arts & Culture will present this summer’s final Downtown Bozeman Art Walk on Friday, September 13th from 6–8pm.

Participating businesses and galleries generally feature artists’ openings and receptions during the event and often provide complimentary hors d’oeuvres and refreshments. While you stroll from place to place, you will also be able to enjoy live jazz and rock music played by young musicians from the area. You can find these artists, ensembles, and Soroptimist Park and the Emerson. Art Walk maps are available at

Rachel Rhoden’s “Enso Koi” Green Door Gallery Livingston

bands at rotating locations including First Security Bank, US Bank, www.downtownbozeman.org and participating businesses and galleries. The Art Walks are FREE, open to the public, and will go on rain or shine. These are smoke and vapor-free events. And mark your calendars for Dec. 13th when the special “Winter” Art Walk takes over Main.

Bozeman doesn’t get to have all the fun! Livingston Art Walks are part gallery tour and part social gathering. An eclectic array of locals, out-of-towners, and random art enthusiasts arrive in hordes to check out what’s hanging on the walls and who’s who. The final Livingston Art Walk of the season is set for Friday, September 27th from 5:30–8:30pm. Visit www.livingston-chamber.com for further information. •

CPR, First Security host Chamber’s early fall business mixers

Bozeman Area Chamber of Commerce will present Business Before Hours on Thursday, September 5th from 7:30–8:30am. CPR – Cell Phone Repair will host the event at its location, 200 S 23rd Ave., Ste. E2, in Bozeman. The local shop specializes in electronic device repair. Beyond smartphones, CPR technicians are able to find solutions for computers, laptops, game consoles, cameras, MP3 players and much more. This edition of Business Before Hours is included with Chamber membership and $50 for non-members.

On Wednesday, September 18th, a Business & Community Issues forum will discuss Quality Childcare, Workforce Housing & Reliable Transportation from 11am–1pm. Panelists will include representatives from Child Care Connections, the City of Bozeman’s Affordable Housing division, and HRDC. Come prepared to share opportunities and solutions! The conversation will take place at Residence Inn by Marriott, located at 6195 E Valley Center in Bozeman. This event is $20 for members and $105 for non-members.

The next Business Lunch Seminar Tax-Wise Investment & Retirement Plan Considerations will take place Wednesday, September 25th. The afternoon gathering will discuss: types of investment income; strategies for tax minimization and deferral in accumulation and distribution phases; retirement plan account types with pros and cons; and examples of certain tax-advantaged investment strategies. Justin Haring of H&R Block and Money Concepts will present. The event will be held from 11:30am–1pm at the Chamber Center in Bozeman. This luncheon is $20 for Chamber members and $105 for non-members.

The next Business After Hours is set for Thursday, September 26th. First Security Bank will host at its Downtown Bozeman location, found at 208 E Main, from 5:30–7:30pm. The locally owned community bank has grown to be the market leader, offering the most branch and ATM locations in the area. Serving Montanans since 1919, First Security is dedicated to providing exceptional customer service to its many members. This edition of Business After Hours is included with Chamber membership and $50 for non-members.

Bozeman Chamber has also announced the 2019 return of its Small Business Game Changer promotion. Enter your small business for an opportunity to become the chosen winner of a $10,000 marketing package with MSU Athletics and Bobcat Sports Properties. This year’s contest runs through November 10th. Winner will be announced at the Cat/Griz Game on Nov. 23rd. Must be present to win.

Bozeman Chamber gatherings and other forums provide a business networking outlet for members and others. Visit www.bozemanchamber.com to register for any of these events and to learn more. Passes may be included with membership. Call (406) 586-5421 for further information. The Chamber Center is located at 2000 Commerce Way in Bozeman. •

Filmmaker panel follows BFS screening of Rewind, an unforgettable portrait of healing

On Wednesday, September 4th, Bozeman Film Society

proudly presents the hometown premiere of Rewind. The special event will take place at Downtown Bozeman’s Ellen Theatre at 7:30pm with the filmmakers in attendance.

In this stunning documentary years in the making, director/filmmaker Sasha Joseph Neulinger shares his vivid childhood memories of a family plagued by a vicious cycle of childhood abuse. Expertly weaving remarkable home video footage taken by his camera-obsessed father and later Sasha himself, viewers see for themselves, with all too heart-breaking clarity, as Sasha goes from a freckled, vivacious little boy who loved everyone and everything, to an angry and withdrawn young man.

A moving exploration of how deeply abuse affects children and reframes their world, the intimate the story of his life.

Neulinger’s directorial debut, Rewind premiered at the 2019 Tribeca Film Festival, receiving a Special Jury Mention and wide praise – Brian Tallerico, film critic for RogerEbert.com calls the film “...a deeply personal, revealing, and unforgettable piece of filmmaking”

A filmmaker panel follows the screening with footage offers rare glimpses into visual clues about family dynamics and the actual offenders. As riveting as any moral thriller, Sasha’s uncommonly brave story offers an unforgettable portrait of healing for himself and his family as he seeks justice and works to improve how the criminal justice system handles abuse cases.

Sasha Joseph Neulinger is the head of production at Step 1 Films. Upon finishing film school at Montana State University at age 23, he discovered the raw materials that would propel him to tell Sasha Joseph Neulinger (Director/Producer), Tom Winston (Executive Producer), Avela Grenier (Editor/Producer), Shasta Winston (Producer), Jeff Dougherty (Cinematographer), Rick Smith (Cinematographer), Scott Sterling (Technical Consultant), and SaVenna Hughes (Production Manager).

Not rated with a runtime of 86 minutes, Rewind contains mature, sensitive material not suitable for children. The film is a production of Step 1 Films, Grizzly Creek Films, and Cedar Creek Productions.

Reserved seats for Rewind are $9.75 for adults or $9.25 for seniors and students. Advance tickets are available at www.theellentheatre.org (plus service fees). The Ellen lobby opens one hour before the screening for refreshments.

Ellen entertains with Disney classics, comedian Gabriel Rutledge & more

Downtown Bozeman's Ellen Theatre is home to just about every form of entertainment you can think of, whether live or up on the big screen. The historic space is your source for the best film and stage performance in the area. The venue also houses some great musical acts, both local and those visiting Southwest Montana. Here's a look at what's happening on Main.

On Saturday, September 7th, IndepenDANCE Community Dance Project is proud to present IndepenDANCE: Parallels, the culmination of the group's eleventh season. With over 20 local choreographers and 100 dancers, each piece of the annual production is a reflection of the individuality of its participants. Performances of Parallels will be held on Sept. 7th at 2pm and 7pm. Bridget Pitman Wilkinson and Tyler Wilkinson will serve as emcees. All seats are $19.50.

Also this month, the Ellen presents a lineup of classic Disney movies the entire family will enjoy. The Little Mermaid is first up on Sunday, September 8th at 2pm. The movie tells the story of a mermaid princess named Ariel who falls in love with a handsome prince who lives on land. To be with the man she loves, Ariel must make a life-changing decision or continue living underwater with her friends and family. The Little Mermaid features songs written by Alan Menken and Howard Ashman and won two Academy Awards for Best Original Score and Best Original Song ("Under the Sea").

A screening of Mary Poppins follows on Sunday, September 15th at 2pm. Considered to be Walt Disney's movie masterpiece, this live action/animated gem features talented stars Dick Van Dyke, David Tomlinson, Ed Wynn, and legend of stage and screen Julie Andrews. Mary Poppins received a total of 13 Academy Award nominations, including Best Picture. It was an instant hit and is still a favorite with all ages. Tickets for both The Little Mermaid and Mary Poppins may be purchased for $4 at the door.

MontanaPBS will present an exclusive preview of the upcoming Ken Burns documentary Country Music on Tuesday, September 10th at 7pm. The sweeping, multi-episode series explores the questions "What is country music? Where did it come from?" – while focusing on the biographies of the fascinating characters who created it – from The Carter Family, Jimmie Rodgers and Bob Wills, to Hank Williams, Johnny Cash, Loretta Lynn, Charley Pride, Willie Nelson, Dolly Parton, Merle Haggard, Emmylou Harris, Garth Brooks and many more – as well as the times in which they lived. And like the music itself, Country Music will tell unforgettable stories – stories of the hardships and joys shared by everyday people. Following the 45-minute preview film will be a live performance of Montana's own country music legends: Montana Rose with Cathy Moberg and Marcus Engstrom, and www.TWANG. All seats are $21. Country Music premieres Sept. 15th on Montana PBS.

Performing at the Ellen on Friday, September 13th is comedian Gabriel Rutledge at 8pm. A past winner of both the Seattle International Comedy Competition and The Laughing Skull Comedy Festival in Atlanta, Gabriel has made numerous television appearances including Comedy Central's Live at Gotham, Nickelodeon's NickMom Night Out, Laughs on FOX, and Inside Joke with Asif Ali streaming on Amazon Prime Video. Louisville Weekly called him "a quick thinking, fast talking, hardworking bad ass." Reserved seats to Gabriel Bozeman show are $21.

Free movie night! On Wednesday, September 18th, Intermountain Opera Bozeman offers a complimentary showing of Woody Allen's Midnight in Paris at 7pm.

The modern time travel story to the salons of Paris in the 1920s will help set the stage for IOB's fall production of Ricky Ian Gordon's 27. Performances are set for October 11th and 13th. Midnight in Paris is rated PG-13.

Montana TheatreWorks has announced open auditions for its holiday production of Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol. Directed by Mark Kuntz, all ages are welcome to register for an audition slot between September 14th and 17th. This much-loved holiday classic will open December 6th and run through December 22nd. See the Ellen website for additional details and registration information.

Wine, beer, and other refreshments will be sold in the lobby one hour before all events. Ticketing and further information about these and other upcoming happenings is available at

Gabriel Rutledge

www.theellentheatre.org. For additional inquiries, call (406) 585-5885 or stop into The Ellen box office. Hours are Wednesday through Saturday from 1–3pm, as well as two hours prior to any event. •

Bozeman Improverts not-so-randomly take Verge stage ahead of Heathers preview

Shifting back to the often sunless and fun-lite fall routines, Verge Theater is giving Bozemanites the reprieve they'll surely be looking for with some fantastic stage performances. Here's a look at what's happening at "The Little Black Box on the Edge (of Bozeman)."

First, the Bozeman Improverts are back with Random Acts of Improv with a pair of new, spontaneously created full-length shows. Witness the years this troupe has spent honing their communication skills and be prepared to laugh your ass off at their clever witticisms and zany story arcs! Random Acts is set for Friday and Saturday, September 6th and 7th, at 8pm each night. Tickets are $9. Recommended for ages 17+.

Ahead of its fall production, Heathers: The Musical, Verge will host a special sneak peek event at the Little Black Box. "Croquet & Rosé" will take place Thursday, September 19th, beginning at 6pm. Join Alara Jewelry, Jelt, and Fork & Spoon for the dress rehearsal of Verge's newest comedy, including a Heathers-themed reception with heavy hors d'oeuvres from Fork & Spoon Catering. Dress in your best 80s garb for the Bodacious Belting costume contest, sponsored by Jelt. The winner receives a Jelt gift basket! Tickets are available at give.classy.org/croquetandrose. Admission includes two drink tickets. All funds raised support Fork & Spoon's pay-what-you-can dinner service.

Heathers: The Musical is the darkly delicious story of Veronica Sawyer, a brainy, beautiful teenage misfit who hustles her way into the most powerful and ruthless clique at Westerberg High: the Heathers. But before she can get comfortable atop the high school food chain, Veronica falls in love with the dangerously sexy new kid J.D. When Heather Chandler, the aerobicized ass... but J.D. has another plan for that bullet.

Heathers: The Musical is brought to you by the award-winning creative team of Kevin Murphy (Reefer Madness, Desperate Housewives), Laurence O'Keefe (Bat Boy, Legally Blonde) and Andy Fickman (Reefer Madness, She's the Man). Heathers: The Musical is a hilarious, heartfelt, and homicidal new show based on the greatest teen comedy of all time. With its moving love story, laugh-out-loud comedy, and unflinching look at the joys and anguish of high school, Heathers will be Verge's most popular new musical. Are you in, or are you out?

Heathers: The Musical comes to Verge Sept. 20th through Oct. 6th.

Performances will be held on Friday and Saturday evenings at 8pm, followed by a Sunday matinee at 3pm. Note: this show is NOT kid-friendly. 17+. Visit www.vergetheater.com for reservations and further information about

Almighty, kicks her out of the group, Veronica decides to bite the bullet and kiss Heather's upcoming productions! Advance tickets are also available in store at Cactus Records. •

Audition for a role in Shane Center's creeptacular Addams Family

Join the team for this creepy, spooky, comedic feast!

On Tuesday, September 3rd at 7pm, Director Dewey Kemp will hold open auditions for The Addams Family at Livingston's Shane Lalani Center for the Arts.

In the spooky, upside-down world of the Addams Family, to be sad is to be happy, to feel pain is to feel joy, and death and suffering are the stuff of dreams. Nonetheless, this quirky family still deals with the same challenges faced by any other family.

Dark, macabre Wednesday Addams is now eighteen years old and ready for a life of her own. She has fallen in love with a completely normal boy from a respectable Ohio family. To make matters worse, she has invited these squares to the Addams mansion to announce wedding plans – an idea jarring to both families. When the entire group winds up locked in overnight, secrets are revealed, relationships are tested, and the Addams family must face up to the one thing they've managed to avoid for generations: change.

Roles are available for ages 13 and up. No prepared audition material is required. Rehearsals for this production will take place weekday evenings from Sept. 9th through Oct. 17th. The Addams Family runs weekends from Oct. 18th through Nov. 10th.

For more information, please contact Dewey Kemp at (406) 222-1420 or dewey@the-shanecenter.org. •

School year begins w/ MORE lectures, Genghis Khan Family Day

Museum of the Rockies is welcoming the new academic year with a full calendar of its own! The famed exhibitor also hosts a bevy of special events to accompany its many historical displays. Here's a look at some upcoming happenings at our neighborhood museum.

The Gallatin History Museum Lecture Series returns with “Rediscovering Wonderland: How the Great Depression Shaped Yellowstone National Park” on Wednesday, September 4th in Hager Auditorium at 6pm. Dr. Bruce Gourley will present. He is the founder and editor of Yellowstone History Journal, the first journal devoted exclusively to the history of Yellowstone, and the author of eight history books. The event is open to the public.

Amid economic boom times that produced great wealth inequality, on the cusp of the Great Depression the future of Yellowstone remained murky. Historically a tourist destination for persons of wealth, the coming of age of the automobile placed Yellowstone within reach of many middle-class families. Even so, the great red doors of Old Faithful Inn remained closed to all except paying lodgers, while the park's roads were not yet paved. Some powerful voices yet envisioned Yellowstone as a European-like luxury resort; other, newer voices called for the primacy of nature. Even as wolves disappeared, victims of anti-predatory administrative policies, and bears begged food from tourists and gorged on human food in park service bear feeding grounds as spectators watched from nearby log benches, a few forward-thinkers cautiously questioned the damage done by unnatural management of wildlife.

At this critical moment in Yellowstone's history America was suddenly plunged into the greatest economic downturn in the nation's history. The volume is the story of how the Yellowstone we know today paradoxically emerged during the catastrophe of Great Depression. Many of the pillars of 21st-century Yellowstone – including professional ranger naturalists, scientifically-based decision-making, holistic ecosystem management, interpretive museums, visitor accessibility, visitor infrastructure, marketing practices and modern tourism – trace their beginnings to the most unlikely of eras in American history.

In 1989, the Tinsley House was relocated to Museum of the Rockies, and the history of Montana's homesteading era was recreated at MOR's Living History Farm, closing for the summer season on Sunday, September 8th. Skilled costumed interpreters will take you back in time as they cook over a wood-burning stove, demonstrate cooking skills and recipes from the 1890s, tend to the Heirloom Garden, and forge iron in the blacksmith's shop. Take time this summer to enjoy the beautiful sights of the garden, the smells of home cooking, and the history of a time gone by that lives on today. The Living History Farm is open daily from 10am–4pm through Sept. 8th. Free of admission and open to the public.

To commemorate its summer exhibit, MOR will host an additional Genghis Khan Family Day on Saturday, September 14th from 10am–noon. Explore the life, land, people, and culture of the Mongolian Empire during a morning filled with extra educational activities. Games, crafts, and more will help attendees understand and discover this changing exhibit. Included with museum admission.

The next Science Inquiry Lecture “Engineering New Materials for the Future” is set for Wednesday, September 18th. The presentation will begin at 7pm in Hager Auditorium and is open to the public.

How can new materials improve our lives and reduce our carbon footprint at the same time? Dr. Ian Baker, Sherman Fairchild Professor of Engineering at Dartmouth College, will discuss the properties novel metallic alloys whose use would increase the efficiency of power stations and concentrated solar power generation by allowing increases in operating temperature.

On Thursday, September 19th, the Extreme History Project Lecture series continues with “Symbolism in the Cemetery” at 6pm. The talk will be held in Hager Auditorium and is open to the public.

Cemeteries are like outdoor museums, full of beauty, history and symbolism. If we look close enough, the art engraved on the historic headstones can give us clues to the past. Extreme History Project co-founder Crystal Alegria will lead attendees through the symbolism of Bozeman's historic Sunset Hills Cemetery, focusing on a series of engraved headstones. She will de-code the symbolism, telling complex and fascinating stories of our town founders buried below.

Please note: All public lectures have a limited capacity and are open on a first come, first served basis. Doors open 30 minutes prior to each. Attendees may not save seats for others.

Calling all thespians! Museum of the Rockies seeks volunteer actors for its pilot production of Haunted Mountain

Theater. Bringing the Northern Rocky Mountains' spookier history and folklore to life, the approximately 50-minute show will blend live theater with Taylor Planetarium's state-of-the-art capabilities. Actors of varying types and ages are needed.

Auditions will take place on September 4th and 10th from 4:30–6:30pm each evening. Actors are not required to prepare an audition piece. Performances are scheduled for the nights of October 25th, 26th and 27th. For more information and to arrange an audition time, please contact Dorinda Dutcher at (406) 994-6223 or dorinda.dutcher@montana.edu.

Announcing the 2019 return of MOR's Brews & the Big Sky: Montana Made, Montana Brewed. This year's monthly programs include The Bozeman Trail on Sept. 24th, Ancient Humans and Ice Age Mammal Extinction on Oct. 29th, and Light on the Land: The Photographs of Albert Schlechten on Nov. 19th. All are held from 5:30–7:30pm. There is a $12 admission including beer tasting, gallery talks, exhibits, and light appetizers for those 21 and older. Learn MORE about Brews & the Big Sky on page 2B.

For more information about these and other upcoming events, as well as the Museum's exhibits, visit www.museumoftherockies.org.

MSU celebrates beginning of work to repurpose Romney Hall with public event

From MSU News Service

Montana State University will welcome students, staff, faculty, alumni, community members and special guests to an event celebrating the beginning of work to repurpose the university's iconic Romney Hall.

The kick-off event will take place from 3–5pm on Friday, September 6th, at the Romney Oval on campus and will include remarks from MSU representatives and state government. The event will end with a reception.

During its 2019 session, the Montana Legislature and Governor Steve Bullock approved $25 million in state funds and authority to use $7 million in other funds for the repurposing of Romney Hall, a project MSU had sought legislative funding for since 2010. The work inside Romney – which was constructed in 1922 as MSU's original state-funded physical education building – will transform it from a space with four classrooms seating only 141 students at a time to a modern academic facility with 19 classrooms seating 1,000 students. Included in the work will be space for new centers for veterans, disabilities services, math and writing – high-impact programs with a demonstrated record of helping students stay in school and graduate.

Speakers at the event will include MSU

President Waded Cruzado, Montana Lt. Gov. Mike Cooney, Associated Students of MSU president Taylor Blossom, MSU Veteran Services Director Joe Schumacher and others. A reception will follow the remarks at 4pm with refreshments and live music.

The event is open to all students, faculty, staff and the public, though the courtesy of an RSVP is requested by contacting the Office of the President by calling (406) 994-2345 or emailing president@montana.edu.

Siri: add Emerson-hosted SymBozium to calendar

Bozeman Public Library's SymBozium, a civil discourse series, engages the community in respectful and productive conversation around complex controversial topics. At this divisive time in our world the need to consider and understand diverse perspectives is critical, especially within our community. This free participatory event series features current topics and keynote speakers representing varied points of view.

Next up is “How Smart Is Too Smart? Exploring the Pros and Cons of Artificial Intelligence” at 7pm on Tuesday, September 3rd at the Emerson Center's Crawford Theater. From Siri to robotic surgery, from media and music streaming to Google Maps, artificial intelligence (AI) has a significant impact on our lives. But, what are the implications of AI on human development and personal autonomy? What effect will AI have on jobs in the future? What ethical concerns must we address as AI systems are deployed? Join in on the discussion as an expert panel explores the benefits and drawbacks of AI and its rapidly evolving technology.

Jay Owenhouse brings magical family spectacle to Bozeman

A legendary escape artist and one of the most awarded illusionists in history is set for a return to Bozeman by popular demand. For one night only, catch Jay Owenhouse in the illusion spectacular “Family Magic!” on Saturday, September 14th at Brick Breeden Fieldhouse beginning at 7pm. The spectacle has been voted by audiences and critics alike as “One of the Top 10 Live Shows in America.”

In the show, Owenhouse welcomes the audience into his mysterious world of wonder and the impossible. Attendees will experience a night of grand illusions with the most amazing magic in the world, Bengal tigers up close, dangerous escapes, and inspiring storytelling. Seeing the Owenhouse family live is an evening that will leave you breathless with a feeling of childhood wonder. When a family works together nothing is impossible, a reminder to us all!

Jay has amazed millions on primetime television's Masters of Illusion, as well as Magic on the Edge. “Simply amazing!” raves The Salt Lake Tribune, while The Tokyo Times says of the elaborate production, “Truly magic, a must see!”

Owenhouse spent time touring China and Japan, where his show received the award for “Best Touring Family Show in Asia.” Caught by the magic bug at four years old, Owenhouse first performed as a freshman in high school. Since then, in the spirit of “giving it away to keep it,” he's invented magic effects and designed illusions for not only his show, but for other renowned magicians around the world.

Come see why Hollywood entertainment journalist Mark Ebner says of The Magic of Jay Owenhouse, “(With apologies to PT Barnum) the greatest touring Family show on earth.”

Tickets range from $39 – $69 and are available now at www.ticketwest.com and the Fieldhouse box office.

55 male bison transferred from Yellowstone to Fort Peck Tribes

Partners celebrate historic step for bison conservation

Yellowstone National Park recently completed the first transfer of bison to the Assiniboine and Sioux Tribes of the Fort Peck Indian Reservation in Poplar, Montana under the new operational quarantine program. Fifty-five male bison completed Phases I & II of the brucellosis quarantine protocol at Yellowstone and will finish assurance testing (Phase III) at Fort Peck (see information below for details about the protocol).

“The transfer of these bison is the culmination of years of work by the NPS, the Tribes, the State of Montana, and APHIS,” said Superintendent Cam Sholly. “Quarantine is a critical component in bison management and the NPS is committed to expand and sustain this program.”

“Yellowstone buffalo are important to Tribes because they are the genetically pure descendants of the buffalo our ancestors lived with,” said Tribal Chairman Floyd Azure. “The return of the buffalo is a return of our culture. Fort Peck is committed to expanding quarantine and sharing these animals with other Tribes across the country.”

The purpose of the quarantine program is to augment or establish new conservation and cultural herds of plains bison, enhance cultural and nutritional opportunities for Native Americans, and reduce shipments of Yellowstone bison to slaughter facilities. Since it is against Montana state law to move wild bison exposed to brucellosis anywhere except to meat processing and research facilities within state, the quarantine program is critical to getting brucellosis-free animals out of Yellowstone and onto a larger landscape.

The bison that moved this week were captured at Stephens Creek in the northwest corner of Yellowstone National Park in March 2018. There are currently 3 males and 21 females still in the quarantine program at Stephens Creek, which were captured at the same time. Since the testing protocol is longer for females, the earliest that this group will complete Phase II is during 2021. The park intends to capture a new cohort of bison this winter to continue the quarantine program.

While this transfer is an excellent start, substantial work remains to continue building a sustainable quarantine program.

Background information about quarantine:

Quarantine was identified as a possible tactic for bison management back in 2001 when the Interagency Bison Management Plan (IBMP) was signed by the Secretaries of Interior and Agriculture and the Governor of Montana. The National Park Service formally pursued a quarantine program in 2014 by initiating a public planning process. The operational quarantine program was approved in May 2018.

The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) and the

Montana Department of Livestock (DOL) established the final structural specifications and biosecurity requirements for quarantine facilities in June 2017. The only facilities that currently APHIS developed the quarantine protocols in October 2003 and validated them during 2005-2010. Quarantine has three phases:

– Phase I: Managers capture bison in or near the park during bison test negative for two consecutive testing periods.

– Phase II: Bison in these individual test groups undergo brucellosis testing by age and sex requirements described in the 2003 Brucellosis Eradication: Uniform Methods and Rules (APHIS 91-45-013) and are certified as brucellosis-free.

– Phase III: Managers can transfer bison to other fenced pastures. In the new location, brucellosis tests are conducted at six and 12 months to provide additional assurance. Managers keep these bison separate from other animals at least until the 6-month test is completed. Thereafter, managers can release these bison on public or tribal lands for conservation and cultural purposes.

Since 1916, the National Park Service has been entrusted with the care of America's more than 400 national parks. With the help of volunteers and partners, NPS safeguards these special places and share their stories with millions of people every year.

The Fort Peck Reservation is home to two separate Native American nations, the Sioux and the Assiniboine, each composed of numerous bands and divisions. The Reservation is located in the extreme northeast corner of Montana, on the north side of the Missouri River. •

MSU College of Agriculture and Extension to host horticulture events

From MSU News Service

The Montana State University College of Agriculture and MSU Extension will partner to host three horticulture-related workshops in September on the MSU campus, at the Bozeman Horticulture Farm and at the Gallatin County Extension Office.

The first event will be a 1.5-day Turf to Trees workshop focused and the cost to attend is $30 for the Sept. 10 session, $100 for the Sept. 11 session or $130 for both days.

On Sept. 14, MSU Extension will host a home apple orchard workshop and cider tour from 1 to 5pm at the MSU Horticulture Farm, 2730 W Garfield St. Katrina Mendrey of the Montana Agricultural Experiment Station's on applied urban integrated pest management, which will feature Raymond Cloyd, a professor and horticultural entomology specialist at Kansas State University. MSU Extension hosted a similar event in 2017 that was well-received.

Topics for the workshop will include pest management for greenhouses, biocontrol options, tree-related pest management, insect diagnosis, weed identification and more. Tim Seipel, an MSU assistant research professor and plant ecologist in the land resources and environmental science department, and Eva Grimme, a plant disease diagnostician in the Schutter Diagnostic Laboratory in plant sciences and plant pathology, will also present during the workshop. Seipel and Grimme are also MSU Extension specialists. The sessions will run from noon to 3:15pm Sept. 10 and from 8am to 4pm on Sept. 11. Both will be held on the MSU campus in the Plant BioScience Building, Room 108.

Attendees of the 'Turf to Trees' workshops will earn credit toward an Urban IPM Certification and can earn continuing education credits. Attendance is limited to 35, Western Agricultural Research Center will share information for people interested in growing their own apple trees, along with MSU Plant Growth Center manager David Baumbauer and assistant professor and small farms specialist Mac Burgess. The workshop will end with a tour and cider tasting of Lockhorn Cider in Downtown Bozeman. This event has a limit of 35 attendees.

The third event will be an apple preservation class hosted by MSU Extension nutrition specialist Brianna Routh at the Gallatin County Extension Office, 903 N Black Ave. The class will focus on safely preparing apples for canning and preservation, and attendees will gain hands-on practice by making their own apple butter. The class is limited to 25 participants and attendance cost is $5.

For more information or to RSVP to the 'Turf to Trees' 2019 integrated pest management workshop, call Eva Grimme at (406) 994-5150. To RSVP to the home apple orchard or apple preservation classes, call MSU Extension at (406) 582-3280. •

Progress at the Memorial Garden

by Zelpha A. Boyd

We have almost all of the grass, weeds and tree seedlings gone from the Children's Memorial Garden. The plan is to make the area much smaller so as to help with the maintenance. As work progresses, we can make flower beds along the walkways.

The days are cooler and shorter, so much easier to work. Since our last article, we've gotten more people interested; more are coming to our aid and helping. Thanks for all the interest.

We have tools and equipment; some donated or lent to us. I bought another wheelbarrow at a garage sale. With the help of some strong, young men we'll get all those excess rocks removed. Anyone?

In my own garden I'm enjoying it more and working less. It just seemed sensible not to stress over what could be just left as is. The fall flowers are beginning to bloom, adding new colors. I'm needing to water thoroughly as those showers aren't enough to soak into the ground.

If you feel so inclined, we could use help at the Garden. Contact me at (406) 219-3534. Or Patrick O'Neil at (406) 600-4514. Thanks and happy gardening everyone! •

Dharma Center offers peaceful segue into fall with upcoming events

Bozeman Dharma Center will host a Somatic Meditation event on Saturday, September 7th, between the hours of 9am and noon. The morning will offer three guided, somatic practices for participants to experiment with ways of embodying awareness. Each 45-minute meditation begins on the hour, followed by a 15-minute break. Join for as many meditations as preferred, but please enter during a break. Offered for suggested donation of $10 to $30 (no one turned away for lack of funds). Following on Tuesdays, September 17th and 24th, join Floyd Fantelli for two Buddhism Basics courses. Guiding Teacher of the Bozeman Insight Community, Fantelli will explore the core tenants of Buddhism from 7–8:30pm each night. Meditation is practiced in many spiritual traditions. What is unique about Buddhism? Is it a philosophy, a religion or something in between? These classes will dive into the heart of Buddhism and offer the central teachings of this 2500-year-old tradition. Each class will include a presentation with historical insights, meditation session, and a dialogue portion with Q&A. Great for those new to meditation and Buddhist practice! Seasoned practitioners are warmly encouraged as well. Later this month, the Dharma Center hosts educator Diane Musho Hamilton for a series of events entitled “The Zen of You and Me.” Held from Friday to Sunday, September 27th–29th, the retreat is an exploration of our sameness and our differences. Participants will practice sitting meditation, as the fundamental expression of unity, and will learn how to strengthen commonalities while expressing and exploring differences. Preceding the weekend workshop events, Diane will front a public talk highlighting these topics on Friday evening at 7pm. This presentation is offered for a suggested donation between $5 and $15 (no one turned away for lack of funds). All are welcome to attend! Bozeman Dharma Center can be found at 1019 E Main, Ste. 202. Classes and retreats offered for a suggested contribution and sliding-scale registration fee. Find additional details, registration information, and a complete schedule of upcoming events at www.bozemandharmacenter.org. Bozeman Dharma Center’s mission is to provide a welcoming, supportive, and peaceful refuge for all who suffer and seek to experience their innate true nature of wisdom, compassion and liberation through the timeless teachings of the Buddha for the benefit of all beings. Their programs are meant to inspire practice and honor the inner life – solitude and silence, creativity and growth, compassion and wisdom. •

September brings final batch of area farmers’ markets

Farmers’ market season concludes this month in Bozeman and the surrounding communities. Here’s a look at the local markets where you can find garden-fresh learn something new about one of the amazing nonprofits in town, and hang out with friends and family – all without having to cook dinner! Western Sustainability and community organizations come together to help foster and maintain a market that’s true to Big Sky mountain culture. Expect to find fresh produce, herbs, plants, flowers, baked goods, art, jewelry, and clothing, as well as Montana-made products like antler art, woodworking, and so much more. Belgrade Community Market continues its third annual summer series in Lewis & Clark Park. The weekly market is held Thursday evenings from 4–7pm through September 12th. The region’s newest market provides a venue for homemade, hand-made, and home-grown vendors to sell their local products. The weekly event will also provide the community with a fun, family friendly setting to buy produce and local goods from their neighbors. Finally, the original Gallatin Valley Farmers’ Market will be held Saturday mornings from 9am–12pm through September 14th. The markets take place at the Gallatin County Fairgrounds in Bozeman. Serving the community for more than four decades, the Gallatin Valley Farmers’ Market provides an opportunity and location for hundreds of local vendors of homemade food, hand-made crafts, and locally grown produce to market, display and sell their goods to promote economic well-being and support the development of home-based businesses. All markets are FREE of admission, so be sure to attend one of these awesome weekly events in support of your fellow citizens! •

Pitch in for semi-annual Hyalite Clean-Up

Join Friends of Hyalite for its annual Fall Clean-Up Day on Saturday, September 28th beginning at noon. Volunteers will meet at the Day Use Area (the big parking lot by the reservoir) and break into smaller groups to pick up trash, clean out fire rings, and do whatever else needs to be done to spruce up Hyalite as it closes out another summer season. Bring water and gloves if you have them, dress for a day outside, and don’t forget the bear spray! Tools and trash bags will be provided. The afternoon of clean-up will wrap with a volunteer appreciation party. Friends of Hyalite organizes this bi-annual Clean-Up in Spring and Fall with help from the Custer-

Gallatin National Forest and the City of Bozeman. Over the past decade, Friends and volunteers have removed more than 10,000 pounds of garbage and recyclables from trailheads, parking lots, campsites and along roads. Clean-Up days are held before the road opens in May and on the day before rifle season begins in October. Friends of Hyalite is a nonprofit organization dedicated stewardship of, access to, and support for year-round recreation in Hyalite Canyon. Learn more about their efforts at www.hyalite.org. Follow them on Facebook (@friendsofhyalite) for current happenings and future announcements. •

Kopriva lecture will focus on how gut bacteria change over time

From MSU News Service Doctoral student Jonathan Martinson will give a free public lecture about changes in the microbiome of the human digestive system at Montana State University on Tuesday, September 3rd. Martinson, a doctoral candidate in the Department of Microbiology and Immunology and the recipient of a Kopriva Graduate Fellowship, will present “How Does Your Gut Microbiome Change Through Time?” at 5:15pm in the Byker Auditorium in the Chemistry and Biochemistry Building. A reception will follow. Over the past two decades, tremendous progress has been made in identifying the microbial species that inhabit the human gut, as well as their overall effect on human health. However, little is known about how the gut microbiome varies over time and what factors precipitate changes to bacterial strains. To address this knowledge gap, Martinson collaborated in a research project in associate professor Seth Walk’s MSU laboratory that analyzed stool samples from eight healthy adults over two years. He examined bacteria belonging to the Enterobacteriaceae family, which reside in virtually all people. By investigating the factors that allow Enterobacteriaceae strains to reside in the human gut for long periods, Martinson hopes to improve microbiome-directed therapies. Martinson’s lecture is presented by the Kopriva Science

Seminar Series, which is funded through an endowment created by Phil Kopriva, a 1957 microbiology graduate from MSU who died in 2002. Kopriva also created an endowment to fund the Kopriva Graduate Fellowship Program, which provides support and opportunities for graduate students in the College of Letters and Science, particularly in the biomedical sciences. The series features seminars by MSU graduate students, faculty members and guest speakers. For more information about this and other Kopriva lectures, please visit www.montana.edu/letter-sandscience/kopriva. •

Hi! I'm Delilah!

Hi! I'm Delilah! I am a sweet lady looking for a new best friend and a place to call home. Some of my favorite things are fluffy beds, cat-trees and canned wet food. I love to be pet and cheek scratches are my favorite! I tend to be a bit of a couch-potato, and I am a pro at using my litter-box. Other cats are pretty great, so I would love to meet yours if you have one. Come spend some time with me today. I would love to give you my heart.

HRDC announces town halls for Community Needs Assessment

As part of their Community Needs Assessment, HRDC will be hosting town halls across Southwest Montana to gather additional information from the communities they serve. HRDC is required to complete the assessment every three years, which will guide and inform their strategic plan and how they address the community's needs.

HRDC's Community Needs Assessment helps the organization identify the community's most pressing needs, such as housing, transportation, or healthcare. In addition to a survey (available at www.surveymonkey.com/r/hrdc19), HRDC will host town halls, focus groups, and stakeholder interviews, as well as evaluate additional local, regional, and national data. HRDC's town halls will provide additional information to the organization regarding the community's needs. Survey responses will be partially used to guide these discussions, but town halls will also be open to comments from the public.

The following are a list of town halls to be hosted in late September and throughout October by HRDC regarding their Community Needs Assessment.

Local healthcare clinic welcomes Green Drinkers mid-month

Talk all things sustainable when the Spring Integrative Health plays host to the next Green Drinks on Wednesday, September 18th. The evening begins at 5:30pm. The host's offices are located at 962 Stoneridge Dr., Ste. 2, in Bozeman. The medical clinic provides family and complementary healthcare to the greater Bozeman area. A multi-disciplinary team of providers collaborate with each other and the community to provide patients with the most effective treatment options. Learn more at www.springintegrativehealth.com.

Every month in Bozeman, people who care about sustainability get together at these informal gatherings. The evening features a lively mixture of people from NGOs, businesses, academia, government, and the local community across political and economic spectra who enjoy the opportunity to chat and network under a broad umbrella. This is a fun way to catch up with people you know and a great way to make new contacts and learn about organizations and individuals interested in all things sustainable. Everyone is welcome to invite someone else along, so there's always a different crowd, making Green Drinks an organic, self-organizing network.

Green Drinks events are typically held the third Wednesday of each month at rotating venues. If you're interested in becoming an event host or for more information about Green Drinks, visit www.greendrinks-bozeman.org. •

MUSIC IN AND AROUND THE BOZONE

Tribute extraordinaire Pinky & the Floyd closes Big Sky summer concert series

Following another amazing season of Music in the Mountains, join the Arts Council of Big Sky for one final Thursday night show at Center Stage in Town Center Park. The popular summer concert series goes out in style with one of the region's hottest tribute bands, Pinky and the Floyd, on Thursday, September 5th at 7pm. The event is FREE and open to the public.

Pinky puts on an amazing live show that's both note-for-note and improvisational, but it's their superb musicianship that sets them apart from other tribute bands. Their energy and stage presence are unprecedented! Pinky offers up a big sound and is an experience not soon forgotten. You can expect albums in their entirety, and a little something from every Floyd genre – from the Syd Barrett years and The Wall, to The Division Bell and everything in between.

Town Center Park opens at 6pm for the concert, and there will be food and beverage vendors (including alcohol) and an arts activity tent for kids. Please be aware that NO dogs or glass containers are allowed in the park.

In addition to the season-ending Pink show, the fourth annual Mountainfilm in Big Sky event is set for September 13th–15th. Find additional Mountainfilm details on Page 1D.

Looking to make the most of these last summer weekends? Did you promise yourself at the beginning of the summer that THIS was the summer to adventure with your RV, trailer or tent? Look no further than Norris Hot Springs to fulfill your intentions. Just 36 miles from Bozeman and 16 miles from Ennis, Norris feels like an oasis retreat within easy reach.

Norris Hot Springs has 9 RV sites with full hookups for $33/day and 4 spaces without hookups for $22/day. There's a bathroom with separate toilet and shower facilities for men and women. For $3/day per person, campers have the option of unlimited soaking in the hot springs pool. Do the math. It's a bargain to camp at Norris Hot Springs! Check-in time is 4pm, but you can come early, park in the overflow spots and head up to the pool til your site is ready.

Camping sites overlook the marsh that provides healthy habitat for the creatures of the wild. Bird enthusiasts will delight to see the sandhill crane family. The youngsters are growing quickly and are getting stronger in preparation for the fall migration. Look for osprey, geese, hawks, wrens and finches, too! Antelope and deer commonly graze in the land above the marsh.

If you are camping on the 14th of September, plan to look up on the ridge to watch the full moon rise starting around 10pm. The brilliant yellow moon makes a grand entrance when it crests the ridge across the marsh.

Don't feel like cooking? The 50-Mile Grill and the 50-Mile Snack Bar have you covered with everything from fun poolside snacks to fine dining, featuring local Montana meats and garden-fresh produce. Vegan, vegetarian, carnivorous, organic, local, gluten free options are all available to meet your dietary needs. If you need a little something sweet, choose a freshly made brownie with Häagen-Dazs ice cream and house-made chocolate sauce! There are also plenty of local craft beers on tap and a carefully curated wine list so that you can pair a choice beverage with your meal and soak.

Come on a weekend and enjoy "live from the dome" music every Friday, Saturday and Sunday night starting at 7pm. Norris Hot Springs features local and nationally recognized musicians on the iconic poolside stage.

The pairing of Charlie Denison and Chris Hildebrandt open up a new month on Sunday, September 1st. The duo mix original Americana with fun-filled covers spanning the decades, whether those of Bob Marley, Van Morrison, Neil Young or more contemporary artists.

Andrew Kasab showcases his talents on Friday, September 6th. The fingerstyle guitarist, harp guitarist and singer/songwriter is known to combine traditional and contemporary techniques for his energetic performances. He has been performing for over 30 years at music halls, events, festivals, restaurants and other venues, self-released 11 albums of solo material, and plays multiple styles including folk, blues, country, bluegrass, jazz, American fingerstyle, American primitive and contemporary acoustic styles. His most recent release, Fish, is available now.

The hot springs welcome Ennis City Ramblers on Saturday, September 7th. This locally based trio plays American folk music and cowboy songs, i.e. the perfect hang music for your kickoff to the weekend soak.

Wind and the Willows take the stage Sunday, September 8th. Imports from Evergreen, Colorado, Willows' lead singers Ryen Dalvit and Maren Stubenvoll bring their distinct sound to Montana, a blend of brass, strings, and triple harmonies. The band's roots lie in the heart of the Rocky Mountains. From writing tunes in caves and atop mountains, to performing in tap-rooms and other intimate venues, these once upon a time classmates became a songwriting duo finding inspiration in their beautiful surroundings and budding sisterhood.

Edwin Johnson is next up on Friday, September 13th. Johnson performs multiple musical styles and genres, traveling all over the United States and Canada. He composes songs "on the fly" with live recording looping technology.

Catch Seldom Kings poolside on Saturday, September 14th. The fun, creative pair of multi-instrumentalists will entertain with original music, spot-on covers and those barely recognizable, as well as some other great surprises.

Lang Termes provides the tunes on Sunday, September 15th. His vocal style ranges from mellow folk ballads to growling boogie blues. His style of songwriting – both original music and lyrics – comes deep from the heart, or in some cases, bubbles up from his whimsical sense of irony. Lang's selection of covers ranges from early country blues to the full gamut of contemporary classics. A few of his biggest influences include Muddy Waters, Woody Guthrie, Bruce Springsteen, Eddie Vedder, and Townes Van Zandt.

Cut a rug with Sac sets by Little Jane, www.TWANG

If those last summer adventures bring you to "Montana's favorite small town" or its outskirts, squeeze in an overnight at the historic Sacajawea Hotel. The Three Forks venue is perfect for dinner, drinks and dancing every weekend. Enjoy a fine dining experience in Pompey's Grill followed by a night on the dance floor in the Sac Bar. Here's a look at some of the upcoming acts.

On Friday, September 6th, regional favorite Little Jane & the Pistol Whips will have the crowd on their feet. The Americana/country band touches audiences and gets their toes tapping. Led by Ashly "Little Jane" Holland, the Pistol Whips are Tom "Mando" Murphy (mandolin), Russ Smith and/or Mason Tuttle (bass, vocals), and Mike Singer (banjo). They'll be performing selections from their album, This Town, and other crowd favorites.

Exit 288 takes the stage on Saturday, September 7th. The high-energy group performs everything from classic and contemporary rock, to blues, country, and all that's in between. Exit 288 connects with the audience and creates a fun and exciting atmosphere. The band's music is carefully selected to get people involved in the party and to keep the dance floor hopping!

Belt out your favorite tunes with Sunrise Karaoke on Friday, September 13th. Bring your favorite songs and get ready to impress – or at least give it your best shot! You haven't done karaoke until you've done it with Sunrise.

WE KNOW THE WAY TO YOUR HEART!

www.TWANG entertains on Saturday, September 14th. Their name says it all. The truck drivin', heart breakin', honky-tonk dance band has been offering up real country music to their fans since 1998. No smarmy, plastic hat-wearing, Nashville pop from these guys. Classic country and seamless TWANG originals set this band apart from all others in the Western U.S. The band features the combined talents of bass player and vocalist Russ Olsen, drummer Mike Gillan, fiddle and stand up steel guitar player Mike Parsons, lead guitarist and songwriter Marcus Engstrom, as well as rhythm guitar player and songwriter Buck Buchanan. These guys take no prisoners and leave nothing but happy dancers in their wake. Don't miss a chance to take in one of their "real deal, premium country music" shows. You won't be sorry.

Sac live music begins at 9pm. The Sacajawea Hotel is located at 5 N Main in Three Forks. For more information about these events, visit www.sacajaweahotel.com. •

KGLT expands listening area with Big Sky translator

From MSU News Service

The studios of KGLT are tucked into the third floor of Montana State University's Strand Union Building, but the station's growing reach extends well beyond campus.

In the last few years, the station brought in new listeners in the Big Timber area and strengthened its signal around Helena. This summer, the station expanded to Big Sky.

"At KGLT, we're primarily focused on delivering this alternative, free-format radio to our listeners," said KGLT General Manager Craig Clark. "We want to provide as much access as possible."

A new translator in Big Sky has been on the station's wish list for years. Service in the area was spotty and depended on how the main signal broadcasting from near Logan bounced through Gallatin Canyon. But at the end of July, KGLT installed the new translator on Andesite Mountain, near the top of Big Sky Resort's Ramcharger and Thunder Wolf lifts. The 20-watt translator broadcasts, like the main KGLT transmitter, at 91.9 FM. The signal is fed over the internet to a facility at the top of the mountain, where it is translated into radio waves that cover Big Sky Town Center and Meadow Village.

Clark said an informal car radio test of the new signal showed drastically improved reception. And though mountainous topography still cuts off the signal in some areas, Clark said he was satisfied the translator would open up a new community of listeners.

"We're providing more opportunities for people to listen wherever they go in the Gallatin County and eager to make connections in the Big Sky community," he said.

KGLT has been working to acquire a translator in the area for about a year and a half, spearheaded by former station manager Ellen King-Rogers. Aside from the costs of equipment, frequencies are only available by license through the Federal Communications Commission and infrequently. The station was able to secure a license, then applied for a permit to change the frequency to 91.9 FM.

"It's rare to have a translator at the same frequency," Clark said, adding that it will help create seamless listening for those commuting between Big Sky and Bozeman.

Ron Craighead, marketing and underwriting director for the station, sees potential for creating greater connection between Bozeman and Big Sky over the airwaves. He and Clark are looking into partnerships with existing underwriters in Big Sky as well as ways to represent area nonprofit organizations through the station's public service announcements.

"We're just excited to welcome Big Sky into the KGLT family and look forward to serving the Big Sky community," Craighead said.

KGLT began as a student station in 1968 and is still a program of the Associated Students of Montana State University. The station's DJs include students, faculty and staff of the university as well as community members. Students also fill roles in production and support staff, such as the chief announcer and assistant music director.

"ASMSU is proud to support KGLT, our community radio station," said Sophia Elias, ASMSU vice president. "We're thrilled the new translator will help reach Bobcats all across the Big Sky."

The station broadcasts at 91.9 FM and 97.1 FM in Bozeman; 91.9 FM in Big Sky; 89.1 FM in Helena; 89.5 FM in Livingston; 107.1 FM in Gardiner; 90.5 FM in Big Timber and online at www.kglt.net. •

Wild Joe*s stop yields crescendos & cold brew

The delayed (and likely temporary) seasonal heat calls for an iced coffee or two! Stop into Downtown Bozeman's Wild Joe*s to cool off and caffeinate as autumn begins to creep in. And if your timing's right, the Coffee Spot is also a great place to check out acoustic sets by local and traveling artists. Here's a look at what's coming up.

Ozark duo Lark and the Loon front a Sunday show on September 1st from 1–3pm.

The song-writing team of Jeff Rolfzen and Rocky Steen-Rolfzen bring their distinct writing styles together in what they call an exploration in the etymology of American music. They take inspiration from prewar blues and jazz, Irish dance music, Sea shanties, and dustbowl folk songs. Following their debut album Songbirds and Fog and American West-inspired follow-up Homestead Hands, the pair comes to Bozeman in support of their third release, 2. The album focuses on themes of duality through a their isolated woodland home and adventures across the American Interstate, German Autobahn, Irish pubs, and the places in between.

On Saturday, September 7th, Woodsmoke Jazz perform an eclectic set from 6–8pm. Smokin' standards and original tunes since 2009, the horn-driven jazz combo plays a variety of music including classic jazz, funk and latin standards. They also throw in jazzed-up versions of additional genres like classic rock and others.

Andrew Kasab returns to Wild Joe*s on Sunday,

September 8th from 1–3pm. The fingerstyle guitarist, harp guitarist and singer/songwriter is known to combine traditional and contemporary techniques for his energetic performances. He has been performing for over 30 years at music halls, events, festivals, restaurants and other venues, self-released 11 albums of solo material, and plays multiple styles including folk, blues, country, bluegrass, jazz, American fingerstyle, American primitive and contempo-

Lane Norberg is set for Saturday, September 14th from 6–8pm. His music is heavily inspired by faith, love, and all of life's ups and downs. Many of the lyrics to Norberg's songs are easy to listen to, and often involve elements from his own life. "I believe that music is a unique way to express the kinds of things we all go through every day," he says. "I want my music to be relatable to people because I think you can really communicate an idea through song if your lyrics are believable and authentic." # MSU graduate & faculty member win regional Emmy for audio

A Montana State University alumnus and a faculty member have won a regional Emmy award in the audio category for their work on the MontanaPBS-produced series "11th and Grant with Eric Funk."

Luke Scheeler and Jeremiah Slovarp won an Emmy in audio at the 56th annual regional Emmy awards ceremony presented by the Northwest Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences. Both attended the ceremony, which was held in Seattle in June.

"11th and Grant with Eric Funk" is a series on MontanaPBS that recognizes Montana musicians.

Scheeler is an MSU graduate with a bachelor's in music technology in the School of Music in the College of Arts and Architecture. Slovarp, who is an MSU graduate, is currently a faculty member in MSU's music technology program. The two work together at Jereco Studios in Bozeman. Slovarp has worked on projects with several large media organizations including, but not limited to PBS, National Geographic, Microsoft, Disney, Nickelodeon and NBC. Scheeler has been a sound editor for numerous documentaries, such as "Life Interrupted," "Depth Perception" and "The Violin Alone."

The Northwest Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences covers broadcast and film organizations throughout Alaska, Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Washington. # MCMS presents fall concert featuring J. S. Bach's 'Gamba Sonatas'

Montana Chamber Music Society presents another round of great chamber music under the Big Sky with a performance of J. S. Bach's "Gamba Sonatas" on Friday, September 13th at MSU's Reynolds Recital Hall beginning at 7:30pm. Please join for a wonderful evening featuring the talents of pianist Michele Levin and cellist Michael Reynolds.

The program will showcase incredible instrumentals from these local virtuosos – a perfect introduction to the fall season! Pianist and composer Michele Levin has been acclaimed by audiences and critics as a multi-faceted musician of extraordinary sensitivity, virtuosity, and dedication to the art of making music. She has performed as a soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra, Boston Pops, Florida Philharmonic, and Sinfonia Virtuosi, among others. She has also given solo and chamber music recitals in major cities throughout the United States and Canada, Europe, Asia, as well as Central and South America.

Michele is very much in demand as a chamber musician, touring the world with countless luminaries of the string world.

Michael Reynolds has been the cellist of the world-renowned Muir String Quartet since its inception in 1979. As a member of the Muir Quartet and as soloist and chamber musician, Mr. Reynolds has performed thousands of concerts throughout out North America, Europe and the Far East. He has performed with such diverse artists as Leon Fleisher, Menachem Pressler, Gil Shaham, Richard Stoltzman, Phyllis Curtin and Benny Goodman.

Admission to all Montana Chamber Music Society performances is $30 for adults, $25 for seniors, and $15 for students. Tickets may be purchased at www.montanachambermusic-society.org. These are also available at Cactus Records in Downtown Bozeman and at the door, depending on availability. Net proceeds from these programs support MCMS's mission to present great chamber music performances throughout Montana year-round. •

Paige & The People bring ‘funky spices’ to Chico following back-to-back MAX shows

With an autumn chill in the air, soaks at Chico Hot Springs are becoming more and more desirable. The local getaway is also great for weekend escapes with live entertainment in the Saloon every Friday, Saturday and occasional Sunday. Here’s a look at who’s headed to the Paradise Valley hot spot. Swamp Dawg opens up a new month on Sunday, September 1st at 6pm. The band brings New Orleans-style funk, second line, and swampy Southern Soul to Southwest Montana and beyond. Inspired by the music of Dr. John, Professor Longhair, the Neville Brothers, Irma Thomas, Tab Benoit, Snooks Eaglin, and the artists of Stax Records and the Memphis Soul scene, the band brings forth a relaxed yet energized beat that gets you on your feet and ready to dance. The MAX is back at Chico on Friday and Saturday, September 6th and 7th. The popular band has entertained and delighted audiences nationwide since the mid-80s, calling Montana home since 1993. With

Kyle Brenner (guitar), Mike Young (drums), and Bobb Clanton (bass), The MAX plays spot-on renditions of a wide variety of choice danceable rock n’ roll covers and has two original albums, Shadows in the Shade and

Vinyl Valentine. The MAX has opened for Styx, REO Speedwagon, and The Fabulous Thunderbirds.

Bozeman nine-piece Paige & The People’s Band are set for Friday and Saturday, September 13th and 14th. The horn-powered and vocally charged group has a feeling of ‘70s soul with a modern twist. The band is somewhat reminiscent of groups like Cold Blood or Sharon Jones & the Dap-Kings, but with a much more contemporary feel. The group members dress to impress, giving their performances a sense of occasion, then blast the roof off with their big band, powerhouse sound! The soul, R&B, jazz, and pop ensemble are one of Bozeman’s best, and are excited to bring their brand of musical devotion and “funky spices” to “The People.”

Paige & The People’s Band

Chico Saloon music begins at 9pm, unless otherwise noted. Chico Hot Springs is located in Pray, 20 miles south of Livingston. Come sip, soak, and swing!

Tuesday night tunes tantalize at downtown distillery

The back-to-school stress is already taking a toll, whether on parents or college students not quite ready for the transition to their fall schedules. Find the anecdote with a stop into Bozeman Spirits Distillery downtown – with a side of live entertainment! The tasting room hosts live music by local musicians every Tuesday from 5:30–8pm. Here’s a look at the upcoming acts to enjoy alongside a tasty adult concoction.

A new month of live music first features the talents of local artist Amy Lee Hubbard on Tuesday, September 3rd. Head down for a cocktail, kick back and enjoy the acoustics.

Kristin Lundell brings a performance on Tuesday, September 10th. The local singer/songwriter and guitarist performs catchy, melodic rock originals inspired by the likes of Veruca Salt, Juliana Hatfield, and The Beatles. She’ll also have the audience singing along as she puts her spin on hits that span the decades.

Betsy & Johnny will entertain with a Blues-flavored acoustic rock set on Tuesday, September 17th. The former draws inspiration from luminaries like Gillian Welch, Patty Griffin, and the Wailin’ Jennys, while keeping in touch with the simple roots of blues, bluegrass, and Americana. Along with performing her originals solo, she lends her talents to other local bands including the Hooligans and White Sage. She’s skilled on the guitar, ukulele, and clawhammer banjo.

Learn more about Bozeman Spirits’ distilling processes and other offerings at www.bozemanspirits.com. Regular tasting room hours are Monday to Saturday from 10am–8pm and Sundays from noon–8pm.

Don your best western attire for a rousin’ good time! Celebrating its 25th anniversary, Montana Outdoor Science School (MOSS) will host its annual MOSS Barn Dance on Saturday, September 21st beginning at 6pm. The evening will benefit the school’s many educational programs and support science enrichment for ALL students regardless of location, economic dinner fixin’s will lead into silent and live auctions featuring guided getaways to explore Montana as well as the infamous “wheel barrow of booze” and ever-popular Ken Hall original photography print. And it wouldn’t be a barn dance without some boot scootin’ tunes! The Dirt Farmers will provide the live entertainment.

All the fun will go down at

The Dirt Farmers are a foot-stomping string band who have dubbed their musical style “paisley grass.” They’ve gained a following for their fun-loving mix of old school country, bluegrass, blues and rock – with the occasional slip into hip-hop. The band members, as unique as their song list, serve it all up with a smile on mandolin, banjo, guitar, fiddle and bass with vocal harmonies. The Dirt Farmers invite you to be “Having a Good Time” and experience the flavor and fun of Montana life.

Montana Outdoor Science School inspires curiosity, understanding, and awareness of nature through quality educational experiences. MOSS engages people of all ages through hands-on, experiential learning. It uses the outdoors as its classroom! Their summer camps allow kids an in-depth opportunity to learn about nature, particularly our own unique backyard. In-school programs, taught to current curriculum standards, help children develop their scientific inquiry and learning skills. Visit www.outdoorscience.org to learn more about the Barn Dance and MOSS programs.

The Interview

Dishwashers, unite! Hometown heroes front back-to-back Pine Creek shows

Bozeman-born progressive bluegrass outfit Kitchen Dwellers are returning to their home state ahead of a national tour in support of their anticipated new album, Muir Maid.

In the near decade they've been together, the four-piece – comprised of Joe Funk (bass), Shawn Swain (mandolin), Torrin Daniels (banjo) and Max Davies (guitar) – has performed for thousands at Red Rocks, shared bills with the likes of Railroad Earth, The Infamous Stringdusters and Twiddle, and graced festival stages from Northwest String Summit to WinterWonderGrass. The group has transcended traditional genre boundaries, blending virtuosic bluegrass wizardry with ecstatic rock and roll energy and adventurous psychedelia. With Muir Maid, the group has come fully into their own, seamlessly blending the past, present and future of string band music to create their most daring and collaborative work yet.

In anticipation of their local performances, the Rolling Zone spoke with Dwellers guitarist Max Davies about the maritime-inspired new album and assorted influences.

Rolling Zone: With the band rooted in Bozeman, Kitchen Dwellers are rightfully kicking off their fall tour right here in Southwest Montana. How do you guys feel about kicking off a national tour from your home base?

Max Davies: We could not be more excited to be doing two nights at Pine Creek. We played Bozeman a handful of times lately, and we've done indoors at Pine Creek, but we are very very excited to do two nights outside. That's the beginning of something like eight or nine weeks [on the road], so it's going to be a good time.

RZ: The Pine Creek shows are set to feature some guest spots. Those included, what can concert-goers expect to witness?

MD: We're going to have the Fresh Boys on Friday night, they're a string band [and] good friends from Bozeman we've known for a long time. It's going to be really a fun, all-acoustic night of a whole bunch of bluegrass. We'll have the Dusty Pockets on Saturday, also guys we've known forever. We've been watching them do super cool things around Bozeman lately. More of a rock-electric full band, it's going to be really fun to have them with us. We're going to do two of our own sets each night, and on Saturday, the second will be plugged in. We're going to do a whole set with guys from the Dusty Pockets, and we'll have Tyler Schultz from Pinky and the Floyd (who used to be in the band). Saturday night's just going to be a big blowout.

RZ: The fall outing is billed at the "Muir Maid Tour," which is also the name of the long-gestating follow-up to 2017's Ghost in the Bottle. There's also a crowd-funding component. What can you tell us about the project?

MD: It's been a couple years in the making. We recorded in Denver album called "Muir Maid." It's a story from our bass player Joe – his dad moved from Wisconsin to Washington, worked on this boat called the "Muir Maid," and sailed up to Alaska where he lived. The song is kind of the tale of the boat, some trials and tribulations of being on the boat. And the album cover is an actual picture of the Muir Maid. There are a lot of sea elements to some of the songs on the album.

RZ: As you mentioned, Muir

Americana band. We love them.

RZ: Do you guys have plans for any additional volumes?

MD: We've got some ideas. We wouldn't want to do another band from the 60s or 70s, but we've definitely had some interesting talks. The Clash would be one I'd love to do.

RZ: Circling back to your originals, how do you guys approach the music creatively? Do certain people write the lyrics and others the arrangements?

seeing all the same people, and everyone just knows each other. That lends itself to being a huge collaboration. And a lot of festivals now have an in-house musician who goes and plays with everybody. The music's kind of based in that social aspect, people getting together and playing old traditional songs. It's all about bringing people together.

RZ: Kitchen Dwellers are also boarding Jam Cruise early next year. That sounds pretty insane. How did that come about?

MD: We've known about it for years. I'm not sure how recently they've been adding bluegrass. The headliner in January is the Claypool Lennon Delirium, and I think there's a lot of New Orleans funk, Mardi Gras music. So it's a pretty wide range, but we are very excited to be going.

RZ: You guys have a busy fall of touring and this new album coming out. Do you have a parting message before we see you at the shows?

MD: We love Montana but don't get to play here very often. One of the things we're really about is incorporating our friends from around here, having them come out and play. And we're just super excited for Pine Creek.

Kitchen Dwellers come to Paradise Valley's Pine Creek Lodge with support by The Fresh Boys on Friday, September 6th, and

Maid was produced by the Stringdusters' Chris Pandolfi, who you'll also be joining for a string of upcoming East Coast shows.

MD: Yeah, we're opening for them for about two weeks. Chris actually just sat in with us at YarmonyGrass in Colorado, and we did a show with them last summer. Those guys are heroes, so those shows are going to be really really fun.

RZ: Production-wise, how do you think his talents added to the material?

MD: We met with him at his house and did a few days of pre-production, went through all the songs and he gave us some very positive feedback. He would just get more out of us. He wouldn't necessarily ever critique you and tell you to do anything differently. He would say, 'Let's do it again but give me more of that one idea you were going on.' He really brought the energy level to the studio. You're in there trying to play perfectly, but he was like, 'No, just play it as hard as you possibly can,' which I think came out in the recordings.

RZ: Would you say the sound has evolved with these new Muir Maid tunes?

MD: It was all acoustic before, really stripped down. But now, sonically, we do a lot more effects. Torrin can get some pretty unique effects going on the banjo. After a show, people will come up and [ask] what instrument was making that noise. I'd say that's how it's changed, pretty unusual sounds. And overall, the songwriting has improved.

RZ: Kitchen Dwellers did also release Reheated last winter, the first EP in a planned series of tribute material. That one covered four songs by The Band. What was the intention behind that release?

MD: We've always loved The Band. They did a really great job of working as a collaborative – they would trade around who was singing lead, trade around who was playing what instrument. We wanted to take their approach and kind of have that come over to us. They're just a classic

MD: That's one of the things we learned so much about doing The Band Reheated. Whoever writes the song doesn't necessarily have to be the one who sings it. It's kind of whoever might lend themselves best to that song. So, someone brings an idea to the group, they'll have written some words and some music, and flesh it out. One song on the new album started more as a slow waltz, but turned into more of a hard-hitting, funky bluegrass song. But each member has written songs on the album.

RZ: You mentioned the album's sea component, but thematically speaking, what are we in for with Muir Maid?

MD: The music is upbeat, and there are a lot of environmental elements. There are songs about the Rockies. There are definitely some songs about being on the road and away from home so much. How can you not write about that when that's what you're doing?

RZ: Noting things like the Kickstarter and Dwellers' street team, you guys seem to thrive on fan engagement (you call your most loyal "Dishwashers"). Also factoring in working with other musicians and bands on and off stage, does this collaborative approach speak to the greater community of modern Americana-bluegrassers?

MD: It's huge. You go to all these festivals now and everyone's playing with each other. They're going to all the same festivals,

The Dusty Pockets on Saturday, September 7th. The music begins at 7pm each night. Advance tickets to these all-ages shows are $30 at pinecreeklodgemontana.com or $50 for two-night passes. Single-night tickets also available in-store at Cactus Records for $34.50. Day of show tickets will also be available for $35 and $60 at the gate, depending on availability. Party Bus Rentals will operate shuttles to and from Bozeman both nights. Reserve your seats at www.partybusaz-mt.com.

Kitchen Dwellers will return to the Treasure State this October with a pair of Northwest Montana shows – the Great Northern in Whitefish on Oct. 18th and Missoula's Top Hat Lounge the following evening, Oct. 19th. Tickets and additional details available through the website.

Evenings of jazz fusion & folksy bluegrass await at Bridger Brewing

Bridger Brewing is the perfect place to converge, whether for working lunches, quick escapes from campus or happy hour with friends. The uniquely crafted pizzas are meant to be shared – with a cold beer to wash it down, of course! But aside from its award-winning pies and delectable suds, the south-side brewer also hosts Music & Mussels every Wednesday and {Pints with Purpose} on Mondays. Here’s a look at some of the upcoming acts and nonprofits. Wednesday nights from 5:30–8pm, Bridger Brewing hosts Music & Mussels! Enjoy some live music and succulent, steamed mussels with house-made sweet Italian sausage, tomatoes, garlic, and chili flakes, topped with parsley and tomato salsa.

The Vibe Quartet deliver brewery-goers their fine acoustics on Wednesday, September 4th. The improv quartet fuses a variety of instrumental music ranging from jazz standards to original funk numbers and instrumental popular tunes. The group is a Bozeman area favorite and is not to be missed!

The happy hour spot hosts Walcrik on Wednesday, September 11th. Andrew Morehouse and Tim Baucom have been playing and writing together for the better part of a decade, with their debut EP available now. This Bozeman-based folk/bluegrass duo plays original, traditional and cover music.

On Wednesday, September 18th, settle in for a pint and some mussels (or a pie!) with live music courtesy of SlomoJoe. The band is a three-piece rock n’ roll and Americana group featuring a few of Montana’s finest musicians. SlomoJoe is Joe Knapp (guitar), John Sanders (bass), and D. Ruggles (drums). Bridger Brewing also plays host {Pints with Purpose} every Monday night from 5–8pm where $1 of every pint sold will be donated to a featured local nonprofit. Here’s a look at some of the nonprofits on the calendar in the coming weeks. Head over to enjoy a house-brewed pint and be charitable in the process!

Proceeds from Monday, September 2nd will benefit the

Montana Federation of Public Employees. Members of the state’s largest union share a dedication to public service, the people of Montana, and to the professional and economic well-being of our public employees. Learn more at www.mfpe.org.

Aid the efforts of Bridgercare on Monday, September 9th. The local clinic provides excellent, affordable reproductive and sexual healthcare and education in a safe, supportive, empowering atmosphere. Learn more at www.bridgercare.org.

Have a brew and help raise dollars for Touch the Sky Climbing on Monday, September 16th. The local organization provides outdoor climbing opportunities for youth in Bozeman and beyond, fostering personal growth, leadership and teamwork through the problem-solving nature of climbing. Learn more at www.touchtheskyclimbing.org.

Bridger Brewing provides the Bozeman community with unique hand-crafted brews, fresh artisan-style pizzas, and more. Learn more about upcoming events and daily specials at www.bridgerbrewing.com. Bridger is located at 1609 S 11th Ave., just across from the Fieldhouse. # Eagles welcomes Andy Sydow’s Centennial State songcraft, more local bands

A full summer of activities can sure be exhausting! Take a load off at Downtown Bozeman’s Eagles Bar. The local watering hole features drink specials, Friday night BINGO and burgers, as well as regular live music by local musicians and visiting acts. Here’s a look at who’s playing at FOE in the coming weeks.

Guitarist and vocalist Robert Lethert of The Innocents (formerly the Booze Hounds) is first up with a solo show on Wednesday, September 4th beginning at 8pm. Expect to hear a blend of old school country and contemporary Americana. His strong gravelly voice will perfectly complement your evening at the downtown watering hole.

Denver-based Andy Sydow Band visits Bozeman with a pair of Eagles shows on Friday and Saturday, September 6th and 7th. Frontman Andy Sydow can be found touring his richly detailed songwriting, blistering slide guitar playing, and surprising boogie-woogie piano chops in his home state and neighboring region. He’s opened for luminaries Tab Benoit, Delbert McClinton, Dick Dale, Samantha Fish, Dave and Tommy Malone, Chris Duarte, Tinsley Ellis, Bob Margolin, and Johnny Hickman (of Cracker). He has also toured nationally with his band and played at festivals including Jazz Aspen Snowmass and Snowy Range Music Festival. Sydow’s latest album, Reasons for Departure, released last year.

KneeJürk entertains with a stripped-down set on Wednesday, September 11th at 8pm. The supersonic Southwest Montana duo incorporates the big band beat, performing the best toe tappin’ sing-alongs from the ‘60s to now.

Country rockers BlueBelly Junction take the stage Friday and Saturday, September 13th and 14th. The group provides audiences with what they consider “rockabilly music” all over the state of Montana. The high-energy band tends to veer away from slow jams, other than the occasional tune. With an arsenal of originals and personalized covers, the guys will keep you on your feet until last call.

BlueBelly Junction

There’s no better Thirsty Thursday than one with Sunrise Karaoke, setting up at FOE every week at 9pm. Sing your heart out, cheer on your friends and maybe even do a dance number between songs!

Bridger Mountain Big Band performs regularly on Sundays from 7–9:30pm. The 17-piece jazz orchestra celebrates the music of Duke Ellington, Count Basie, and more, with original arrangements and music of all genres from the 1900s to today. Check them out on Facebook for performance announcements.

Eagles Bar live music begins at 9pm, unless otherwise noted. Head downtown to play a game of pool, listen to some great local bands, or stop in for a cold one any day of the week! The Eagles is located at 316 E Main. •

Celebrated violinist returns to native Montana with three special recitals

Acclaimed violinist Gabrielle Wunsch, who grew up in Paradise Valley, is returning to Montana for three exclusive recitals performed under the theme of “Love and Friendship.”

The first recital will be held at Big Sky’s Warren Miller Performing Arts Center on Wednesday, September 4th at 7:30pm. Montana State University will assume hosting duties on Friday, Sept. 6th at 7:30pm in Reynolds Hall. The homecoming tour finalizes with an afternoon performance on Sunday, Sept. 8th at Livingston’s Shane Lalani Center for the Arts at 3pm.

These performances will celebrate the music and the deep friendship shared by Clara and Robert Schumann, Brahms, and the renowned violinist Joachim. Joining Gabrielle are the renowned Germany-based American pianist Bobby Mitchell, who she first met when they were studying at the Royal Conservatory of the Hague in the Netherlands, as well as her husband and trombonist Bruce Chrisp.

Gabrielle Wunsch’s teenage years in Montana had a profound impact. She was deeply inspired by the open spaces and pristine mountains and rivers, benefiting from the community’s commitment to the arts and music. Gabrielle studied with former MSU professor Johan Jonsson, and at age 14 was the youngest member of the Bozeman Symphony Orchestra.

Since leaving Montana in 1993, Gabrielle has studied at premier music conservatories in the United States and Netherlands. She has performed extensively in Europe, Asia, and North America to great acclaim. It has been her years-long dream to return to her Montana roots and share her music and experiences.

The performances also honor the life of Clara Schumann, who was a remarkable and inspiring woman. Frau Schumann had a 61-year career as a concert soloist, supported her family of eight children, composed her own music and even organized her own solo tours – all this at a time when women didn’t have careers. Her beautiful but rarely heard “Three Romances,” as well as music from Robert Schumann, Brahms and Joachim, are featured in these performances.

The relationships of the musicians honored at the recital are profound. When Robert Schumann, who struggled with mental illness, tried to commit suicide and was finally institutionalized, her new friends Brahms and Joachim, who would remain her close friends until her death many years later, all supported her through the difficult time – a great tribute to their “love and friendship,” and the inspiration for the theme of the recitals.

Tickets for all performances are $15, or $10 for seniors and students. For Big Sky’s event, visit www.warrenmillerpac.org. Bozeman tickets are available at <https://www.montana.edu/calendar/music>. Advance admission for the Sunday matinee in Livingston may be secured at www.theshanecenter.org. # Electric rock of Hot Tuna precedes dance-heavy STRFKR at Rialto

Downtown Bozeman's Rialto Theater features loads of fantastic live entertainment for music-lovers this and every month. Here's a look at just a few of the upcoming happenings.

Living legends Hot Tuna will perform on Tuesday, September 10th. Special guests the David Bromberg Quintet will get the music started at 8pm. General admission tickets to this 21+ show are $45. Doors at 7pm.

For more than four decades, Hot Tuna has played, toured and recorded some of the best and most memorable acoustic and electric music ever. Lifelong members, Jorma Kaukonen and Jack Casady, formed this spin-off band in the late '60s after performing avidly with Jefferson Airplane. Fusing a variety of rock styles, free rhythmic techniques, and a collected timbre of instruments is what has identified this band over their 40-plus years of playing.

Portland-based indie electro band STRFKR follow on Wednesday, September 11th. Brazilian artist Das Kope will open at 8pm. Tickets to this all-ages show are $25. Doors at 7pm.

STRFKR will bring selections from their fourth album, Being No One, Going Nowhere, a set of darkly glistening dance songs rife with sticky beats, earworming hooks, philosophical heft, and bittersweet beauty. Founder Joshua Hodges crafted the album with the stage in mind. The live setup includes a custom-made LED wall and homemade light show that syncs with the rhythm of the songs (also, the occasional crowd-surfing astronaut and band-in-drag). Following Being No One, STRFKR delivered Vault, a three-album series of previously unreleased material.

Chicago post-rock trio Russian Circles are set for Saturday, September 14th. Abstract modern art rockers FACS will get the music started at 8pm. Tickets to this all-ages show are $16. Doors at 7pm.

While many bands on the louder end of the rock-based instrumental world are content to work within the confines of the crescendos and washed-out timbres laid out by their predecessors, Russian Circles persistently expand their creative boundaries by working with a wider swath of sounds and structures. The band comes to Bozeman following the August release of Blood Year, their brand new album.

Looking ahead, rising country artist Riley Green will take the stage on Friday, September 20th. Nashville singer/songwriter Travis Denning will kick things off at 8pm. Tickets to this all-ages show are $20. VIP packages available. Doors at 7pm.

Growing up in Alabama, Green was raised on the sounds of traditional country, bluegrass, and Southern gospel music. His 2018 EP, In a Truck Right Now, introduced his mixture of outlaw-rebellion and respect for tradition across four self-penned tracks, including his debut No. 1 hit single "There Was This Girl." Follow-up EP Get That Man a Beer released at the top of summer. Green's new album, Different 'Round Here, will be available Sept. 20 featuring lead single "I Wish Grandpas Never Died."

The Rialto is located at 10 W Main St. in the center of historic Downtown Bozeman. Peruse current happenings and buy advance tickets at www.logjampresents.com/rialto. Follow the Rialto on Facebook and Instagram for the most up to date event announcements. •

Soak up some groovy jazz funk & 'Revved Up Soul' at Hot Springs

The end-of-summer blues are setting in, with few of us ready for the shortened days and cooler temps. Remember the waters of Bozeman Hot Springs when you're looking for a warm-up.

The local destination for residents and visitors is also home to weekly live music from the pool-adjacent stage. Regional and traveling musicians perform on regular Thursday and Sunday nights at 7pm. Here's a look at who's coming up.

Bozeman ten-piece Left on Tenth introduce soakers into a new month on Sunday, September 1st. The jam-funk extravaganza has become one of the most popular bands in Montana with their riveting, high-energy shows. This powerhouse group blends acoustic and electric guitar, sax, trumpet, drums, auxiliary percussion, keys, and bass for a performance of entirely original music. These guys bring the party wherever they perform, and this show is sure to be no exception!

Mathias is back in Four Corners on Thursday, September become a favorite among soakers. On Sunday, September 8th, the Robilatta on guitar, and Chris Naro on drums. This quartet brings a feature a more rocking sound with the full band, creating something for relaxers and rockers alike.

Area favorites Hawthorne Roots are set for another of their trademark soul and energy-filled performances on Sunday, September 15th. Fueled by emotion, their original, "Revved Up Soul" pushes the boundaries of Americana. Featuring excellent vocals, guitars, bass, and drums, Hawthorne Roots bring a whole lot of fun to all their shows. Their Hot Springs show comes fresh off a tour of the Pacific Northwest. Swing out and experience the sister-fronted act for yourselves!

Bozeman Hot Springs is located at 81123 Gallatin Road, just south of Four Corners. Visit www.bozemanhotsprings.com for operating hours, further event details, and fitness membership information. Call (406) 586-6492 with additional questions. •

One of the few artists who's been playing at the Hot Springs since first opening its stage, Mathias has

John Swendseid Group entertains. One of the most talented saxophone players in Bozeman, Swendseid has been gigging for years. Playing with bands such as Cole & the Thornes, Bridger Mountain Band, and Paige & the People, he now has his own jazz quartet that has been performing around town over the last year. With Swendseid on sax, group members include Eddie Tsuru on bass, Alex groovy jazzy funk sound any audience can enjoy.

For anyone wanting to groove, Sundance & the Wilds bring their indie rock sound on Thursday, September 12th. Paired with some intense jam-style sessions, the band has been taking the Bozeman area by storm. This specific show is going to be split into two sets with the first being an acoustic duo by two of the band's members. The second will

Mtns Walking beer & balladeers with Josh Moore, Amanda Stewart

Whether you're a lone taster, in a duo, or part of a larger group, Mountains Walking Brewery is ready to accommodate every variety of suds-lover. Pair the newly released German Pilsner with a wood-fired pizza or other menu item to round out the experience. In addition to the frosty brews and tasty plates, the north-side space features regular live music to entertain guests. Here's a look at who's coming up.

Josh Moore returns with a solo set on Wednesday, September 4th from 6-8pm. The North Carolina native is the lead guitarist for Laney Lou & the Bird Dogs – and croons, too! Moore's solo acoustic show features a healthy blend of originals and covers. Sometimes described as a musically gifted goofball, he'll bring a mix of good-feelin' folk and bluegrass to the brewery.

One half of Americana duo Sweet Sage, Amanda Stewart brings an intimate show to the brewery on Wednesday, September 18th. She performs acoustic, alternative, and country covers – not to mention plenty of her own original music. Grab a brew and enjoy!

‘Sip & SLAM’ features work by MT artists at local libation locations

SLAM (Support Local Artists & Musicians) is proud to present the 5th Annual Sip & SLAM Tour. This is another fun, SLAM-hosted event to celebrate our many talented Montana artists. During the months of September and October, libation locations around Bozeman will host the artistic creations of SLAM artists.

At each of the participating businesses, you can pick up a tour card listing each Sip & SLAM location, artists and special Give Nights. Bring this card with you when you visit the various stops any time throughout these months and get it stamped by the bartender. If you visit all the fabulous host locations on the tour during Sip & SLAM, you can submit your completed card to be entered into a drawing for a special grand prize! Simply leave your fully stamped card at your last stop on the tour.

Sip & SLAM is a great way to sample the fantastic libations made right here in Bozeman, appreciate and buy art from local Montana talent, and support SLAM at the same time! All the artwork on display at the breweries will be available for purchase from the artist, with a percentage going back to support SLAM.

The following host locations, artists, and special Give Nights are part of the 2019 Sip & SLAM Tour:

- Mon, Sept. 16th: Outlaw Brewing (2876 N 27th) hosting SLAM artist Sarah Medeiros with musician Rob Lethert
- Wed, Sept. 18th: Bunkhouse Brewery (1216 W Lincoln) hosting SLAM artist Zach Hoffman with musician Peter Green

Community-centric American Legion hosts live music, BINGO & trivia

Downtown Bozeman’s American Legion is a great place to relax with friends and a cold one any day of the week. They also host area-favorite bands on regular weekends, just in case you’re not feeling like laying low.

GrooveWax brings the entertainment Friday and Saturday, September 6th and 7th. The Gallatin Valley band is comprised of former Jamelution members Cindy Damjanovich, Junior Damjanovich, and Nik Damjanovich, plus SaddleTramp’s Gary Peterson. They play rock, country, and blues.

SlomoJoe is set for Friday and Saturday, September 20th and 21st. The band is a three-piece rock n’ roll and Americana group featuring a few of Montana’s finest musicians. SlomoJoe is Joe Knapp (guitar), John Sanders (bass), and D. Ruggles (drums).

Looking ahead, Cabin Fever take the stage for two lively shows on Friday and Saturday, September 27th and 28th. From Manhattan, the band plays a combination of original music, ‘70s rock, and a wide variety of dance tunes from Dwight-style country to Pink Floyd. This five-piece-plus band showcases strong vocal harmonies and a wide variety of instrumentals. Members include Lonny Walker (rhythm guitar), Steve Loessberg (lead guitar), Larry Greenbaum (bass, lead guitar), Josh Fike (drums), Jon Gerhts (bass guitar), Ross Barrett (percussion), and Lane Quandt (harmonica).

Whether you need to brush up on your favorite songs or have every lyric committed to memory, the Legion hosts Sunrise Karaoke every Monday night beginning at 9pm. There’s no better way to close out the first day in the school or workweek than with Sunrise!

Located at 225 E Main, the American Legion opens at 11am daily with Happy Hour from 4–6pm. Tomaso’s on Main continues to serve Mexican fare and traditional pub food, Tuesday through Saturday from 4:30–8:30pm. Thursdays are Ladies Night with buy one, get one drink specials for the gals starting at 9pm. The Legion also hosts BLINGO on Wednesday nights at 7pm and Trivia Saturdays at 7pm. For more information about upcoming events, visit the Legion Facebook page. Head down and support your local American Legion! As always, all profits go back into the community. •

Red Tractor acts: PermaFunk, one man band Mike Oregano & more

Aside from its expansive menu of unique and design-your-own pies, Red Tractor Pizza also serves as a destination for hungry locals in search of live entertainment.

Complementing its handcrafted rounds and wide selection of regional brews, the local pizzeria plays host to independent musicians and other events throughout the week. Here’s a look at what’s coming up.

Frequent Red Tractor performer Larry Kiff entertains on Tuesday, September 3rd at 7pm. He’s an excellent guitarist and has been a country fan all his life, citing Buck Owens as his number one influence. Expect to hear older country tunes with covers of George Jones, Owens, Johnny Cash, and Charley Pride, just to name a few.

Bridger Creek Boys return to their usual Thursday slot on September 5th at 7pm. The Boys are an acoustic bluegrass quartet steeped in old-time tradition, while also pushing the genre with newgrass. The band blends originals with covers of traditional bluegrass and more contemporary artists. Their style is confident, complex, and full of improvisation that will draw you in and get you shaking all over with bluegrass joy. Bridger Creek Boys will bring additional performances to Red Tractor on September 12th and 19th at 7pm.

On September 6th, Jazz Night takes over Red Tractor, as it does every Friday, at 7pm. Curated by guitarist and composer Alex Robilotta, these evenings feature the music styles of jazz, funk, latin, and more. Come out, get ready to groove, and hear America’s only original art form as it exists and evolves in the 21st century. Additional

Jazz Nights are set for September 13th and 20th at 7pm.

PermaFunk is back on Saturday, September 7th at 7pm. The Bozeman-based group makes instrumental music ranging from jazz standards to original funk numbers and instrumental popular tunes. The group is a Bozeman area favorite and is not to be missed!

Tsunami Funk vocalist and guitarist Luke Flansburg is set for Monday, September 16th at 6:30pm. He’ll bring a wide variety of music ranging from funk to rock to blues. Also a member of Pinky & the Floyd and MOTH, prepare for a fun set of covers and originals that will span the genres.

And on Tuesday, September 17th, Dirk Quinn performs at 7pm. Utilizing over a decade of steady performing, he’s developed a unique and progressive style – one that appeals to a wide variety of music listeners with fans ranging from the jam band hippies to the jazz snobs.

Red Tractor Pizza is located at 1007 W Main in Bozeman. Check out their menu at www.redtractorpizza.com. • music to keep bodies moving and souls grooving! Expect plenty of funky, soulful, psychedelic, and Latin-infused grooves. The band is inspired by the creativity and passion of the 1970s and everyone who participates in the PermaFunk experiment.

Music Monday features East Coast artist Mike Oregano on September 9th at 6:30pm. This one man band performs with a unique reggae/hip-hop/jazz style sure to turn heads. He uses his feet to hit the drums as well as an array of fully intuitive pedal boards complete with loopers, bass splits, synthesizer sounds, and more. He records the rhythm section on the spot, and layers over it with drums, solos, and fills, all while singing, rapping, or talk boxing, and soloing on his guitar simultaneously.

Enjoy a Saturday night dinner with tableside tunes courtesy of the Vibe Quartet on September 14th at 7pm. The improv quartet fuses a variety of

Lyle Lovett back in Montana for one-night-only Emerson show

Tickets are now on sale for Lyle Lovett and His Acoustic Group at Bozeman’s Emerson Center for the Arts & Culture on Friday, September 27th. Presented by ChickenJam West, the music begins at 7pm. Tickets to this all-ages show start at $65 and are available at www.chickenjamwest.com. Doors at 6pm.

A singer, composer and actor, Lyle Lovett has broadened the definition of American music in a career that spans 14 albums. Coupled with his gift for story-telling, the Texas-based musician fuses elements of country, swing, jazz, folk, gospel and blues in a convention-defying manner that breaks down barriers.

Lovett has appeared in 13 feature films, and on stage and television. Among his many accolades, besides the four Grammy Awards, he was given the Americana Music Association’s inaugural Trailblazer Award, and was recently named the Texas State Musician. Garden & Gun called Lovett “one of America’s most beloved singer/songwriters,” and he was featured in the coveted “What I’ve Learned” column in Esquire.

His latest album, Release Me, went to #1 for several weeks on the Americana charts. Produced by Nathaniel Kunkel and Lovett, the collection represents the end of an era as it was his last record for Curb/Universal Music Group after being on the label for his entire career. Release Me is quintessential Lyle, mixing a smart collection of originals and songs written by some of his favorite songwriters that show not only the breadth of this Texas legend’s deep talents, but also the diversity of his influences, making him one of the most infectious and fascinating musicians in popular music.

Since his self-titled debut in 1986, Lyle Lovett has evolved into one of music’s most vibrant and iconic performers. His oeuvre, rich and eclectic, is one of the most beloved of any living artist working today. •

Sol Seed, Gypsy songstress Eilen Jewell among Filler shows

ChickenJam West presents Pacific Northwest genre-benders Sol Seed at the Filling Station on Thursday, September 5th at 8:30pm. Tickets to this 21+ show are $7 in advance and $10 at the door. Doors at 7:30pm.

Born of the woods, rivers and waterfalls of Oregon, reggae-fusion group Sol Seed sports diverse vocal styles, an eclectic sonic playbook and ethereal world music influences. Sporting a spectrum of musical tastes, Sol Seed flips between genre influences such as rock, soul and hip-hop over a solid reggae backbone. Committing themselves to tending a fellowship between performer and listener, the audience becomes a part of the music, creating a unique and unforgettable live experience, centered in a space of the heart. The Spark, their latest full-length, and new single “Shades of Green” are available now. Acclaimed songstress Eilen Jewell follows on Friday, September 6th at 8pm. Tickets to this 21+ show are $15 in advance and $20 at the door. Doors at 7pm.

As the reigning Queen of the Minor Key, Jewell leads a tight quartet that blends influences of surf-noir, early blues, classic country, folk, and 1960s-era rock n’ roll. For well over a decade, they’ve toured relentlessly for legions of fans from Boston to Boise and Madrid to Melbourne, playing large festivals, theaters, rock clubs, and coffeehouses. The group has shared stages with the likes of Lucinda Williams, Loretta Lynn, Mavis Staples, Wanda Jackson, George Jones, Emmylou Harris, and Blind Boys of Alabama. Eilen’s fans have marveled at her warmth and onstage humor alongside her beautiful songs and fiery performances. In addition to six of her own full-length albums, Jewell has released two albums with her country-gospel side project, the Sacred Shakers; a tribute album to Loretta Lynn titled Butcher Holler; and a recent album of rare blues covers,

Down Hearted Blues. Her brand new release, Gypsy, is available now.

Experience Pato Banton on Monday, September 9th at 8pm. Tickets to this 21+ show are $12 in advance and $15 at the door. Doors at 7pm.

Positive vibrations abound with a beat to keep you on your dancing feet, while Pato delivers a message that’s food for the mind and soul. Many have considered his charismatic performance as live theatre with no show alike and the audience serving as participants in the experience. Pato dialogues with the crowd on a range of topics including current day events and spiritual freedom while keeping the vibes upbeat and fun. The direction of the concert is totally based on the feedback Pato receives from the audience, as there is no fixed set list. Many have said that the positivity generated from the stage has changed their lives.

Bozeman’s Lazy Owl String Band teams up with the Bay Area-based Dusty Green Bones Band on Wednesday, September 11th at 8pm. Tickets to this 21+ show are $7 in advance and $10 at the door. Doors at 7pm.

A diverse group of musicians, the Lazy Owls’ influences range from jazz and blues to punk rock. However varied their influences, they’re undeniably steeped in an old-timey traditional style. The group encapsulates an ethic of hard driving, whiskey drinking, boot-stomping music with infectious energy that’s sure to get you moving. The band’s repertoire is heavily rooted in original material that pays homage to the tradition from which it was begotten.

A five-piece electric newgrass group, Dusty Green Bones take musical styles from a wide variety of genres and mix them with the high energy of hard-driving bluegrass, creating a purely organic sound. Their music aims to expand the authentic complexity of traditional bluegrass by layering ancient tones with improvisation and rock n’ roll.

Looking ahead, singer/songwriters Martha Scanlan and Jon Neufeld bring a show on Friday, September 20th at 8pm. Tickets to this 21+ show are $12 in advance and $15 at the door. Doors at 7pm.

Anyone familiar with Scanlan and frequent collaborator Jon Neufeld’s unique alchemy on stage will not be surprised by the sense of being taken into the moment – their shows are in themselves a journey of improvisation; the way Neufeld’s brilliant innovative guitar playing weaves effortlessly around Scanlan’s timeless songwriting is simply magical. This magical alchemy is at play throughout The River and the Light, released last fall. The album presents some of her finest writing yet, and what has earned her the loyal cult following that seems to be steadily growing in spite of, or perhaps because of, her tendency to spend time off the grid rather than on it.

Neufeld’s production on the album, his ability to add layers and depth while maintaining the raw vulnerability of everything happening in the moment, is masterful. The addition of haunting old time fiddles and Cajun accordion of celebrated roots musician Dirk Powell and Black Prairie’s Annalisa Tornfelt seem to invoke something ancient, something deep in the American psyche in songs that are already layered with the complexity of belonging; this is not only a journey of the soul but a journey of the times we are living in.

Advance tickets for these Filling Station and other upcoming shows are available in-store at Cactus Records and www.cactus-records.net. For more information, visit www.chickenjamwest.com.

Songwriters Jesse Dayton, Belle Plaine are Live from Peach Street

It’s all about the music at Live From The Divide. The intimate performance space celebrates the lineage and contemporary voice of the American Roots singer/songwriter, featuring talent from all over the country. Here’s a look at a few of the upcoming acts.

Revered guitarist, singer/songwriter and filmmaker Jesse Dayton will perform on Tuesday, September 3rd at 9pm. Tickets are $30 plus fees. Doors at 8pm.

Dayton visits in support of newly released Mixtape Volume 1, a collection featuring deeper cuts by legendary artists infused with the Lone Star State native’s Texas/Louisiana-influenced style. Through his decades-spanning career, Dayton has become one of the music industry’s best kept secrets and valuable weapons with a sound that blends rock, blues, old school country, punk-rock and zydeco. On Mixtape, he offers his own reinterpretations of songs from iconic artists including Neil Young, Elton John, ZZ Top and more.

Over the years Dayton has developed into a true Renaissance man, performing as a guitarist for a range of artists including Waylon Jennings, Johnny Cash, Ryan Bingham, Duff McKagen and seminal L.A. punk band X. He has toured with the likes of Social Distortion, The Supersuckers and John Doe, written soundtracks for three Rob Zombie films, wrote and directed his own film and just signed a publishing deal to write a memoir. With more than 50 songs licensed to film and television, 11 studio albums and one EP, Dayton is a gifted, intelligent, socially conscious and unstoppable creative force who continues to tour nearly 250 days a year. After three decades as a jack of all trades, while hiding in plain sight and working with a who’s who of artists, Dayton now enters a new chapter focused primarily on his own career. Read the BoZone’s interview with Dayton at www.BoZone.com.

Canadian singer/songwriter Belle Plaine brings a show to Bozeman with the help of musician husband Blake Berglund on Saturday, September 7th at 9pm. Tickets are $25 plus fees. Doors at 8pm.

The ingenuity, lonesome yearning and collaborative work ethic of country life has infiltrated Plaine’s songwriting, sound and methods. Her reverence for artists who defy categorization has led her to create a brand of roots music that combines vintage blues and swing tones of the 1940s with classic country styles made popular in the heyday of the Grand Ole Opry. Plaine’s latest album Malice, Mercy, Grief & Wrath highlights her tremendous voice and prodigious songwriting abilities, and showcases her varied musical influences from Link Wray and the Everly Brothers, to Cole Porter and Neko Case. While the album contemplates the ephemeral nature of life, it also manages to address themes that are persistently unfolding in our lives: forgiveness, redemption and hope.

Texan folkster James Steinle is set for Friday, September 20th at 8pm. Tickets are $25 plus fees. Doors at 7pm.

Based in Austin, the songwriter’s tunes take aim at topics such as Western decay, urban angst, faded love, and what he calls “typical county country” fare. His eclectic upbringing, spending large portions of his childhood in Saudi Arabia and Germany, aid in his unique worldview and subsequent song subject matter. Steinle has shared the stage with fellow Americana acts such as Bruce Robison and Kelly Willis, John Baumann, Jonny Burke, Michael Martin Murphey, Mike & the Moonpies, Jamie Lin Wilson, and Rodney Hayden. His recent album South Texas Homecoming was followed this summer by a live release, Live at Hole in the Wall.

Future Live performances include Granville Automatic, Jason Hawk Harris, Tylor & the Train Robbers, Gurf Morlix and Emily Scott Robinson, among others.

Tickets are sold at the door, but these small shows are known to sell out quickly! Advance tickets are available at [www.livefromthedi- vide.com](http://www.livefromthedi- vide.com) where you can also find a complete list of upcoming shows. The Live studio is located at 627 E. Peach St. in Bozeman. •

Groove to Hooligans at Library’s final ‘Music on the Green’

Bozeman Public Library Foundation’s 2019 ‘Music on the Green’ Summer Concert Series wraps with local veteran Americana rockers The Hooligans on Sunday, September 15th. Enjoy great music, get up and dance, and sample snacks from local food vendors. The concert will be held on the Library’s Front Plaza from 5–7pm. Open to all.

Formed in 1990, Hooligans are Bozeman’s longest running roots rock/Americana/blues/jam band. Hooligans are inspired by the improv-driven music of the San Francisco scene as well as early folk, blues, and great rock n’ roll. Prepare to hear tunes from the likes of Bob Marley, Muddy Waters, John Hiatt, Grateful Dead, Traffic, Bob Dylan, Hot Tuna, Van Morrison, and The Band, as well as a handful of originals. The Hooligans’ album Beggars & Thieves is available now.

Additional acts this season have included PermaFunk and Laney Lou & the Bird Dogs. Thanks to all who helped make this year’s ‘Music on the Green’ another success. Until next summer, Bozeman!

Arts Council to host 4th annual ‘Mountainfilm in Big Sky’ event

The Arts Council of Big Sky is bringing a little bit of Telluride to Big Sky in September when it presents its fourth annual Mountainfilm in Big Sky event, featuring a selection of documentary films from the world-renowned Telluride Mountainfilm Festival that will be screening at various Big Sky venues.

The event will be held Friday through Sunday, September 13th–15th and includes the kick-off feature film, The Weight of Water, at the Warren Miller Performing Arts Center on Friday night. A free “Moutainfilm for Families” event and ticketed evening gathering featuring documentary shorts will both take place Saturday at Lone Peak Cinema. And following the “Town to Trails Run” on Sunday, a complimentary outdoor screening of various films takes over Town Center Park. Further details, advance tickets for the paid events, and race registration information can be found at www.bigskyarts.org.

The Weight of Water showcases the grand kayaking adventure of Erik Weihenmayer. After becoming the first blind climber to summit Mt. Everest, Weihenmayer turned his focus to an entirely different kind of challenge: He learned to kayak, and decided to attempt to paddle the length of the Colorado River through the Grand Canyon. It was the next chapter in Weihenmayer’s quest for presence, independence and self-agency – things hard to achieve without sight. As Water chronicles, the trip was much more than an adventure athlete notching another accomplishment in his belt.

Weihenmayer joins a team of guides and new friends – including fellow blind kayaker Lonnie Bedwell, an absolute inspiration in his own right – on an emotionally weighted journey down one of America’s most iconic canyons. As they paddle, they confront loss, fear and anxiety. They exemplify what people can achieve and overcome – through selflessness, teamwork and courage. And they let the river unlock its priceless lessons. The result is a triumph.

Each year, Mountainfilm on Tour brings a selection of culturally rich, adventure-packed and incredibly inspiring documentary films curated from the Mountainfilm festival held every Memorial Day weekend in Telluride, Colorado. The films explore the themes connected to Mountainfilm’s mission: using the power of film, art and ideas to inspire audiences to create a better world. Mountainfilm began in 1979 and is one of America’s longest-running film festivals, and this is the fourth year the Arts Council has brought the tour event to Big Sky.

RFID scanning technology makes Big Sky ski day even more seamless

Gone are the days of paper tickets, removing gloves, and fumbling with lanyards to present a ticket or pass to load the chairlifts at Big Sky. This summer, Big Sky Resort will install Axess smart gates equipped with Radio Frequency Identification (RFID) technology at select lifts that serve as access points to the mountain. RFID allows your ticket or season pass to be scanned from inside your pocket, keeping your hands warm and your ski day smooth.

Starting in the 2019-2020 ski season, all winter lift tickets and season pass products will be loaded on to a Sky Card equipped with RFID technology. RFID gates will be installed at select access lifts that will automatically open with active media.

“RFID technology allows for a guest-friendly lift ticket and season pass process, making it easier than ever to load lifts and add additional days to your pass without visiting the ticket window,” says Troy

Nedved, vice president of mountain services, Big Sky Resort.

All Sky Card media will be electronically reloadable for added guest convenience. Once guests have a Sky Card, days can be reloaded online, eliminating the need to visit the ticket window to update passes or lift tickets.

Established in 1973, Big Sky Resort is located in the Northern Rockies of Southwest Montana between Bozeman and Yellowstone National Park. Big Sky Resort is the Biggest Skiing in America with 5,800+ acres offering an average of two acres per skier and 4,350 vertical drop. # BOBCATS POISED TO REJOIN THE RANKS OF THE NATION'S ELITE - 2019 BOBCAT PREVIEW

by Danny Waldo

In 2018, the Montana State football team enjoyed their most successful season under current head coach Jeff Choate, but they ended the year hungry for more and enter 2019 with soaring expectations.

2018 Recap

The 2018 season kicked off under the lights on a beautiful August night versus an experienced Western Illinois squad out of the Missouri Valley Conference in MSU's annual Gold Rush game. Head coach Jeff Choate had been hyping the game all offseason as a test to see how his 'Cats stood up against a talented team out of one of the most powerful conferences in the FCS.

Montana State was breaking in a new starting quarterback in sophomore Troy Andersen who had moved from running back to under center after previous starter Chris Murray was ruled ineligible for the 2018 campaign. As expected, the Bobcats got off to a slow start, falling behind by a touchdown at the break, but they would come roaring back in the second half to steal a hard-fought opening night victory, and the season was under way.

Over the course of the next two months, the Bobcat season ebbed and flowed from impressive victories to head-scratching defeats, and as the calendar turned to November, MSU's record sat at 4-4, and Bobcats appeared poised to extend their streak of no postseason play to four years.

But in a blink of an eye, the season flipped. The Bobcats suddenly caught fire, reeling off three consecutive victories, including their third in a row over the rival Montana Grizzlies in one of the most exciting and miraculous finishes in the history of the Brawl of the Wild, and out of nowhere, MSU snuck into the FCS playoffs with an at-large berth on the strength of a 7-4 record.

MSU would go on to earn their first win in the FCS playoffs since 2012, defeating Incarnate Word in the opening round, before seeing their season come to an end at the hands of the eventual national champions, North Dakota State, losing in the Fargo Dome 52-10.

The loss in North Dakota set the Bobcats on the path to improvements for 2019. The first major shakeup came in the coaching ranks, as Bobcat defensive coordinator Ty Gregorak resigned from his post after three seasons, and longtime Bobcat assistant and former All-American,

Kane Ioane, was hired back from the University of Washington, where he had spent the past two seasons as a defensive quality control analyst.

Matt Miller, who had been handed offensive coordinator duties in October and was a major part of the Bobcats' resurgence, was made the permanent OC, while 2017 offensive coordinator Brian Armstrong returned to coaching the offensive line, and Erik Frazier was brought in from Western Illinois to coach receivers and become the passing game coordinator.

Season Preview

With the coaching staff retooled and a number of key players returning on both the offensive and defensive sides of the ball, the Montana State Bobcats should be right in the thick of a heated race for the Big Sky Conference title in 2019. The Big Sky Conference was one of the toughest conferences in the nation last season, a year in which four members were invited to the postseason, and one, Eastern Washington, made it all the way to the national championship game.

The league should be just as competitive again in 2019 with several stars returning for co-league champions Weber State, Eastern Washington and UC-Davis, which returns preseason First Team All-American quarterback Jake Maier, who guided UC-Davis to their first FCS quarterfinal berth in program history.

With all of the talent returning, MSU could only muster a preseason prediction of a fourth-place finish in the league, but the Bobcats returned to the preseason FCS poll, earning a No. 14 prediction in the Hero Sports preseason poll. But predictions are just that, and with a talented pool of players of their own, including Mr. Do Everything, Troy Andersen, the Bobcats are intent on crashing the party in Frisco, Texas, site of the FCS national championship, come January.

Offense

Montana State will look to be a more balanced offense in 2019 after three straight seasons of run-heavy, smashmouth football. Not that the Bobcats will get away from their bread and butter after boasting one of the most successful running games in the conference the past three years, but with a more prototypical quarterback under center this season, expect the 'Cats to fling it around more than they have in the past.

The Bobcats will start their fourth different quarterback to open the season after Troy Andersen switched to the defensive side of the ball. Physical specimen, Casey Bauman, a 6'7, 230 lb. behemoth will assume the reins of the Bobcat offense after beating out Tucker Roving in a tightly contested competition during Fall Camp.

Bauman, a redshirt freshman, has seen very little action since arriving in Bozeman, but he boasts the physical tools to make the Bobcats more dynamic on offense, with a cannon arm and more than adequate speed. In his senior season of high school, Bauman threw for 27 touchdowns and ran for another 15 more. Although he doesn't bring a lot of experience, he has several weapons around him to take the pressure off his shoulders, starting at the running back position.

MSU returns one of the most electrifying rushers in the league in sophomore Isaiah Ifanse, who recorded one of the most successful freshman seasons in Bobcat history. As a freshman, Ifanse ran for 1025 yards and seven touchdowns, while adding another 106 yards receiving and one touchdown.

But as successful as Ifanse was, he's not the most dangerous ballcarrier the Bobcats boast. That title belongs to junior Troy Andersen. Last season, Andersen rushed for 1,412 yards and 21 scores from the quarterback position. And although he has switched to linebacker entering the 2019 campaign, head coach Jeff Choate has made it known that Andersen will still have a role on offense as well.

On the outside, the Bobcats return ultra-productive receiver Kevin Kassis, the 'Cats leading pass-catcher from a year ago. In 2018, Kassis hauled in 55 passes for 663 yards and three touchdowns. Travis Jensen switched from quarterback to receiver last season and ended the year on a high note after posting a 100-yard receiving game versus the Grizzlies; he is one of the most explosive athletes on the Bobcat roster and should see more balls coming his way this season. The Bobcats will also be looking to get more production out of fellow receiver Lance McCutcheon, who is primed for a breakout season.

The offensive line should be strong once again, anchored by senior Mitch Brott and fellow returnees Lewis Kidd and Taylor Tuiasosopo.

Defense

With the return of Kane Ioane as defensive coordinator, the Bobcats are hoping to return to their glory days of early 2000s when MSU boasted one of the stingiest defenses in the country. Fortunately for Ioane, he has some studs to make the dream become a reality.

On the defensive line, MSU welcomes Jason Scrempas, a 6'6 299 lb. transfer from the University of Washington. He could partner with fellow Washington transfers Bryce Sterk and Amandre Williams to form a formidable front for the Bobcat defense. Sterk was one of the most productive defensive players in the league last season, and Williams brings FBS ability to the defensive line as well.

Linebacker could just as easily be the Bobcats strongest position group with the return of Josh Hill from an injury-filled 2018 season, as well as the transition of Troy Andersen to the position he was originally recruited to fill. Chad Kanow and Michael Jobman also add experience to the middle of the Bobcat defense, and several younger players are eager to prove themselves at the position as well.

The back end of the Bobcat defense should be a strength as well. Greg Filer III, Brayden Konkol, Jojo Henderson and Jahque Alleyne all return to anchor the Bobcat secondary. Alleyne led the team in interceptions last season. Tyrel Thomas is also back after making big contributions during his first two seasons in Bozeman.

Special Teams

Tristan Bailey returns to handle the kicking duties after making 14 of 19 attempts, including a 50-yarder in the Bobcats' season-opening victory over Western Illinois. He will be aided in the kicking game by the return of punter Jerod Padmos. Padmos earned Second Team All-Big Sky in 2017 after averaging 42.5 yards per punt.

The Bobcats got a taste of success in the postseason for the first time under Choate last season, their first tangible proof that his blueprint for the program is coming to fruition, and as they say, success breeds success. With that kind of optimism, Bobcat fans should expect big things from the 'Cats in 2019. •

Some of us already have that ski season itch! This is Montana, after all. Bridger Bowl is now offering 2019-‘20 season passes at a discounted rate through October 15th. Enjoy unlimited skiing all season with no black-out dates with the purchase of a season pass. Early purchase rates are as follows: $750 for adults (25-69), $700 for young adults (19-24), $415 for juniors (13-18), and $195 for children (7-12). Adult Midweek Season Passes (19-69) are also available for $420. This will grant access to unlimited skiing Monday through Friday all season, with $63 weekend tickets. Purchase season passes, upload pass photos, and sign electronic agreements all online and ship for FREE via FedEx. Be “on-line” rather than “in-line.” Go straight to the lifts on opening day!

The season pass office will also be open October 5th–6th from 10am–3pm during the Bridger Raptor Festival. From November 7th–23rd, season pass office hours are Thursday through Saturday from 11am–4:30pm.

The annual Raptor Fest returns Friday through Sunday, October 4th–6th. Events are FREE and open to the public. Raptor Fest centers on the largest known Golden Eagle migration in the United States. A raptor migration count takes place every fall at the top of the Ridge. Festival activities are set to include live bird talks, nature walks, and educational and entertaining programs for people of all ages. A festival-goer favorite Oktober Fest event featuring live music, food, and beer will take place in Jim Bridger Lodge. Get the full schedule of weekend events at www.bridgerraptorfest.org.

The ski area is located on the east slope of the Bridger Mountain Range. For season pass information and upcoming event details, visit www.bridgerbowl.com. See you on the slopes! •

Spanish Peaks, Moonlight announce new partnership with famed skier Bode Miller

Big Sky Community welcomes the most decorated U.S. skier and top U.S. Olympic skier of all time to Montana

Lone Mountain Land Company, the owners of Spanish Peaks Mountain Club and Moonlight Basin, along with the Big Sky Real Estate Company in Big Sky, Montana, are proud to announce a new long-term partnership with American alpine skier and six-time Olympic medalist, Bode Miller.

Miller and his wife, Morgan are setting up a new home in the pristine, yet rugged landscape of Spanish Peaks Mountain Club.

“This part of the Rocky Mountains is just remarkable, and the Big Sky community is really vibrant and growing,” Miller said. “More importantly, the people here are genuine, friendly, and seem to have a spirit of independence and grit that really harmonizes with mine. Everyone who chooses to live here is looking for a mountain town culture, which Big Sky provides. I’m looking to be a part of that with my family.”

Miller will work with and represent Spanish Peaks Mountain Club and Moonlight Basin on many fronts, from events to promotions, and will be part of the leadership team going forward. “There’s no one like Bode Miller in the skiing world and we couldn’t be prouder to be partnering with him,” Matt Kidd said, Managing Director at Cross Harbor Capital and Lone Mountain Land Company. “Bode is a remarkable athlete who already occupies ‘legend’ status. He’s talented in so many ways, yet his humility, friendliness, and approachability make him a natural fit for our organization, as well as the community of Big Sky.”

As Miller integrates into the Big Sky community, a great number of programs are being developed and will be announced at a later date.

“We love our home in California, yet we are drawn to the mountains and the mountain lifestyle. My love of skiing has only been enhanced through time on the snow with my family,” Miller said. “The mountains here feature world-class pitches as well as family friendly terrain, which is perfect for my entire family. The year-round activities are awesome, from fly fishing world-renown waters to golfing the internationally acclaimed courses at Spanish Peaks Mountain Club and The Reserve at Moonlight Basin, Montana is never lacking in options, all of which are almost incomparable.”

Miller has already been welcomed to the area by many in the Big Sky community, including a morning workout session with local youth competitive skiers, which he seeks to engage with and advance over the coming years.

“It is Bode’s skiing accomplishments that draw so many people to him initially, but what so many have found intriguing and endearing is his passion for the sport and his interests in inspiring the next generation of skiers from this area,” Matt Kidd said. “He has a profound sense of caring about young skiers and their development. We look forward to supporting his interests and focus further.” •

Emerson welcomes Eduardo Garcia for Charged screening & discussion

Leadership Montana will host a “Lessons in Leadership” event featuring a screening of Charged followed by a discussion with the film’s subject, Eduardo Garcia. The evening will begin at 5:30pm on Wednesday, September 18th at the Emerson Center for the Arts & Culture.

Eduardo Garcia was a chef with a passion for the outdoors. On a solitary trek in the Montana wilderness, he came upon a dead bear, and when he touched the bear, he was unexpectedly hit with 2,400 volts of electricity from a nearby power line. Garcia was rushed to the hospital with severe injuries to his head, arms, ribcage and other parts of the body. Eventually his left hand was amputated, and several other surgeries kept him in the hospital for almost two months. As he recovered, he was diagnosed with testicular cancer and underwent chemotherapy along with his physical rehabilitation.

It’s something of a mystery as to why some people survive these trials and others may be destroyed. But the film is far from a one-dimensional glorification of a survivor. Garcia’s background is fascinating and complex. Charged is a survival story built on the foundations of love and forgiveness, but it is about more than just surviving. It is about building stronger relationships and a better life after tragedy. It is about finding your best self so you can live life fully charged.

You don’t want to miss this special screening of the award-winning documentary followed by a conversation with Garcia. Lessons in Leadership is part of The Confluence, a signature event of Leadership Montana. General admission tickets are $25, with discounted student tickets available for $10. Register in advance at www.leadershipmontana.org.

A collaboration of leaders from business, labor, healthcare, education, nonprofit, and government coming together to form a strong partnership for the betterment of our state, Leadership Montana offers participants a program that strengthens leadership skills while fostering personal growth and reflection. Participants gain a deeper awareness of issues affecting Montana all while building powerful and personal connections with their classmates and network of committed alumni. Learn how to apply to the program through the Leadership Montana website. •
