Emerson features paint works & photography

The Emerson Center for the Arts & Culture is pleased to host its newest shows featuring emerging artists from our community.

Montana-born multidisciplinary artist Jessie Moore showcases Finding, an array of her work, in the Jessie Wilber Gallery.

The show is a simple celebration of finding things, beautiful and satisfying. With this collection, Moore hopes to honor the pleasure of encountering things that strike a spark inside of viewers. Over the last few years, she has traveled around the open spaces and abandoned places of Montana, collecting both images with her Hasselblad film camera, as well as tangible things left behind, in creation of these pieces.

“I wanted to bring the photographs to life with the framing and the found objects incorporated into the final pieces,” she says. “I feel it lightens them up and brings some dimension and interactivity to them.”

Brazilian paint artist Bruna Massadas unveils Mountain Pose in the Weaver Room.

The exhibition was born from visual mantras: I am a mountain. I am solid. I am grounded. After many dramatic changes in Massadas’ life, including the birth of her son, mantras like these have helped with coping in a world of impermanence.

“The term ‘mountain pose’ has two meanings,” she describes. “In one sense, it’s the name of a grounded position I often use when I’m seeking a brief moment of meditative silence.

In another sense, the imagined mountains in these paintings are posing for me: much like sitters for a portrait, they have stilled themselves in my mind so I could capture them. These paintings are portraits of the quietest parts of my consciousness.”

New Objectives showing in the Emerson Lobby is an exhibition by photographer Steven B. Jackson.

“I have a long fascination with the meanings we ascribe to objects,” he says. “The selection and arrangement of objects in my work is an exploration of ideas and experiences through a process of formal and conceptual constructions. Photography and digital technologies provide me with a means of collecting and manipulating the elements of my artistic process.

“Current works begin with sketches, studio assemblage, scans and digital camera images that evolve over several days or months through collecting, arrangement, juxtaposition and digital manipulation. During this camera, studio and computer process, ideas evolve conceptually, striving for a balance of object, idea and aesthetic improvisation.”

All exhibits are open to the public, on display through February 23rd. For gallery hours and more information, please visit www.thememerson.org. Located at 111 S Grand Ave., the Emerson Center for the Arts & Culture serves as a primary resource for the arts, arts education, and cultural activities in Southwest Montana. •

HRDC’s new campus on north side of Bozeman

The new facility greatly improves HRDC’s ability to meet customer needs more efficiently and effectively

Opening its doors early last month, the new HRDC @ Market Place is designed to provide food and nutrition support, along with many other supportive services, to community members who are struggling to make ends meet.

Market Place was developed out of a broader strategy to provide services from a single, purpose-designed location while at the same time improving operational efficiency.

Whether individuals and households are facing food or housing insecurity, need assistance with their energy bills, wish to register their children for preschool, or to access senior services, all this and more is now possible during one visit to HRDC.

Heather Grenier, HRDC’s President and CEO, recently shared her gratitude for the community-wide backing Market Place has received, “We are incredibly grateful for the generous supporters of HRDC’s Community Commons Capital Campaign. As we begin this new chapter, we remain humbled by the work that we do, the people that we serve, and the community we are so fortunate to be part of.”

As the service hub for HRDC, Market Place now houses HRDC’s pay-what-you-can Fork & Spoon restaurant which is open to the public for evening dinner service and offers a well-stocked freezer full of popular take-and-bake meals as well as catering services. The restaurant’s commercial kitchen features all the essential features of a modern restaurant and is available to rent after hours for food production businesses.

Through the main entrance of the building, a spacious reception area greets incoming guests and includes private customer meeting rooms, a workstation with public computers, and an inviting children’s area.

Also sharing space on the main floor of the building is HRDC’s Gallatin Valley Food Bank, a market like any other where shoppers roam freely with their carts as they select from fresh produce, meats, and dairy items, as well as shelves filled with a wide selection of nonperishable items.

Rounding out the main floor is a regional food warehouse designed to support numerous food banks while also providing plentiful storage for emergency situations.

The upstairs houses HRDC’s staff and features a community kitchen within a large meeting room designed for teaching cooking and nutrition classes. In addition to serving HRDC’s customers, this space will be made available for use by many of HRDC’s partner organizations across Gallatin Valley.

“I’m so excited to be part of the team that helped steward this project through every stage of its design and construction. Our community is going to benefit greatly for decades to come with the significant boost this facility provides us in our efforts to combat hunger in Gallatin Valley and beyond,” said Jill Holder, Food and Nutrition Director for HRDC.

Market Place is a no-barrier facility, and all are welcome through its doors – including to enjoy evening meals together at Fork & Spoon restaurant. Community members who need help are encouraged to learn more about HRDC’s services, and those who wish to help are encouraged to sign up to volunteer their time or to make a financial donation to help ensure everyone in our community is supported as they seek to achieve stability in their lives.

As a private, not-for-profit Community Action Organization focused on building a better community through its nearly 50 initiatives, HRDC combats poverty in Southwestern Montana and believes everyone deserves the opportunity to be financially stable.

The new HRDC campus is located in the Community Commons at 206 E Griffin Dr. Donors, volunteers, and community members can find out what we have in common at www.thehrdc.org. •

Winter adventures subject of locally filmed doc phy capture the struggles, victories, unsurpassed work ethic, and unbreakable spirit of some of the state’s most renowned athletes in a sport where seconds determine the outcome of a career.

The film features notable athletes Eric Bergoust, Heather McPhie, Maggie Voisin, Darian Stevens, Bryon Wilson and Brad Wilson, following the sport’s rise in Montana from early competitions in the 1980s through the 2019 FIS World Championships.

Continuing its latest season of screening independent features, documentaries, local films and vintage classics, doors open at 6:30pm with screenings to follow at 7pm. Three screenings are set for January 12th and 13th, with an opening showing on Friday at 7pm followed by a 1pm matinee and additional 7pm show on Saturday.

Banff Centre Mountain Film and Book Festival is the largest, and one of the most prestigious, mountain festivals in the world. Hot on the heels of the festival held every fall in Banff, Canada, the Banff Centre Mountain Film Festival World Tour hits the road. With stops planned in over 600 communities and more than 40 countries across the globe, the Banff World Tour celebrates amazing achievements in outdoor storytelling and filmmaking worldwide.

BFS spotlights resiliency of celebrated ski mountaineers

Bozeman Film Society kicks off a new calendar year with another presentation of independent film under the Big Sky. Mid-month, Full Circle lights up the Ellen screen at 7pm on Wednesday, January 17th.

Winner of the Grand Prize Award at Banff Film Festival, the film follows Trevor Kennison on a path towards post-traumatic growth with Barry Corbett, 50 years after Corbett’s own injury. Kennison, who injured his spine attempting a 40-foot ski jump in 2014, mirrors their stories, connected through time and space by common locations and motifs – injuries in the Colorado backcountry, rehab at Craig Hospital, fame in Jackson Hole – but also through their shared resiliency and refusal to let their zeal for life be limited by their injuries.

Corbet, who died in 2004, shows that growth after spinal cord injury is possible for everyone, not just adaptive athletes – his legacy paving the way for Kennison’s superhuman feats. Six years after his accident, he returns to the site of his accident in the Colorado backcountry with the goal of landing the world’s first double backflip on a sit-ski, the culmination of his own personal growth and reinvention.

“Full Circle is a storytelling feat – a must-see movie that will push your understanding of what it means to be an athlete.” – Sofia

Jaramillo, National Geographic

Mark your calendars for the return of the always popular Oscar Nominated Shorts. The annual event will be held Saturday and Sunday, February 24th and 25th. Stay tuned for details as the nominees for the 96th Academy Awards are announced late this month.

Full Circle screens at 7pm on Jan. 17th at the Ellen. Reserved tickets are $13.50 for adults, with discounted admission available for seniors and students. Wine, beer and concessions will be available prior to the screenings.

Doc Series highlights impactful art & healing

On Thursday, January 4th, at the Emerson Center for the Arts & Culture, Bozeman Doc Series presents the Montana premiere of the critically acclaimed new documentary, Tehachapi. The screening begins at 7pm.

Over three years, French photographer and artist JR developed a large-scale artwork in a maximum-security prison in California in collaboration with those incarcerated at the institution. Well-known for his collages and giving a voice to the marginalized and unseen, JR is also the co-director of the Academy Award-nominated Faces Places with Agnès Varda. Questioning the limits of the US prison system, Tehachapi is a rare, illuminating and moving feature documentary, showing how art can be a decisive means to reintegration and rehabilitation.

Tehachapi world-premiered at the prestigious Telluride Film Festival to widespread critical acclaim.

“Uplifting... only the hardest of hearts will remain unmoved by the passion and compassion that JR brings to this ambitious, inclusive, hope-driven project.” – Film Verdict

Following at 7pm on Thursday, January 18th, the Doc Series continues with the Montana premiere of one of the most critically-acclaimed and award-winning new documentaries of the year, Smoke Sauna Sisterhood. It screens at 7pm.

The smoke sauna tradition known as “savvusanna kombõ” is one of connecting family and friends to cleanse body and soul inside a place of peace and contemplation. Tucked in a lush green forest in southern Estonia, a group of women gather in the safe darkness of a smoke sauna to share their innermost thoughts and secrets. Enveloped by a warm, dense heat, they bare all to expel fears and shame trapped in their bodies and regain their strength.

Smoke Sauna Sisterhood world-premiered at this year’s Sundance Film Festival where it won the Directing Award in the World Cinema Documentary category and went on to win the Best Documentary prize at the European Film Awards.

“There is such raw emotional intimacy in this dazzling documentary... This is a film that weaves a spell, the camera resting often not on the woman talking but on the person listening to her, thereby creating the impression of a universal experience of women.” – The Guardian

Doors open at 6:30pm. Tickets are available at the door or before the show online at www.bozemandocseries.org, where you can also buy Season Passes and 7-film punch cards, learn more about the series, and view trailers for upcoming films. The series will continue every other week through April. •

Yellowstone's winter season begins – what to know

From Yellowstone Public Affairs

The winter season in Yellowstone National Park is underway. Annually from mid-December until mid-March, visitors can travel most of the park's roads from the West, South, East and North entrances by approved commercially guided snowmobiles and snowcoaches and via the non-commercially guided snowmobile access program.

Currently, there is limited snowfall on roads in the eastern, western and northern parts of the park. This means that visitors will be able to travel in the park, however, the type of transportation used on park roads by commercially guided snowmobile or snowcoach tour companies will depend on road conditions. Throughout the winter season, park staff will work closely with all operators and provide updates as conditions change.

Winter travel ends in mid-March when plowing crews begin to clear a winter's worth of snow. Roads will start to re-open to automobiles in are between the North Entrance in Gardiner and the Northeast Entrance in Cooke City/Silver Gate (via Mammoth Hot Springs, Tower Junction and Lamar Valley). Anticipate possible road closures due to quickly changing weather and dangerous driving conditions. Check the road status map before you leave. Drive cautiously and watch out for snowplows. Do not stop, stand, or walk in the road. Use a pullout if you need to stop for any reason.

– Want to See Old Faithful?

Park partners, concessioners and authorized businesses offer a variety of guided tours throughout the park during the winter months.

– Services are Limited

Most facilities are closed during winter. Check winter operating dates to see which visitor centers, stores, restaurants, lodges and warming huts are open.

– Camping & Lodging

Old Faithful Snow Lodge and Mammoth Hot Springs Hotel are open during winter. Make reservations as far in advance as possible. Lodging is also available in nearby communities. There are no campgrounds open for the 2023/2024 winter season.

– Prepare for Winter Conditions

Winter temperatures range from zero to 20°F (-20°C to -5°C) throughout the day. Sub-zero temperatures are common, especially at night and at higher elevations. Check current weather conditions, pack proper clothing and equipment and review winter safety tips.

– Do Not Approach or Feed Wildlife

Animals have the right of way. Expect to encounter bison and other wildlife on park roads. Slow down or pull over until they pass or move off the road. Stay 100 yards (91 m) from bears and wolves and 25 yards (23 m) from all other wildlife. The safest way to view wildlife is through a telephoto lens, a spotting scope or a pair of binoculars. Store food properly and be aware that in some areas, ravens have learned to unzip backpacks to obtain contents.

– Stay on Boardwalks

People have been severely injured or killed by breaking through thin ground in thermal basins or falling into hot springs. Exercise caution and wear traction aids over footwear when navigating snowy or icy boardwalks.

– Enhance Your Experience

Download the free National Park Service App (and offline content) before you arrive.

– Connectivity is Limited

You will likely not receive calls or texts, even in the few areas you have cell reception.

Learn more about Yellowstone's winter season at www.nps.gov/yell.

When Jane (Karen Dotrice) and Michael (Matthew Garber), the children of the wealthy and uptight Banks family, are faced with the prospect of a new nanny, they are pleasantly surprised by the arrival of the magical Mary Poppins (Julie Andrews). Embarking on a series of fantastical adventures with Mary and her cockney performer friend, Bert (Dick Van Dyke), the siblings try to pass on some of their nanny's sunny attitude to their preoccupied parents (David Tomlinson, Glynis Johns). All seats are $9.

Gremlins hits the big screen on Saturday, January 20th at 7:30pm.

This 1984 cult classic is a hilariously dark and surprisingly heartfelt blend of holiday cheer and creature chaos. Join Billy Peltzer (Zach Galligan) as he receives the adorable Mogwai Gizmo as a Christmas gift. But beware, Gizmo has three important rules: never get him wet, don't expose him to sunlight, and never feed him after midnight. Unleash the mayhem! Watch as Gizmo spawns a whole gremlin army, transforming from cute and cuddly to vicious and vindictive. These devilish little furballs wreak havoc on the quaint town of Kingston Falls, tearing through Christmas decorations, electrocuting carolers, and throwing everything into gremlin-induced pandemonium. All seats are $9.

Wine, beer and concessions will be sold in the lobby one hour before each event. Ticketing and further information about these and other upcoming happenings is available at www.theellentheatre.org. For additional inquiries, call the box office at (406) 585-5885.

Whether you were lucky enough to be gifted a few Bridger Brewing dollars, the local brewer is excited to welcome patrons to either of its area locations to enjoy a beer and a bite as our true Montana winter presses on. Bridger's Three Forks location will also offer nights of live traditions of the last century up to and including modern Americana artists such as Alison Krauss and Gillian Welch. Creekside take the stage on

Following on Jan. 11th are Jody & the Woodflowers. Music starts at 6pm. The soulful band plays a range of Americana and bluegrass, from sweet haunting ballads and love songs to early American country vocal ballads as well as American to Celtic fiddle tunes and instrumentals. Their influences show a love and respect for the folk and old country rhythm and blues. Comprised of lead guitarist Gary Morgan and vocalist Mary Hudson, the two share a passion for music and songwriting. Gary is an accomplished musician and Mary's vocals will grab your attention. The blend of the two talents is unexpectedly captivating.

Enjoy a Jan. 25th show courtesy of Roadrunner on Jan. 25th. Music starts at 6pm. Featuring guitarist Tyler James, Andrew Miscoe on keys, drummer Bob Johnson, and bassist Max Eaton, the foursome brings the music of the Jerry Garcia Band to life!

MCMS presents celebrated international composer

Delivering the first in its 2024 performance series, Montana Chamber Music Society will present the talents of Kinan Azmeh on Friday, January 26th. The concert will be held at Reynolds Recital Hall on the Montana State University campus. Music begins at 7:30pm.

Hailed by critics and audiences alike, the clarinetist and composer has gained international recognition for his distinctive voice across diverse musical genres. Originally from Damascus, Syria, Azmeh brings his music to all corners of the world as a soloist, composer and improviser. His compositions include several works for solo, chamber and orchestral music, as well as music for film, live illustration and electronics. An advocate for new music, several concertos were dedicated to him by composers such as Kareem Roustom, Dia Succari, Dinuk Wijeratne, Zaid Jabri, Saad Haddad and Guss Janssen, in addition to a large number of chamber music works.

"An intensely soulful virtuoso" –

The New York Times

Azmeh's regional tour will include "An Intimate Evening of Music & Conversations" at Bozeman's Cikan House at 6:30pm on Jan. 25th, and a 2pm outreach concert at Lewiston's American Prairie National Discovery Center on Jan. 27th. Find ticketing information for the Bozeman show through the host website. The latter performance is free and open to the public.

The Sweet Lillies bring their winter tour to Paradise Valley on January 12th. With their acoustic string-band lineup of guitar, viola and upright bass given flight by ethereal, vocal harmonies that float like a dream, the Lillies' music has an old-time soul with a forward-looking eye. Their new album, Equality, is available now.

Eagles delivers regular acoustics & full-band weekends

Resolve to get out and let loose in this new year with a night at Downtown Bozeman's Eagles Bar. The local tavern remains home to a steady schedule of Wednesday acoustics and weekend jamming. Here's who's performing in the first weeks of '24.

Singer/songwriter Hannah Jo Lally shows off her talents on January 3rd. From the back roads of Eastern Washington, enjoy an evening of country cuts and distinctive originals. She draws influence from the likes of Suzy Bogguss and Charley Pride, Waylon Jennings and Mary Chapin Carpenter, among others.

Head down to the Eagles to mosh with local rockers Parahellion on Jan. 5th and 6th. The shows are a perfect opportunity to blow off some steam and spend a few of those hard-earned dollars!

Take in the acoustic stylings of local favorite Mathias on Jan. 10th. With powerful vocals and a percussive guitar style, he's known for his dynamic live performances full of acoustic folk, rock, and funk tunes.

Next up are The Love Darts on Jan. 12th and 13th. The hard rock punk band got its start playing venues like the Haufbrau, having since grown into a fine-tuned project featuring some of Bozeman's most energetic guitarists.

Poison Lovers guitarist and vocalist Robert Lethert delivers a solo performance on Jan. 17th. Expect a blend of old school country and contemporary Americana. His strong gravelly voice will perfectly complement your evening at the downtown tavern.

The Disruptors take the stage with back-to-back performances on Jan. 19th and 20th. The high energy band does their darndest to get audiences singing along with their wide selection of rock n' roll tunes from the '60s to now.

Luke Flansburg fronts a solo show on Jan. 24th. He'll bring a wide variety of music ranging from funk to rock to blues. Also a member of Pinky & the Floyd, Tsunami Funk and MOTH, prepare for a fun set of covers and originals that will span the genres.

Tsunami Funk bring a pair of shows to the Eagles on Jan. 26th and 27th. The Bozeman-favorite group always packs the dance floor with Funk/R&B-rocking grooves. They play tunes from artists like Stevie Wonder, Pharrell Williams, Bruno Mars, Red Hot Chili Peppers, James Brown, Earth Wind & Fire, Sly & the Family Stone, Kool & the Gang, Van Morrison, Steely Dan, Bob Marley and many more!

Settle in for another night of acoustics on Jan. 31st with music by Trygh. The solo bassist is known for his dark spin on the folk genre, inspired by the cold mountains of Montana.

Exercise your pipes with Karaoke Night sponsored by Bozeman's Best Entertainment Group, setting up at FOE every Thursday. Sing your heart out and cheer on your friends! Sign-ups start at 9pm.

The Eagles hosts BINGO Night on Saturday evenings, with the game beginning at 6pm. Grab your friends and dobber of choice for a chance to win some extra bucks.

Soak up Hot Springs' slate as part of annual 'Acoustic Month'

The outdoor performance space at Bozeman Hot Springs has become a go-to for live music lovers, whether the sun is shining or the flurries are flying. The venue features a poolside stage with weekly showcases of regional and traveling acts every Thursday and Sunday at 7pm. Enjoy the area's best musicians this month.

Kicking things off on January 4th is Taylor Burlage. Frontman of one of Bozeman's favorite rock groups, The Dead & Down, Burlage plays a mix of originals and classic folk-rock covers, combining his vocals with multiple guitars.

Check out the Savvy Duo on Jan. 7th. The rowdy four-piece is known for their rock covers from every era of music. For this set, band members Kristin (guitar/vox) and Adam (drums) will be breaking things down a little for a calmer (though still rockin') acoustic set.

Max Davies & Friends take the poolside stage on Jan. 11th. Guitarist with the incredible cosmic bluegrass group Kitchen Dwellers, Davies is playing a laid back acoustic set featuring both songs from the band and covers. Davies will also be joined by some other amazing local musicians.

Settle in for Trio Grandioso – A Grateful Dead Tribute on Jan. 14th. Featuring members of the always-incredible local Grateful Dead tribute Dead Sky, this arrangement brings the full band's sound down for a more laid-back setting. The trio will provide an incredible tribute to one of rock's most legendary bands, creating a perfect show for Dead Heads and casual fans alike.

Local duo Brambles & Briar, featuring Jacob Rountree and Cole Thorne, performs on Jan. 18th. The alt-folk duo has a unique, experimental sound utilizing ukulele, percussive lap guitar, layered loops and intelligent harmonies.

Next up is the Pinky Trio, tuning up the audience on Jan. 21st. Dustin Tucker, Luke Flansburg and Joe Kircher bring the full band's energy to this toned down but still hugely entertaining set. The show will feature everything from acoustic Pink Floyd covers to originals, among other selections.

Following on Jan. 25th are Benn & Abel. The new age Americana band from Bozeman plays a mixture of originals and covers, everything you'd expect from a Montana folk duo.

Lena "Laney Lou" Schiffer joins the Last Revel's Ryan Acker for a Jan. 28th performance showcasing their side project, The Canoe Dealers. The duo fronts a unique folk experience featuring vocal harmonies, banjo, and acoustic guitar with impressive songwriting to boot.

Bozeman Hot Springs is located just south of Four Corners. Visit www.bozemanhotsprings.com for operating hours and further event details. •

Valencia Bartyon Project returns for Big Sky concert

The Arts Council of Big Sky is pleased to bring the Valencia Bartyon Project back to Big Sky for a concert in the Gallatin River Gallery on Monday, January 15th. The concert is part of the "Bravo! Big Sky" classical music series and is partially underwritten by the arts council's Schwer-Toepffer Memorial Fund. Doors open at 6pm with a reception with the performance to follow at 7pm.

The Valencia Bartyon Project has dedicated itself to the performance of music written for an ancient and little-known instrument, the baryton. A cross between the viola da gamba and lirone, with 10 resonating and plucked strings down the back of the instrument, the baryton gives the traditional string trio an entirely new dimension.

The Spain-based project was formed by colleagues from the opera of the Palau de les Arts and the Orchestre Nationale Montpellier (France) with the vision of performing the nearly 160 works written by Franz Joseph Haydn as well as compositions by other composers, both modern and classical. At the heart of the ensemble is the traditional formation in trio – baryton, viola and violoncello – for which Haydn wrote 123 works of outstanding beauty during his time as the court composer for the Prince Esterhazy of Austria.

With Matthew Baker, one of only a handful baryton performers in the world, the Valencia Bartyon Project have delighted audiences in North, Central and South America as well as Europe with what is considered to have been the pinnacle of aristocratic instruments of the classical era. Beyond the over 160 works by Haydn for this instrument, the ensemble has added to their repertoire works by numerous other contemporaries of Haydn such as Tomasini, Lidl, Neumann and Bergsteiner as well as working with modern day composers such as Ivan Moody, Steve Zink, John Pickup and Julian Calarco.

Admission for this performance are $25 for adults, $10 for students ages 12-17, and children 12 and under are admitted free. To purchase tickets or for more information, visit www.bigskyarts.org. •

WMPAC hosts nights of stand-up, dance & Johnny Cash

The Warren Miller Performing Arts Center offers Southwest Montana audiences plenty of opportunities to experience live stage entertainment in Big Sky this winter.

Next up is an evening of witty stand-up featuring Mike Birbiglia on Saturday, January 6th. Two performances of his "Please Stop the Ride" tour begin at 5:30pm and 8pm.

Birbiglia is a comedian, storyteller, director and actor who has performed in front of audiences worldwide, from the Sydney Opera House to Broadway. His razor-sharp wit and deadpan observations of parenthood, embarrassing moments, and daily American life have secured him as a fixture of the stand-up scene for over 15 years. He has appeared on virtually every late night show, and has four stand-up specials on Netflix. In 2017, Mike was honored with the Kurt Vonnegut

Trio Many Happy Returns

Award for humor.

Following January 17th–20th, enjoy a night of dance and storytelling with Many Happy Returns. Show time is 8pm on Wednesday and Thursday, 6pm and 8pm on Friday, as well as 2pm and 8pm on Saturday.

Created by Robbie Saenz de Viteri and Monica Bill Barnes, Many Happy Returns is like a memory play, if memory plays had more dances. There is language. There is movement. There is the possibility that it'll never be this way again. And there's the possibility that it will always be the same. The Monica Bill Barnes & Company began with a suitcase of costumes and a collection of solos that could be performed anywhere. Since the company's inception in 1997, founder Monica Bill Barnes has worked with numerous artists and performers, including long-time collaborators/designers Jane Cox and Kelly Hanson and performer Anna Bass, in developing relatable work with a subversive sense of humor.

Late this month, experience a tribute to the Man in Black with Johnny Cash – The Official Concert Experience on Wednesday, January 31st. The show begins at 7:30pm.

The performance brings songs and stories from Cash to the stage in a way that audiences haven't seen or heard before. Expertly blending projections of the legendary singer with a live band and singers accompanying him in perfect sync. This concert experience will showcase Cash's iconic performances and highlight the spirit of the legend by revisiting some of his memorable words and anecdotes. Cash will perform some of his biggest hits, including "Folsom Prison Blues," "Ring of Fire," and "I Walk the Line," and share stories of people he met along the way whose causes he championed, namely working men from all walks of life. Plus, onstage male and female singers will split vocal duties performing their own takes on

For further information or to purchase tickets for these performances and other upcoming events, visit www.warrenmillerpac.org. •

Boogie down as part of the Good Foot Dance Party on Jan. 6th at 9pm. The evening will feature three of Bozeman's best house DJs who will do their darndest to get the people moving. Check out this high energy night of dance music with Jason Root, Swoon and Prince Carls.

Jacob Rountree & the Somethings perform as part of the frontman's Birthday Bash on Jan. 12th. Lost Canyons will be on hand to open the 8pm show. The alt-folk indie rock group offers a very dynamic sound. Best described as a soulful and relatable act, they transport audiences to other dimensions with poetically introspective lyrics, a unique finger picking style, perfectly placed percussive hits, haunting melodies and dream-like effects.

The Dead & Down present their 2nd annual Space Cowboy Ball on Jan. 19th. Festivities begin at 9pm. The band envelopes the introspective and often heavy songwriting of Taylor Burlage in a blanket of sound descended from Southern rock and psychedelia. The Dead & Down will take you on a journey through moments of cosmic flare and pure, unadulterated rock n' roll balanced with a Western feel. Celebrating the release of their new album, No Broken Bones, concertgoers are encouraged to dress up in their spiciest costumes!

Check out the return of the Cactus Cuts on Jan. 26th. Music begins at 9pm with openers Kyle Hunter and Carly King. The five-piece Americana folk band draws inspiration from the harmonious melodies of the Milk Carton Kids and the virtuosic guitar stylings of Doc Watson. The band weaves together intricate acoustic arrangements, compelling storytelling and lush vocal harmonies that are the perfect musical combination of modern bluegrass and old-time Americana. Their new EP, Lies Are Sweet, released last summer.

Party down with Jampoke on Jan. 27th. Salty Gravy will provide opening support at 9pm. The folk-rock band performs with a heavy jam influence, playing a mix of soulful folk tunes, and more instrumental, high-energy jam rock. Born out of dorms of MSU, Jampoke's sound is a unique blend of singer-songwriter lyricism with jam-style instrumental soloing.

Looking ahead, Rocky Mountain Sonic take the stage on February 2nd. Openers Lone Elder, a reincarnation of Bubba Fett, kick off the music at 9pm. The group mixes psychedelic jam band vibes with the blues, creating a sonic landscape that takes audiences out of this world.

Science inquiry lecture looks forward to April eclipse

Entering a new year, Gallatin Valley Friends of the Sciences continues its popular lecture series with an always interesting discussion this month. Co-sponsored by Museum of the Rockies and Hopa Mountain, the debut talk of the season is set for Wednesday, January 17th. "The Great American Eclipse: A Local & National Preview" will begin at 6pm. It will be held in MOR's Hager Auditorium.

How can we best and safely observe the solar eclipse of April 8, 2024? Dr. Angela Des Jardins, MSU associate research professor and director of the Montana Space

Grant Consortium, will share the particulars of the total solar eclipse visible along a path from Texas through Maine, along with the partial eclipse observable from Montana (if viewed with special eye protection). She will also describe the unique view of the event that will be attempted by more than 600 college students across the country in the Nationwide Eclipse Ballooning Project, who will fly payload-carrying weather balloons to live stream the passing lunar shadow as part of the NASA broadcast as well as record valuable science data.

The informative talks will be presented in person on select Wednesdays this winter and into spring. The presentations are free and open to the public, with seating on a first-come, first-served basis. Face masks are recommended but not required.

Find Gallatin Valley Friends of the Sciences on social media or visit www.gallatinscience.org for additional details and information about future talks. The nonprofit was established in 2017 to explore cutting edge science topics, their latest developments, and their relevance to society. •
