CELEBRATE NATIONAL ESPRESSO DAY NOVEMBER 23

The Espresso Machine was first invented in Italy by Luigi Bezzera in 1901. Luigi's goal was to decrease the time of his employee's coffee breaks, and subsequently increase productivity. His espresso machine accomplished this goal, and went beyond, creating a thick, bold, coffee that has become extremely popular.

Espresso machines use steam to force hot water through the coffee grounds, to make coffee faster, with a stronger flavor, and more body. It is topped with a delicate foam called "crema". Coffee used for Espresso is ground finer.

It is very easy and enjoyable and relaxing to participate in National Espresso Day. If your Espresso machine is not already sitting on your kitchen counter, drag it out of its basement storage location, dust it off, and make some Espresso. If you don't have an Espresso machine, that's okay. Walk or drive to your nearest coffee shop or cafe, and order one!

Israel-Palestine conflict subject of next Doc screening

On Thursday, November 7th, at the Emerson Center for the Arts & Culture, the Bozeman Doc Series continues with the Montana premiere of the award-winning new documentary, No Other Land. The film screens at 7pm.

Basel Adra, a young Palestinian activist from Masafer Yatta, has been fighting his community's mass expulsion by the Israeli occupation since childhood. Basel documents the gradual erasure of the villages in his region of the West Bank, as soldiers systematically destroy the homes of his friends and family. He crosses paths with Yuval, an Israeli journalist who joins his struggle, and for over half a decade they fight side by side. Their complex bond is haunted by the extreme inequality between them: Basel, living under a brutal military occupation, and Yuval, unrestricted and free. Together they search for a path towards equality and justice.

The film was made by a Palestinian-Israeli collective of four young activists as an act of creative resistance. No Other Land world-premiered at the prestigious Berlin Film Festival where it won the Panorama Audience Award for Best Documentary Film. The film has screened at major festivals around the world and been one of the most critically acclaimed documentaries of the year.

“The year’s most powerful documentary... necessary and revealing.” – New York Magazine

“Vital... frank... devastating... could open eyes and change minds.” – Variety

“Five stars... powerful... essential viewing... offers a stirring vision for what could be – Israelis and Palestinians working together in the name of justice, collaborating toward a world where both are free.” – The Guardian

“A devastating portrait... a sobering offering for this politically urgent moment” – The Hollywood Reporter

Doors open at 6:30pm. Tickets are available at the door or before the show online at www.bozemandocseries.org, where you can also buy Season Passes and 7-film punch cards, learn more about the series, and view trailers for upcoming films. The series will continue every other Thursday through April. •

Enjoy engaging storytelling with Pecha Kucha Night(s)

After a career managing wilderness for the USDA Forest Service, Jonathan Klein concluded that what passes for wilderness in the lower 48 states isn't truly wild. In search of the real thing, he embarked on a 700-mile solo canoe trip from Saskatchewan to Hudson Bay.

Jonathan is one of 10 presenters at the next PechaKucha Night(s). The events will be held at Downtown Bozeman's Ellen Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, November 6th and 7th. Both shows begin at 6:40pm and feature the same lineup of speakers both nights.

The cowboy is an archetype – the tough, grizzled, macho loner on a horse – represents the American West. Liv Hart, a multi-disciplinary artist and designer takes a critical look at that myth in her PK on deconstructing the American cowboy.

Another archetype of the American West took a hit last year when dramatic flooding hit the park and neighboring communities. On June 13, 2023, multiple washouts on the only access road in or out of the area meant that 60 people, 20 dogs, one cat and 24 vehicles were stranded at 6,205 feet in the Beartooth Mountains. Dayle Hayes will describe the dramatic – and successful-rescue effort.

Bozeman is full of people looking to challenge themselves in the outdoors, but Vanessa Rybicka was not one of them. An urban creature, Rybicka only started hiking when she was tricked by friends. But Vanessa, who had recently adopted Grace, an abused 3-year-old pit-bull, changed her mind when she saw Grace's sheer joy at being suddenly free in the outdoors.

Not all adventures are voluntary. Robin Heyer, a retired MSU employee, will tell of a 1967 weekend camping trip in the desert of Baja California that went wrong. The bus her family was traveling in got hopelessly mired in the mud miles from the nearest town. Lost for three days, they were taken in, fed and sheltered by a Mexican farmer and his family.

The world is increasingly filled with warning signs and labels, and ominous words of caution. John Reins, a retired forensic engineer, will reflect upon whether the pursuit of unattainable goals of zero risk and absolute safety may be diminishing the virtues of self-reliance and self-sufficiency in our society.

Ironically, many folks would rather take their chances on a 700-mile solo canoe trip or scale an icy waterfall before they would stand up before 450 people on the stage of the Ellen Theatre. Kath Cumrine will share her own journey with stage fright and provide a few tips to help you deal with all that attention!

Julie Gladden offers some levity for the evening with her presentation on practical jokes, recalling a lifetime of playing prank after prank on those she loves.

Patrick Moore recently moved to Bozeman with his wife from a small town in western Minnesota to be closer to their daughters and their families. In search of many essential items to furnish their new home, they turned to online marketing tools to access local sellers. The experience helped them learn about their new community as they traveled between trailer parks in Belgrade, an historic cabin on Bear Canyon Road, new townhomes, historic homes, the college campus, church parking lots and dozens of other places.

In a similar vein, Susan Anderegg will describe her historical scavenger hunt around town. The retired graphic designer has collected small bits of buildings and other artifacts from the area to see if locals can guess what they are and what their historical significance might be.

Back for an encore performance as emcee is Justin Barth, Director of Development for Gallatin Valley Land Trust. Justin loves rambling about local trails and open spaces, or waiting for the mailman to come, in hopes of a new edition of the Costco coupon catalog.

First Security Bank is sponsor of the October event. Tickets are available at www.theellentheatre.com for $9 (including facility fee). Students may purchase tickets at the door for $5.50.

PechaKucha (peh-chak-cha) offers anyone with a passion or a vision – designers, artists, inventors, architects, adventurers, entrepreneurs – an opportunity to share their ideas with the community during a fast-paced, friendly social get-together. There's just one catch: presenters have only 20 slides x 20 seconds each, a total of 6 minutes, 40 seconds! •

Bozeman youth stage tuneful Broadway classic

Featuring a talented cast of student actors, Bozeman High School Hawks Theatre Company will present Betty Comden and Adolph Green's classic musical comedy early this month. Singin' in the Rain will be presented over six performances from November 1st–10th. Thursday and Friday shows will begin at 7pm, with a 2pm matinee on Sunday. All will be held in the BHS auditorium.

The Broadway classic dives deep into the glamorous world of old Hollywood as it transitions from silent film to full sound. This hilarious musical follows the story of Don Lockwood, a silent film star who falls for Kathy, a young actress on her way up. Complicating their love story is Don's acting partner, the beautiful but ugly voiced Lina and the pressure for an old studio to create its first 'talkie.' The show is full of song, dance, comedy and romance!

Under the direction of Lila Michael with musical direction by Jacob Malczyk and choreography by Valarie Andrews, this play is suitable for all ages. General Singin' in the Rain admission is $20 and $10 for students, available in advance at bsd7.revtrak.net (click "Drama" > "BHS Drama"). Tickets available at the box office as space allows. Box office will open an hour prior to each show, with doors thirty minutes before. For additional information, contact Hawks Theatre Co. at (406) 522-4855. •

Verge presents timeless tale of wit & rebellion

Verge Theater is thrilled to present the stage comedy, Lysistrata, from Greek playwright Aristophanes at the Emerson Center for the Arts & Culture. Performances begin November 14th and run through Nov. 30th. Thursday, Friday and Saturday shows begin at 7pm, with a pair of 3pm Sunday matinees to follow.

It's 411 B.C., and the women of Greece are tired of the never-ending, all-consuming Peloponnesian war. Tired of the men being away and the strain of conflict, Lysistrata devises a bold and clever plan: all women must withhold intimacy from their husbands and lovers until peace is achieved. While the women strike, chaos ensues as the men, desperate for intimacy, struggle to maintain their authority and think clearly.

This classical Greek comedy is legendary for its timeless take on the battle of the sexes and laugh-out-loud physical comedy. Its conversations around frustration with leadership, hunger for peace, the want of autonomy, and the struggles within a relationship are hidden in the jokes keeping this piece of theater surprisingly relevant 2,000 years later.

The local Bozeman production is presented under the direction of Jess Lee. Tickets for Lysistrata are available for purchase now for a suggested price of $35 with a "Pay What You Wish" option. Visit www.vergetheater.com for reservations and further information about educational opportunities for aspiring thespians. •

Step into 19th century London with Shane production

A Dickens-inspired classic comes to life featuring a talented cast of local thespians. The Shane Lalani Center for the Arts presents a production of Lionel Bart's 1960 musical Oliver! with performances running through November 10th.

Bringing Charles Dickens' beloved novel to the stage, Lionel Bart's Oliver! takes audiences on a wild adventure through Victorian England. Join young, orphaned Oliver Twist as he navigates the London's underworld of theft and violence, searching for a home, a family, and – most importantly – for love. When Oliver is picked up on the street by a boy named the Artful Dodger, he is welcomed into a gang of child pickpockets led by the conniving, but charismatic, Fagin. When Oliver is falsely accused of a theft he didn't commit, he is rescued by a kind and wealthy gentleman, to the dismay of Fagin's violent sidekick, Bill Sikes. Caught in the middle is the warm-hearted Nancy, who is trapped under Bill's thumb, but desperate to help Oliver, with tragic results. With spirited, timeless songs like "As Long as He Needs Me," "Food, Glorious Food" and "Where Is Love," Oliver! is a musical classic [Stage Agent].

Oliver! runs weekends through Nov. 10th. Performances take place in the Dulcie Theatre. Show times are Fridays and Saturdays at 8pm, with Sunday matinees to follow at 3 pm. Tickets are $23 for adults, $17 for seniors/students/veterans, and $11 for youth 17 & under. Make reservations through www.theshanecenter.org or call the box office at (406) 222-1420.

Oliver! is generously sponsored by Sky Federal Credit Union, ASPEN and the Livingston Tourism Business Improvement District. •

Scholar presents on history of mythic creatures

As part of the Elise R. Donahue Lectures on the American West series comes the Mythic Creatures Folklore Speaker Series on Friday, November 15th. "Mythic Creatures: Origin Stories" will be held at the Museum of the Rockies' Hager Auditorium beginning at 5:30pm. Dr. Marie Nicole Pareja will present.

For thousands of years, humans around the world have brought mythic creatures to life in stories, music and works of art. Uncover the origins and significance of legendary creatures of the air, land and water, such as dragons, mermaids and Bigfoot, through the lenses of distinguished speakers in their fields. A meet-and-greet and light reception will follow the talks in the museum's main lobby.

Join Dr. Pareja to explore the ancient origins and enduring significance of mythical creatures such as dragons, unicorns and mermaids. These beings appear in Bronze Age art, suggesting they were part of early oral traditions even before written records. As civilizations like Mesopotamia, Greece and the Indus Valley developed, these creatures were incorporated into their mythologies, reflecting societal values and ideals.

Through archaeology, art history and anthropology, we uncover the earliest depictions and understand how these creatures symbolized concepts of power, heroism and the supernatural. Importantly, the lecture examines how these mythical beings continue to influence contemporary culture, evolving in their symbolism and narratives over millennia, offering insights into human values, identities and connections across time.

Marie Nicole Pareja is a Consulting Scholar for the University of Pennsylvania Museum of Archaeology and Anthropology and Assistant Professor at Salisbury University. She serves as plasters specialist for the archaeological sites of Sissi, Mochlos, and Gournia, on Crete, and for Stelida, a peak sanctuary site on Naxos. She is the founder and director of the Plasters Analysis Project at the University of Pennsylvania, as well as a founder and a director of Indus-Aegean Bronze Age Research Network at the University of Oxford in the UK.

Her most recent research projects include Bronze Age mythologies (particularly goddesses and magic), Afro-Eurasian exchange, iconography and medicines. Outside of academia proper, she founded and directs a non-profit, the Aegean Bronze Age Study Initiative (ABASI), to support the much-needed diversification of Bronze Age archaeology by funding overseas fieldwork and research experiences for undergraduates. When she isn't conducting fieldwork or teaching university classes, she is engaged in outreach with various public libraries, museums and grade schools.

The presentation is free for Museum members and $5 for non-members. Registration is required at www.museumoftherockies.org. •

Your vote, your voice as Election Day arrives

It's finally here... Election Day is Tuesday, November 5th with Gallatin Valley residents ready to descend on local polling places in substantial numbers. The patriotism is in the air and we're all anxiously awaiting the end result of yet another exhaustive election cycle.

Do you still want the opportunity to vote but aren't yet registered? The few who didn't quite make the initial deadline aren't out of luck. The Late Registration period is now in effect, continuing through noon on Nov. 4th and resuming again on Election Day from 7am–8pm.

Prospective voters need only meet three simple qualifications to cast their ballots: they are a United States citizen, are 18 years or older, and have been a Montana resident for a minimum of 30 days before Election Day. That's it. We all should vote – it's our civic duty and gives us the right to complain!

Leading up to Nov. 5th, those who still need to register MUST visit the Election Office in person. Please bring your driver's license and/or social security number with you. The office can be found in Room 210 of the Gallatin County Courthouse, located at 311 W Main in Bozeman. ALL ballots must be returned to the Election

Office or official polling place by 8pm on Election Day. A drive-by tent will also be set up in front of the Courthouse on Nov. 5th to collect ballots. Stop by the office or call (406) 582-3060 with additional questions.

Note for absentee voters: please ensure your ballots are mailed in time to be counted and remember to SIGN the affidavit on the back of the envelope. If there's any doubt, please drop them off at the Election Office in person. Those received late or in unsigned envelopes will not be counted.

If you're not sure and would like to find out the status of your voter record, log on to www.votemt.gov and click 'My Ballot Info' after the jump. You'll be rerouted to the Montana Secretary of State's voter information service. By simply entering your first and last name with your date of birth, you can see if you're registered to vote, whether you're an active or inactive voter, whether you're signed up to vote absentee, and the location of your polling place. You can also view or download a sample ballot.

Election Day is Tuesday, November 5th with local polling places open from 7am–8pm. Don't let political fatigue keep you from exercising your inalienable right and civic duty to get out and vote! •

Verge presents timeless tale of wit & rebellion

Verge Theater is thrilled to present the stage comedy, Lysistrata, from Greek playwright Aristophanes at the Emerson Center for the Arts & Culture. Performances begin November 14th and run through Nov. 30th. Thursday, Friday and Saturday shows begin at 7pm, with a pair of 3pm Sunday matinees to follow.

It's 411 B.C., and the women of Greece are tired of the never-ending, all-consuming Peloponnesian war. Tired of the men being away and the strain of conflict, Lysistrata devises a bold and clever plan: all women must withhold intimacy from their husbands and lovers until peace is achieved. While the women strike, chaos ensues as the men, desperate for intimacy, struggle to maintain their authority and think clearly.

This classical Greek comedy is legendary for its timeless take on the battle of the sexes and laugh-out-loud physical comedy. Its conversations around frustration with leadership, hunger for peace, the want of autonomy, and the struggles within a relationship are hidden in the jokes keeping this piece of theater surprisingly relevant 2,000 years later.

The local Bozeman production is presented under the direction of Jess Lee. Tickets for Lysistrata are available for purchase now for a suggested price of $35 with a "Pay What You Wish" option. Visit www.vergetheater.com for reservations and further information about educational opportunities for aspiring thespians. •

Fringe country group brings encore show to Armory

Back by popular demand, Bozeman's Armory Music Hall welcomes the return of alt-country band American Aquarium to its modern space this month. The Raleigh-based group's tour comes to the Gallatin Valley in support of their latest release, The Fear of Standing Still. The all-ages show is set for Tuesday, November 12th, with opening support from Blaine Bailey. Presented in cooperation with Deco Music Group, the music begins at 7:30pm.

For nearly two decades, American Aquarium have pushed toward that rare form of rock-and-roll that's revelatory in every sense. "For us the sweet spot is when you've got a rock band that makes you scream along to every word, and it's not until you're coming down at three a.m. that you realize those words are saying something real about your life," says frontman BJ Barham. "That's what made us fall in love with music in the first place, and that's the goal in everything we do." On their new album The Fear of Standing Still, the North Carolina-bred band embody that dynamic with more intensity than ever before, endlessly matching their gritty breed of country-rock with Barham's bravest and most incisive songwriting to date. As he reflects on matters both personal and sociocultural – e.g., the complexity of Southern identity, the intersection of generational trauma and the dismantling of reproductive rights – American Aquarium instill every moment of The Fear of Standing Still with equal parts unbridled spirit and illuminating empathy.

Recorded live at the legendary Sunset Sound in Los Angeles, The Fear of Standing Still marks American Aquarium's second outing with producer Shooter Jennings – a three-time Grammy winner who also helmed production on 2020's critically lauded Lamentations, as well as albums from the likes of Brandi Carlile and Tanya Tucker. In a departure from the stripped-down subtlety of 2022's Chicamacomico (a largely acoustic rumination on grief), the band's tenth studio LP piles on plenty of explosive riffs and hard-charging rhythms, bringing a visceral energy to the most nuanced and poetic of lyrics. "In our live show the band's like a freight train that never lets up, and for this record I really wanted to showcase how big and anthemic we can be," notes Barham, whose bandmates include guitarist Shane Boeker, pedal-steel guitarist Neil Jones, keyboardist Rhett Huffman, drummer Ryan Van Fleet, and bassist Alden Hedges.

Mixed by four-time Grammy winner Trina Shoemaker (Queens of the Stone Age, Emmylou Harris), The Fear of Standing Still shares its title with one of the first songs Barham wrote for the album – a soul-baring look at how raising a family has radically altered his priorities and perspective. In the process of creating what he refers to as "a record about growing up and growing older," Barham also found his songwriting closely informed by his ten years of sobriety, as well as his ever-deepening connection with American Aquarium's community of fans. "Whenever someone tells me that one of our songs helped them in some way, it encourages me to be more and more open – almost like peeling a layer off an onion," he says. "This album is a writer 18 years into his career, peeling away the next layer and seeing just how human we can make this thing."

Armory Music Hall tickets are available for standing-room general admission and limited VIP packages. A complete list of upcoming performances and ticketing access is available at [www.armorymusic hall.com](http://www.armorymusic hall.com).

Be a part of the performance at LFTD

Secure a seat for an intimate musical experience with Live from the Divide, a local venue whose space allows audiences to be a part of the performance with a regular lineup of national acts and regional favorites.

Kicking off the month with a pair of shows on Friday and Saturday, November 1st and 2nd, Rob Baird performs as part of a live album recording. The Memphis-born musician's Baird's latest album, Burning in the Stars, is undoubtedly his finest, laying it all on the line with raw, vulnerable reflections on hope and loss, faith and resilience, heart-break and redemption. The songs are lean and compact, cutting to the quick with surgical precision, and the performances are similarly direct, fueled by earnest, melodic arrangements that call to mind everything from Tom Petty and Bob Seger to Lucinda Williams. The result is a cinematic mix of alt-country intimacy and rock and roll ecstasy that refuses to shy away from pain in its pursuit of growth, a masterfully mature work of lyrical and sonic craftsmanship built around the promise that it's never too late to become who we're meant to be.

Scott H Biram follows with a midweek show on Wednesday, November 6th. Unleashing a fervent display of conviction through, not only the genuine blues, classic country, bluegrass, and rock n' roll, Biram seals the deal with punk, heavy metal, and anything else he wants to. He's "The Dirty Old One Man Band." His live shows deliver a take no prisoners attitude, a stomping, pulsing John Lee Hooker-channeling, and cockeyed tales of black water baptisms and murder, all while romanticizing the on-the-road lifestyle. He comes to Bozeman in support of his latest release, The One & Only Scott H Biram.

Local artist Jacob Rountree is set to perform on Friday, November 8th. The alternative/indie songwriter is contemplative yet playful, with a lyric-forward style reflective of his love for philosophy, poetry and quantum physics. His contagious soul presents itself through raw vocals of impressive range and beautiful timbre, mesmerizing percussive finger-style guitar and a balance of catchy yet complex, polyrhythms. Rountree's unique production style is that of Bob Dylan meets Pink Floyd, ranking the integrity of his music with contemporary artists such as Bon Iver, Ben Howard and Shakey Graves. Rountree released his second full-length, As I See It, in 2022, followed with his Truth or Dare EP earlier this year.

And on Wednesday, November 13th, enjoy a performance by Ken Pomeroy. The Oklahoma native brings an earthy presence to the world of Folk/Americana music. Captivating audiences through her unfeigned storytelling and seasoned musicianship, she is carving out a more veritable path for herself as a flourishing artist. Influenced by John Denver, Buck Meek, Jake Xerxes Fussell, and Gillian Welch, Pomeroy is inspired by the voices of a preceding generation. She embraces her journey as an artist with a renewed sense of honesty and self-discovery. Her unique sound, anchored in her Native American heritage, resonates with fans who value genuine, raw talent and the intimate connection only music can foster.

Later this month, Alex Cuba fronts back-to-back shows on November 15th and 16th. He is a Grammy/Latin Grammy and Juno winning singer-songwriter/producer and musician. His musical evolution for years was all about searching for the simplicity and soul in Cuban music – taking apart the complex arrangements, mixing it with North American influences, adopting the melodic simplicity of pop music, looking to Cuban folk traditions for inspiration. Cuba is always exploring, always creating something fresh and new, and always, it seems, getting it just right.

All shows begin at 8pm, with doors one hour prior. Tickets are sold night of, but these small shows are known to sell out quickly! Advance tickets are available at www.livefromthedivide.com where you can also find a complete list of upcoming shows. The Live studio is located at 627 E Peach St. in Bozeman. •

Argentinian ballet star dances in YBC's Nutcracker

Lucas Segovia stars in Yellowstone Ballet Company's 33rd annual production of Tchaikovsky's holiday classic The Nutcracker on Saturday, November 30th, at 4:30pm, and Sunday, December 1st, at 2pm at the Willson Auditorium. He will perform the roles of the Nutcracker Prince and the Cavalier.

Originally from Buenos Aires, Segovia joined Ballet Argentina as a soloist under Julio Bocca's direction. He was promoted to Principal Dancer shortly after and was the only dancer performing a solo piece in Bocca's farewell performance for over 300,000 people and broadcasted on national TV.

As for knowing when he wanted to dance, Segovia said, "It caught me by surprise. It was a matter of luck. I didn't start dancing until I was 16 after a female friend convinced me to watch some dancing." Watching the dancing, Segovia realized something. "It wasn't a girly thing. There were a lot of guys taking classes, and the teacher was a man. I thought, 'Why not? I'll give it a try.' In countries where cultures are not so stimulated it's hard to say, 'I want to be a dancer' and make a living doing it. But I was able to do it."

When asked what dance means to him, Segovia said, "Passion. The reason that I'm in this country and far away from my family is passion. It's a way for me to express myself."

This passion has taken Segovia to major theaters in the United States, Spain, France, Italy, Greece, Russia and Cuba, among other places.

Segovia has also danced with The Joffrey Ballet for six seasons, performing in virtually the entire repertoire of the company as a soloist or principal dancer. He has danced works by Balanchine, Robbins, Twyla Tharp, Mark Morris, Christopher Wheeldon, Wayne McGregor, Alexei Ratmansk, William Forstye and Annabelle Lopez Ochoa, among many others.

Throughout his career Segovia has danced in more than 400 cities around the globe, performing in some of the most important venues for dance in the world and has been awarded with the Premio Clarin, the most prestigious recognition for the Arts in Argentina.

Joining Segovia is Bozeman native Molly Groeschl. She began her lessons under Ann Bates and Dana Sorg in a studio overlooking downtown Main Street. Molly went on to train at Pacific Northwest Ballet, American Ballet Theater NYC, Orlando Ballet, Pittsburgh Ballet Theatre and Ballet West. She has performed professionally with Ballet Tucson, Ballet West, Milwaukee Ballet, Colorado Ballet and Madison Ballet. She holds a B.F.A. in Ballet Performance from the University of Utah.

Enhancing the production is a large cast from Yellowstone Ballet Academy, Raison d'être Dance Project, the School of Classical Ballet Company, Billings, and Circus Center of Bozeman 406CIRQUE.

To encourage families to attend, every adult ticket purchase qualifies for a free child's ticket. Children can come as a Nutcracker character and compete for one of three gift certificates from the Rocky Mountain Toy Company. The costume contest will occur during intermission and every participant will receive a small gift.

YBC is under the artistic direction of founder Kathleen Rakela, a recipient of the Montana Arts Council Fellowship for the Performing Arts. The innovative company has been featuring local, national and international dance talent in Montana since 1990. Rakela also runs the Yellowstone Ballet Academy. Her students have received scholarships to world-class ballet training centers and have danced professionally around the world.

Reserved tickets for YBC's The Nutcracker are available at www.yellowstoneballet.info or with cash or check at the door. It is advised to get your tickets early as last year the matinee was sold out. For questions, email YellowstoneBalletCo@gmail.com, text (406) 219-6915 or call (406) 222-0430. •

WMPAC hosts eclectic stage performances in Big Sky

The Warren Miller Performing Arts Center offers Southwest Montana audiences plenty of opportunities to experience live stage entertainment in Big Sky this fall season.

Next up, take in stage performance event Tony n' Tina's Wedding on Friday and Saturday, November 8th and 9th. Performances begin at 7pm both nights, with an additional 1pm Saturday matinee.

The performances will be Big Sky Community Theater's first foray into "dinner theater," an interactive evening with the audience participating as wedding guests. With the support of the Big Sky School District Lunch Ladies, the crew is delighted to bring a production that has been performed in more than 100 cities worldwide since its opening in 1988.

New Yorkers Nancy Cassaro and Mark Nassar invented the characters of Tony and Tina while studying drama at Hofstra University in the 1980s. As the idea grew, Tony n' Tina's Wedding landed to a scrappy downtown Manhattan location in 1985. Becoming a commercial success, it moved off-Broadway, produced by another Hofstra alumnus, Joe Corcoran. It ran for over 20 years to rave reviews, and eventually turned into a worldwide phenomenon, presented at over 150 cities worldwide.

Another stage show, Monster + Farmer – A Frankenstein Tale, follows on Thursday, November 14th. The performance begins at 7pm.

The play offers a modern twist on the classic Frankenstein tale, set on a Montana ranch near the Mission Mountains. The story follows Riley, a teenage science prodigy who embarks on an adventurous project to create a creature inspired by Mary Shelley's Frankenstein and documents her progress on her YouTube channel. As the situation spirals out of control, Riley and her brother Aidan work to manage the ensuing chaos. Monster + Farmer compellingly addresses themes of family dynamics, the anxiety caused by social media, and the crucial importance of seeking support.

Monster + Farmer is about creation and connection in an increasingly digital world. The play delves into themes of family dynamics, the anxiety of social media, and the importance of seeking help, all while showcasing an innovative, determined female lead excelling in science and technology.

Ring in the holiday season on Saturday and Sunday, November 30th and December 1st, enjoy two stagings of Estella Scrooge. Each show begins at 6:30pm.

Estella Scrooge is a Dickensian musical extravaganza in two acts. A modern retelling of A Christmas Carol with additional characters and plot lines from Great Expectations, Little Dorrit, Bleak House and other great Dickens' novels.

Estella Scrooge is a Wall Street tycoon with a penchant for foreclosing. A hotelier in her hometown of Pickwick, Ohio, has defaulted on his mortgage and as a Christmas gift to herself, Estella decides to deliver the sad news in person. Arriving at the Harthouse Hotel on Christmas Eve, Estella discovers that the mortgage holder is none other than her childhood sweetheart, Pip Nickleby. Always the humanitarian, Pip has generously transformed the property into a refuge for the distraught, disabled and displaced. A freak snowstorm forces Estella, much to her dismay, to take refuge at Harthouse. That night, as it happened to her ancestor Ebenezer long ago, she too is haunted by three visitations. And oh what uninvited overnight houseguests they are!

UNBLEMISHED 'CATS ROLL INTO NOVEMBER - THE 2024 BOBCAT UPDATE -

By Danny Waldo

As the calendar officially turns to November, the Montana State Bobcats look to maintain their perfect record and earn the program's first outright Big Sky Conference championship since 2011. MSU, the current FCS No. 2 ranked team, sits atop the conference standings at 4-0 (8-0 overall), with four games remaining, including a pivotal road test at UC Davis on November 16th, and are in line for a top two seed in the expanded FCS playoffs if they maintain their standing.

Nothing on the field has suggested that the 'Cats will lose their grip on the conference lead after a dominant first two months of the season, including a 38-7 drubbing of Idaho before a live national audience that was supposed to be a battle between two of the conference's top teams. MSU has beat down its opponents on both sides of the ball, using a more balanced offensive attack, combined with a more aggressive defensive approach to wreak havoc on opposing coordinators.

Coming into the season, Montana State head coach Brent Vigen knew he needed to lessen the load of quarterback Tommy Mellott, who was last seen being helped from the field in the Bobcat's FCS playoff loss to North Dakota State. A concerted effort in the offseason to share the load has paid dividends for MSU, as Mellott's carries have decreased, as have the number of big hits he has taken, but his efficiency and accuracy in the passing game have improved, and other stars have emerged to create the multifaceted attack the Bobcats were seeking.

The biggest benefactor of the Bobcats' new offensive attack has been sophomore running back, Scottre Humphrey, who leads the Big Sky Conference in rushing. The

However, injuries to Davis opened the door for Humphrey, and he has a 93-yard touchdown scamper in the 'Cats season-opener at New Mexico that propelled Montana State to a comeback victory. Jones has continued to display his big play ability in both the run and pass game, and is the No. 7 rusher in the Big Sky Conference with 452 yards and one of only two quarterbacks in the FCS' top 50 without an interception, and he boasts the best TD/INT ratio of all quarterbacks. His improved accuracy in the passing game has improved the RPO aspect of Montana State's offense as defenses can no longer assume Mellott is a run-only option at QB.

But offense is not the only area where Montana State has excelled this season. The Bobcat defense has been downright dominant, as well, leading the Big Sky in scoring defense, rushing defense and total defense, while being No. 2 in passing defense. Behind new defensive coordinator, Bobby Daly, his unit has stonewalled opponents, holding them to a mere 16.3 points per game, with many of those coming well after the game has been decided, and the starters long replaced by reserves earning valuable experience.

The Bobcats currently surrender 101.3 yards rushing and 179.5 yards through the air, while boasting the nation's No. 8 ranked defense in third down efficiency. Opponents are converting on third down just 29% of the time. The strength of the Bobcat's defense has been in its collective dominance. MSU does not boast a single player in the top 10 in tackles for the Big Sky Conference. Linebackers Danny Uluilakepa and McCade O'Reilly are the team leaders with 39 and 44 tackles respectively. However, senior Brody Grebe is No. 3 in the conference for sacks, and is also amongst the top 10 in tackles for loss.

Grebe's dominance on the line of taken full advantage of the opportunity. Through eight games, Humphrey has churned out 952 yards and 10 touchdowns, averaging 119 yards per game, and is the No. 6 rusher in all of FCS.

But Davis isn't the only Bobcat running back to turn heads this fall. Fellow running back Adam Jones five touchdowns in seven games of action.

The performance of Humphrey and Jones has relegated Mellott to scrimmage has allowed the back end of the defense to play more aggressively in the passing game, and Montana State has seen huge improvements in their pass defense from a year ago. Opponents are completing less than 60% of their passes for just 5.7 yards per play, and Montana State has given up just nine touchdowns through the air, which is tops in the conference.

The Bobcats' special teams play has also been a bright spot for Vigen and his staff, as kicker Brendan Hall has mastered the art of the touchback, limiting opponents opportunities in the return game, and sophomore sophomore from Seattle earned attention with a productive freshman campaign, but was expected to back up returning senior running back Julius Davis coming into the fall.

has been impressive in his own right, providing the change of pace back Montana State needs to offset Humphrey's punishing style. Jones burst onto the scene after ripping off just the 13th best ball-carrier in the conference, but he still has rushed for over 400 yards and added seven more touchdown carries to his resume. But where Mellott has shined this season has been in the passing game. Through eight games, the senior from Butte has thrown for over 1400 yards and 17 touchdowns without a single interception. Mellott is averaging 180 yards through the air, while completing 70 percent of his passes. He currently is

Bobcat faithful vie to beat Griz twice this month

Although the biggest game of the year for the Bobcat faithful is only a few weeks out, fans have an opportunity to beat Montana in the weeks leading up to the matchup.

The Can the Griz Food Drive returns in 2024 with its 25th annual event. The friendly off-field competition between Montana State University and the University of Montana, along with their communities, is put on every year to see who can collect the most donations for their local food banks. Beginning Saturday, November 9th, the competition runs through Saturday, Nov. 23rd, when a winner will be announced during the 'CatGriz game to be held in Bozeman this year.

Last year, MSU and the Bozeman community donated 596,877 equivalent pounds of food with monetary donations to the Gallatin Valley Food Bank. The UM and Missoula community also raised an impressive amount, a grand total

Can the Griz organizers ask that nonperishable food donations be dropped off at collection locations throughout Bozeman to support those Gallatin County residents in need. A complete list of donation sites can be found at www.canthe-griz.com.

Monetary donations can also be made directly to the Gallatin Valley Food Bank by visiting the aforementioned website and clicking "donate." For every dollar donated, 1 pound of food will be added to the final tally.

Finally, participants are invited to promote the drive on social media by posting a picture of themselves donating along with the hashtag #CanTheGriz. The annual collection drive is coordinated by the MSU Office of Student Engagement and the Gallatin Valley Food Bank. Go 'Cats Go! • placekicker Myles Sansted has added stability to the field goal unit, hitting on 75% of his tries, and converting 42 of 43 PAT attempts this season. Taco Dowler has been explosive in the punt return game averaging 13.7 yards per return, good for No. 2 in the Big Sky. Overall, MSU has dominated its first eight opponents on the way to their 8-0 record, but the schedule gets decidedly more difficult in the last month of the regular season. The Bobcats will hit the road following their bye week to face an Eastern Washington team that is better than their 2-6 record would indicate before welcoming an always dangerous Sacramento State team to Bobcat Stadium on November 9th. The real challenge awaits the final two weeks of the regular season as MSU will head south to face No. 4 UC Davis in what will likely decide the Big Sky Conference title before returning home to host Montana in the annual Brawl of the Wild. If the 'Cats can successfully navigate November, a likely top 2 seed awaits in the FCS playoffs, providing home field all the way to Frisco and a return to the FCS national championship game in January. •
