TEDx event returns to MSU

From MSU News Service

The Associated Students of Montana State University will host its sixth annual TEDxMontanaStateUniversity event on Wednesday, November 4th.

The event will be held in Norm Asbjornson Hall's Inspiration Hall from 7 to 9pm. A reception will follow. Tickets are available for purchase online and cost $5 for students or $15 for the general public.

TEDxMontanaStateUniversity is a spin-off of the nationally acclaimed TED Talks program, where influential speakers share educational and innovative ideas with an audience in short talks often under 15 minutes. Notable people who have delivered TED Talks include Bill Gates, Al Gore and Temple Grandin, among many others.

At MSU, this year's event theme is "Cultivating Connections." Below is a list of the five planned speakers, who include a current student, an alumnus and hockey coach, and a mentor in residence, each affiliated with the university.

Linda Elkins: Elkins is an engineer, former professional athlete, corporate leader, entrepreneur and mentor whose career has often placed her at the intersection of people, ideas and opportunity. She is a mom of three, active athlete, board member and startup adviser working across universities, healthcare and private companies. Elkins' TEDx talk will share how relationships built out of curiosity can create unexpected opportunities long before we know where they may lead.

Pete Kamman: Kamman is a recent MSU alum, associate head coach of the Bobcats hockey club and the founder of Elevated Hockey, which develops players, coaches and hockey programs. He also serves as a USA Hockey district director, the first from Montana to hold the role. At MSU, he studied why adult athletes stay engaged in sports. He brings more than two decades of coaching experience, from youth hockey to the college game, across six continents. Combining his research with a coach's perspective, Kamman will share insights from communities built around the world through hockey, showing how connection shapes the way we lead, coach and grow.

Otto Pohl: Pohl is a communication strategist for deep tech startups, former New York Times photojournalist and entrepreneur. He has taught at University of Southern California Annenberg and is a mentor in residence at MSU. Pohl's talk will explore the power of specificity to help people establish true connection with customers, colleagues and companions.

Mandi Swanson: Swanson is a neurology nurse practitioner, author, podcaster and speaker whose life was turned upside down in an instant when a car accident turned her from provider into patient. Her recovery required multiple therapies and specialists, all of which are now considerations for the treatment plans she prescribes to her patients. On the TEDx stage, Swanson will discuss the importance of these connections for herself, her patients and beyond.

Kaylee Wolfensberger: Wolfensberger is an MSU marketing student, former Miss Montana, and advocate for the power of music, creativity and meaningful connection. She has experience in leadership, public speaking, community service and event marketing, and she aspires to build a career in sports marketing and entertainment. Her TEDx presentation will explore how music can help people process trauma, express emotions when words fall short and create connection through shared experiences.

LFS explores trust in the digital age

The Livingston Film Series will present the next in its free screening series with Trust Me on Thursday, November 5th. The film begins at 7pm at the Shane Lalani Center for the Arts.

When was the last time you had the opportunity to watch a film that won the UNESCO Award for Media Literacy in North America? Or the winner of the Walter Cronkite for Excellence in Television in Political Journalism Award?

In partnership with The Getting Better Foundation, the Film Series presents Trust Me, a feature documentary exploring human nature, information technology, media bias, and the need for media literacy to help people trust one another. More poignant in today's media environment than ever, Trust Me ensures that trust creates a more resilient population.

Trust Me is presented by the USC Annenberg Norman Lear Center. All this work would not have been possible without the dedication and resilience of Joe Phelps and the team at The Getting Better Foundation.

Continuing its latest season of screening independent features, documentaries, local films and vintage classics, doors open at 6:30pm with screenings to follow at 7pm. Admission is free, but donations are gratefully accepted. Concessions available. For more information, please visit www.theshanecenter.org.

The Livingston Film Series is generously sponsored by Marilyn Clotz & Mary Ann Bearden, Donald B. Gimbel and Carol Lalani in memory of Sal Lalani. •

PechaKucha community stories

Some people have the rare knack for planning memorable events. The next PechaKucha Night(s) are set for early this month. The events will feature several such talented individuals as part of its slate of speakers that will present at Downtown Bozeman's Ellen Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 3rd and 4th. Both shows begin at 6:40pm and feature the same eclectic lineup of local storytellers each night.

In terms of events that unfold on a grand scale, Caitlin Quisenberry will give a behind the scenes look at what goes into hosting the Gallatin County Fair each year and Bethany Green will provide similar insights into the logistics surrounding a Bobcat home football game.

Some events are personal, like turning the Big 6-0. Christine Raymond embraced that milestone by tackling a list of entirely new adventures and challenges that have reinvigorated her life and might do the same for you.

Certain events develop organically with a dose of ad hoc planning. Kate Potter will tell the tale of how folks in Livingston started a NeighborHole Putt Putt Day, which has become an annual tradition.

In much the same way, Linda Huang, who moved to Montana from China, will recount the story of how she started cooking and bringing people together around a table, ultimately creating a community of strangers that became friends.

Providing more food for thought, Lynn Donaldson, will take us on a Backroads Tour of Montana's most iconic and mouth-watering culinary treats.

Transitioning from gastronomy to astronomy, Lilian Lin will educate us on what to look for in our local night skies and will regale the audience with stories behind the naming of constellations and asterisms.

Bridget Wilkinson, with One Valley Community Foundation, spends a lot of time thinking about the various non-profit organizations that hold our community together, and she'll share her thoughts on what we're building for the neighbors who come after us.

Kate Belendiuk delves into the fundraising world on an individual scale, in describing her GoFundMe efforts to help a friend recover from an accident that left him paralyzed from the neck down.

A PK evening would not be complete without a presentation on four-legged friends. Steve Blackmore will share a feel-good story about a "Rez Dog" he adopted from the Heart of the Valley shelter.

Sponsored by Rapid Clean Car Wash, the irrepressible Justin Barth is back by popular demand as the host of the November festivities.

Tickets are available at www.theellentheatre.com for $9 (including facility fee). Students may purchase tickets at the door for $5.50.

PechaKucha (peh-chak-cha) offers anyone with a passion or a vision – designers, artists, inventors, architects, adventurers, entrepreneurs – an opportunity to share their ideas with the community during a fast-paced, friendly social get-together. There's just one catch: presenters have only 20 slides x 20 seconds each, a total of 6 minutes, 40 seconds! •

Emerald City's youth actors

Local youth front L. Frank Baum's beloved fantasy with Gallatin High School Theatre Club's fall musical, The Wizard of Oz. Featuring a talented cast of student actors, it will be presented over four performances in the Steve Johnson Theater from November 20th–22nd. Friday and Saturday shows begin at 7pm, Sunday at 11am and 4pm.

The stage adaptation brings the magic, music and unforgettable moments of the 1939 film to the theater. When a powerful tornado carries young Dorothy Gale away from her Kansas home, she finds herself in the extraordinary land of Oz, a place filled with enchanting witches, talking animals, a walking scarecrow, and wonders beyond her imagination. Determined to find her way back, Dorothy sets off along the Yellow Brick Road toward the Emerald City, where the mysterious Wizard may hold the key to returning home.

Along the way, Dorothy befriends a Scarecrow searching for a brain, a Tin Man longing for a heart, and a Cowardly Lion hoping to find his courage. But their journey is far from easy, as the Wicked Witch of the West pursues Dorothy in a relentless quest to claim her magical ruby slippers. Filled with adventure, memorable songs, and timeless charm, The Wizard of Oz celebrates friendship, bravery, and the discovery that sometimes the greatest treasures are found right where you began.

Next in Doc Series profiles workforce struggle

Season Twelve of the Bozeman Doc Series continues on Thursday, November 5th, at the Emerson Center for the Arts & Culture with the Montana premiere of the critically acclaimed new documentary, Union Town, from Oscar-winning director Barbara Kopple. The film screens at 7pm.

Union Town completes Kopple's trilogy on labor rights following her Oscar-winning Harlan County USA and American Dream, two landmark cinéma vérité documentaries. The film chronicles essential workers in New York City's last-mile delivery industry amid an explosive resurgence of organized labor in the nation's largest metropolis. Interweaving struggles within UPS, Amazon, and the mostly immigrant app-based bike delivery workforce, Union Town uncovers the human face of modern labor and organizing. Filmed over the course of three years, the film asks what solidarity means in a world divided between those who have power, and those who must fight for it.

Union Town world-premiered at the prestigious Venice International Film Festival to universal acclaim and had its North American premiere at the Toronto International Film Festival in September of 2026.

"Essential... powerful... another simple-yet-profound celebration of unions and aspirational patriotism, another pragmatic examination of where we are as Americans and where we ought to be." – The Hollywood Reporter

"A passionate exposé... a stirring, defiant, battle-hardened affair, swinging between the fraught picket line and the still more hazardous New York City streets. It's a new film that feels old in the best sense of the word; a hoarse battle cry that summons the ghosts of The Grapes of Wrath and the New Deal, Eugene Debs and Woody Guthrie. That America is long dead and buried, a casualty of changing times, but Kopple sees no reason why it should not rise again." – The Guardian

"Both aptly angry and optimistically community-minded... portrays the struggles of New York City delivery workers with clear-eyed purpose... urgently shedding a light on a deeply unjust financial contract corporations seem to have made with their workers. And that contract goes something like this: Few people at the top will get exceedingly rich, while those who operate the day-to-day will be paid a pittance and treated as worthless and replaceable." – Variety

Doors open at 6:30pm. Tickets are available at the door or before the show online at www.bozemandocseries.org, where you can also buy Season Passes and 7-film punch cards, learn more about the series, and view trailers for upcoming films. The series will continue every other week through April. •

BFS screens NYC doc, fantastical romance

In continuation of its latest season, Bozeman Film Society screens documentary feature The History of Concrete. The event will be held at Downtown Bozeman's Ellen Theatre on Friday, November 6th. The film begins at 7pm.

Following the finale of his acclaimed HBO series "How To with John Wilson," NYC documentarian John Wilson looks to the bedrock of his beloved New York City for inspiration and structure. Concrete, the world's most widely used building material, appears as an ever-present life force, and John sets out to make the definitive documentary on the matter.

After attending a workshop on how to write and sell a Hallmark movie, he decides to use the industry-approved Hallmark formula to tell this seemingly drab story and increase his movie's appeal. But his foundation soon begins to crumble – literally and figuratively – as he struggles to balance artistic freedom with the realities of the modern film industry. Not Rated, the film has a run time of 101 minutes.

Following on Friday, November 20th, enjoy a screening of romantic fantasy Wicker. Also hosted by the Ellen, the film begins at 7pm.

An ostracized fisherwoman (Olivia Colman) commissions a husband to be made by the local basketmaker (Peter Dinklage). When her wicker husband (Alexander Skarsgård) proves more spectacular than she ever imagined, his soulful spirit and unique prowess awaken something inside her, setting off a wave of jealousy, fascination, and upheaval that threatens the very fabric of village life. 105 minutes. Directed by Alex Huston Fischer and Eleanor Wilson. Rated R, the film runs 105 minutes.

The History of Concrete and Wicker screen Nov. 6th and 20th, respectively. Find ticketing access and learn more about the current season at www.bozemanfilmsociety.org – and Keep 'Em Flickering! •

Iconic ballet set to sweeping score

Due to popular demand, the World Ballet Company has announced the return of its breathtaking production of Swan Lake on tour as part of its 2026-27 season. The company brings its signature blend of classical artistry and Broadway-style theatrical flair to Bozeman's Willson Auditorium on Saturday, November 7th, one of over 80 performances of this extraordinary show that is gracing stages across the country. The show begins at 7pm.

Now in its fourth full season, World Ballet Company has rapidly become the nation's leading touring ballet company. WBC is committed to making ballet accessible and engaging for audiences in communities large and small in over 40 U.S. states. Known for its cinematic staging, original choreography, and global roster of professional dancers, the company presents reimagined classics in more than 180 different cities each year.

"We believe ballet is for everyone, and the response from audiences nationwide has been incredible," said producer Gulya Hartwick, who co-founded World Ballet Company with Sasha Gorskaya. "Swan Lake is arguably the most iconic ballet ever created, and we're thrilled to bring this majestic production to you."

This production features choreography by Nadezhda Kalinina, based on the original staging by Marius Petipa, as well as over 150 hand-sewn costumes, richly detailed, hand-painted sets created using centuries-old theatrical techniques, and stunning projection and multi-media visuals.

"Our Swan Lake combines the elegance of classical ballet with vivid, immersive storytelling," said Gorskaya. "It's a magical experience for both ballet newcomers and longtime fans."

A timeless tale of love, betrayal and transformation, Swan Lake follows Prince Siegfried as he encounters Odette, a princess doomed to live as a swan by day under the spell of a sorcerer. Though Prince Siegfried pledges his love and vows to break the curse, he is deceived by the sorcerer's daughter, Odile – the dazzling and mysterious Black Swan – leading to heartbreak and tragedy. With its unforgettable imagery, including the iconic Dance of the Little Swans and the spellbinding 32 fouettés of the Black Swan, all set to Tchaikovsky's sweeping score, Swan Lake endures as one of the most technically demanding and emotionally resonant ballets of all time.

That'll do, Donkey: swamp shows inspire

A swampy fairytale takes to the Livingston stage with additional shows this month. The Shane Lalani Center for the Arts invites audiences on a dazzling family adventure with Shrek the Musical with performances running through November 15th.

Based on the Oscar-winning DreamWorks animated film, Shrek brings the beloved ogre, his wisecracking donkey and a colorful cast of fairy-tale characters to the stage in a hilarious and heartfelt musical adventure. With a score that moves from energetic ensemble numbers to tender, character-driven moments, the show offers something for audiences of all ages. Tinworks presents Irish folk with 406 twist

Tinworks Art welcomes Chris Boldt to the Rialto for an evening of live original music. The show is set for Friday, November 6th. Music begins at 7pm with opening support from local artist Sarah Knight.

Chris Boldt is rapidly emerging as one of Ireland's most exciting new country talents.

Emerging from East Belfast, Boldt has quickly become one of the most compelling new voices in contemporary folk and alt-country music. Known for his heartfelt songwriting, self-taught musicianship and captivating live performances, he first broke onto the scene with his debut single "Heaven's Eyes" that has since made its mark on the streaming platforms.

For the last two years, Boldt has been living in Montana with bison, big skies and open highways. The experience has influenced his writing with themes linked to long-distance travel and life in the rugged beauty of the American heartland.

Sarah Knight is a Montana born and raised singer/songwriter whose style blends country and ethereal. Her original music reflects her upbringing in a rural part of her hometown and lived experiences. The resulting songs see her heart on display.

Ticketing access for Chris Boldt is available at www.tinworksart.org. The nonprofit art program brings together artists, their work, and community in evolving spaces, where art meets the American West. •

MCM welcomes velvety quartet to stage

Next up as part of its performance series, Montana Chamber Music will showcase Viano Quartet on Friday, November 13th. The concert will be held at Reynolds Recital Hall on the Montana State University campus. Music begins at 7:30pm.

Praised for their "virtuosity, visceral expression, and rare unity of intention" (Boston Globe), the Viano Quartet has quickly soared to international acclaim as one of the most dynamic and in-demand string quartets of their generation.

Equally committed to both beloved masterworks and contemporary repertoire, the quartet actively collaborates with today's leading composers and whose discography highlights the ensemble's range across both traditional and modern repertoire.

"Viano" is a portmanteau that symbolizes how the four individual instruments of a string quartet – each beginning with the letter "v" – work harmoniously as one, like a piano, creating a unified instrument called the "Viano."

The quartet's regional tour will include "An Intimate Evening" at Belgrade's Flower Barn at Rathvinden Farm on Nov. 12th at 6:30pm and a rural concert at the Rialto Theatre in Deer Lodge on Nov. 14th at 1pm. Find ticketing information for these performances through the host website.

Admission to all Montana Chamber Music performances is $35 for adults, $25 for seniors, and $10 for students. Tickets may be purchased at www.montanachambermusicsociety.org. These are also available at the door, depending on availability. Net proceeds from these programs support their mission to present great chamber music performances throughout Montana year-round. •

Attic hosts bluesers, dusty Americana

Howl at the moon in Downtown Livingston this month with BluesLine fronting an Attic show on Friday, November 13th. Music begins at 8pm.

Dedicated to preserving and revitalizing the rich legacy of blues music, the band carries the soul of blues forward, infusing its raw power and heartfelt storytelling into every note. With a reverence for tradition and a passion for innovation, the group connects generations – old and new – through captivating performances that echo the spirit of the Memphis blues and beyond.

Early next month, enjoy an evening of originals with Sean Devine and Max Gomez on Saturday, December 5th. Music begins at 8pm with opening support by Charlie Denison and multi-instrumentalist Tyler Giles.

Montana's own Devine brings together the rugged landscape of the West, a wealth of original songs and a lifetime of personal experience. Here for It All – an eloquent project providing a firsthand account of second chances, showing up and seeing it through – has been followed by EPs Die Happy and Paradise Valley Sessions.

Born and raised in New Mexico, Gomez fell under the influence of country and blues singer/songwriters. He's shared the stage with artists across genres and has been praised by Rolling Stone and No Depression as an emerging voice in Americana, quickly becoming a compelling and authentic performer on the grand stage.

Doors one hour prior. Advanced ticketing information for upcoming Attic shows is available at www.theatticmontana.com. The Attic is located at 110 N Main in Livingston, just above Whiskey Creek Saloon. •

Beddow & Co bellow fresh set of cuts

Coming in hot, local tunesmith Neil Beddow brings along his band West Dakota Stutter for a special show in celebration of new LP, Then Until Now. The evening of original music will be held at Gallatin Labor Temple on Sunday, November 8th. Opening support comes courtesy of Spokane's Mike Davis with music beginning at 6pm.

Bozeman's West Dakota Stutter brings a distinctive blend of folk rock, soulful storytelling and honky-tonk spirit to Montana's music scene. Led by frontman Neil Filo Beddow, who handles guitar and vocals, the band delivers hearty original music with an occasional cover mixed in for good measure. Beddow's songwriting ranges from personal reflections and everyday struggles to sharp social commentary, all delivered with an independent streak and a healthy dose of irreverence. The group describes its sound as "folk rock for the soul when you get the blues in a honky tonk," and its offbeat personality is every bit as memorable as its music.

With a rotating cast of talented Montana musicians, West Dakota Stutter adapts to different settings and configurations while keeping Beddow's songwriting at the heart of its sound. The band balances laid-back roots-rock grooves with thoughtful lyrics and a community-minded approach, sometimes tackling difficult subjects through songs that encourage conversation and reflection. Whether performing as a stripped-down acoustic duo or with a fuller lineup, Beddow and company bring an unpretentious, distinctly Montana character to their performances.

There is a suggested $10 cover for this show. Find tickets and additional information at www.westdakotastutter.com. •

Big Sky nights of theatre, strings & creativity

Big Sky's Warren Miller Performing Arts Center offers Southwest Montana audiences plenty of opportunities to experience live stage entertainment this fall.

Enjoy an evening of community theatre with Doublewide, Texas on Thursday and Friday, November 5th and 6th. Performances begin at 7pm.

Welcome to Doublewide, Texas: population small, personalities large. The residents of one of the tiniest trailer parks in Texas, made up of just four doublewides and a shed, learn that the nearby town of Tugaloo plans to annex their community.

What follows is a wildly inventive campaign to save their home, complete with plans to secede from Texas, suspicions of a traitor in their midst and one increasingly outrageous scheme after another.

Written by Jessie Jones, Nicholas Hope and Jamie Wooten, Doublewide, Texas is a warm, quick-moving comedy about neighbors, friendship and what can happen when a determined little community refuses to go ˚quietly.

Delve into a set of inventive instrumentals with a performance by Luca Stricagnoli on Sunday, November 15th. Music starts at 5pm.

The Italian acoustic guitarist plays multiple guitars at once, incorporates percussion, violin bows, modified capos and unusual tunings, and performs on custom instruments he helped invent, including the Reversed Triple Neck Guitar and Reversed Slide Neck.

His inventive arrangements and visually captivating performances are on display as Stricagnoli transforms an unexpected range of music, from rock and pop to hip-hop and film scores, into intricate one-man arrangements that can sound like an entire band.

His breakthrough performance of "The Last of the Mohicans" and viral arrangement of AC/DC's "Thunderstruck" showcased his unconventional approach to the guitar, earning international attention from numerous publications among others.

A celebration of talented women follows with the return of Her Gift, Her Creation on Saturday, December 5th. The evening of creativity, community and personal expression begins at 7pm.

Founder and director Klaudia Kosiak came up with the idea several years ago to organize, celebrate and empower the many talented women of Big Sky through artistic expression. Now, the event is one of the most anticipated of the year. Kosiak's friends Jill Bough and Liz McRae joined her in efforts to recruit female artists of all ages to participate.

"I want to promote women in Big Sky who are just living everyday life but want to do something special with their talents," Kosiak said. "Many are hesitant at first, but this evening is so special, and once they perform for the first time, they often want to do it again."

‘Cat/Griz donation duel

As the biggest game of the year for the Bobcat faithful approaches, fans have an opportunity to beat Montana in the weeks leading up to the matchup.

The Can the Griz Food Drive returns in 2026 with its 27th annual event. The friendly off-field competition between Montana State University and the University of Montana, along with their communities, is put on every year to see who can collect the most donations for their local food banks. Beginning Saturday, November 7th, the competition runs through Saturday, Nov. 21st, when a winner will be announced during the ‘CatGriz game to be held on home turf this year.

Last year, MSU and the Bozeman community donated 1,018,613 equivalent pounds of food with monetary donations to the Gallatin Valley Food Bank. The UM and Missoula community also raised an impressive amount, a grand total of 1,091,754 in pounds and monies for the Missoula Food Bank. All of the Gallatin Valley food collected remains in the area and is used to support our friends, neighbors and our kids’ classmates.

Can the Griz organizers ask that nonperishable food donations be dropped off at collection locations throughout Bozeman to support those Gallatin County residents in need. A complete list of donation sites can be found through www.msuaf.org.

Monetary donations can also be made directly to the Gallatin Valley Food Bank by visiting the aforementioned website and clicking “donate.” For every dollar donated, 1 pound of food will be added to the final tally.

Finally, participants are invited to promote the drive on social media by posting a picture of themselves donating along with the hashtag #CanTheGriz. The annual collection drive is coordinated by the MSU Office of Student Engagement and the Gallatin Valley Food Bank. Go ‘Cats! •

Doc screening profiles Austrian ski legend

US Ski & Snowboard’s Northern Division hosts a special adventure film screening in advance of ski season. The nonprofit presents Friedl on Wednesday, November 18th, at the Emerson Center for the Arts & Culture. The film screens at 7pm.

Professional skier and filmmaker Chris Anthony brings to the screen the extraordinary life journey of Austrian Skiing Champion, WWII Veteran, and founder of Aspen Ski Corporation, Friedl Pfeifer.

While researching material for a sequel to his still-touring, award-winning documentary Mission Mt. Mangart, which tells the story of the 10th Mountain Division from 1939 to June 3rd, 1945, Chris Anthony encountered the name Friedl Pfeifer while in Austria, digging through skiing archives. Recognizing Pfeifer only from his statue at the base of Aspen Mountain in Colorado, Chris’s curiosity led him to explore Friedl’s remarkable story and the connection between the Arlberg Region, Sun Valley, Idaho, Colorado, and the 10th Mountain Division.

Friedl Pfeifer was born and raised on a farm in St. Anton, Austria, and grew to be one of Austria’s top alpine ski racers, winning many classic events, including the legendary Grossglockner. Mentored by the iconic Hannes Schneider, Friedl’s life changed dramatically after Schneider’s arrest by the Nazis. This compelled Friedl to flee Austria, beginning an incredible journey: through Italy, by ship to Australia, then to New York City, and by train to Sun Valley, Idaho. There, after meeting his wife, Friedl was temporarily arrested by the FBI and interned. Upon release, he became an instructor with the 10th Mountain Division and served on the front lines of Italy during WWII. Left for dead on the battlefield, he barely survived, returned to the United States, and eventually founded Aspen Ski Corporation.

Chris Anthony has retraced Pfeifer’s path, inspiring his documentary to highlight not only Friedl’s story but also the world from the 1920s through the 1950s. Anthony creates these films through his Youth Foundation to educate and inspire youth, while raising funds to enable underserved individuals to experience skiing for the first time.

Advanced tickets for Friedl are $20 and are available through www.theemerson.org. Located at 111 S Grand Ave., the Emerson Center for the Arts & Culture serves as a primary resource for the arts, arts education and cultural activities in Southwest Montana. •

Ski season epic sale

Bridger Ski Foundation will host the 58th annual Ski Swap on Saturday and Sunday, November 7th–8th, at the Gallatin County Fairgrounds in Bozeman. Steeped in tradition, the event attracts local ski legends and newcomers alike, with more than 10,000 items for sale and a festive atmosphere that sees a line around the block.

Skiers and riders can find equipment ranging from cross-country skis to fat powder skis, snowboards, poles, backpacks, helmets, boots, winter clothing and more. In addition to consignment items from individuals, the Ski Swap also carries both new and used inventory from local and regional retailers.

For those who want to sell items, you can pre-register all of your consignment items online, preferably by Nov. 3rd, then drop everything off on Friday, Nov. 6th between 10am and 7pm at the Fairgrounds. All sales take place in person, and BSF retains a 25% commission if an item sells. Sellers may also choose to discount items for Sunday. Any unsold items may be retrieved by sellers at the end of the day on Sunday, Nov. 8th, or they will be donated to area nonprofits.

With thousands of items going out the door, it is the biggest fundraiser of the year for the nonprofit club that has supported skiing in our community since 1936. BSF provides ski programs for more than 1,000 youth and adults and also grooms a vast network of winter trails in and around Bozeman, including snowmaking at Sunset Hills.

“The tradition of the BSF Ski Swap runs deep. It’s more than a place to shop; the entire weekend has a festive feel to it,” says Communications Director Jenny White. “Everyone is in good spirits and ready to kickoff ski season. For us, it’s also one of the ways we can keep skiing more accessible in our community, by recirculating winter gear and making it more affordable to get a winter setup.”

There are a few ways to shop the swap before the general public gets in on Nov. 7th. Volunteers who must be a member or trail pass holder can shop at 8am. BSF members and trail pass holders can enter at 9am. Memberships start at $50 for an individual or $100 for a family, and voluntary BSF trail passes support grooming of more than 80 km of ski and multi-use trails in town.

Once again, Intermountain Health has signed on as the title sponsor of this year’s BSF Ski Swap.

“Skiing in the Gallatin Valley has always been grassroots,” says White. “Everything here is non-profit, from BSF, to Crosscut and Bridger Bowl. Part of our mission is keeping skiing accessible, and the BSF Ski Swap is a huge part of that.”

BSF Annual Ski Swap Hours:

Friday, Nov. 6th, from 10am–7pm: Drop off your pre-registered consignment items.

Saturday, Nov. 7th, 10am–6pm: Sale! $5 admission fee (Early entry for BSF volunteers at 8am, or 9am for members & pass holders). Children under 12 admitted free.

Sunday, Nov. 8th, 10am–2pm: Sale! $2 admission and free after noon. (Some prices drop on Sunday); 2–5pm: Unsold item pick-up.

Register your items and learn more about the Ski Swap, Bridger Ski Foundation membership opportunities, and other events at www.bridgerskifoundation.org. •

Forum talks ‘Bozeman’s best kept secret’

The Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at MSU will be discussing the Bozeman Creek Vision Plan November 13th at 1:30pm online via Zoom.

Bozeman Creek, also known locally as Sourdough Creek, has been diverted over time alongside Bozeman’s developing footprint, flowing downtown through tunnels, below buildings and underneath Main Street.

The city of Bozeman, a citizen-led initiative named See Bozeman Creek and a consultant team have created a proposed vision plan for Bozeman Creek that will provide a long-term roadmap to manage urban sections of the creek. The plan aims to improve flood mitigation, enhance ecological health, expand park and trail access, support economic vitality and strengthen community connections to the waterway. •
